

British Commando Troops Go to Kenya To Preserve Order

London Acts on Request of African Nation's Premier

BY ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
LONDON (AP)—With unrest spreading in East Africa, Britain today ordered the spearhead of its strategic reserve, a 600-man royal marine commando unit, to fly to Kenya.

A government announcement said the troops were being dispatched at the request of Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya to help preserve law and order. Army mutinies this week shook two of Kenya's neighbors, Tanganyika on the south and Uganda on the west.

The vanguard of commandos, who are based at Plymouth, England, will begin flying to Kenya tonight.

Upheavals in 3 Nations

Earlier, Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys told Parliament the troops had been requested as a "purely precautionary measure" by the Kenya government, worried at unrest spreading through East Africa.

In the past 13 days three new British Commonwealth countries in East Africa have been shaken by upheavals. In Zanzibar, the conservative Arab government was overthrown by a pro-Communist revolution on Jan.

12. In Tanganyika and Uganda, Kenya's neighbors on the South and West, brief army mutinies occurred this week.

The Tanganyika mutiny was accompanied by rioting and looting in which at least 17 people were killed before order was restored.

The Uganda mutiny Thursday lasted only a few hours, and Prime Minister Obote said Thursday night in Kampala, the Uganda capital, that his government was still in control.

Reports reaching Kampala said two companies of the Uganda rifle regiment mutinied in Jinja, Uganda's second largest city 45 miles northeast of this capital. The mutineers locked up Internal Affairs Minister Felix Onama, assaulted newsmen and then marched on downtown Jinja.

Britain rushed 450 soldiers from neighboring Kenya to Entebbe, near Kampala, 45 minutes after Obote requested assistance from the British government.

Reports late Thursday night said the mutinous company's British officers, who are on loan from the British army, had regained control.

Johnson Says Stereo Set Gift From Friend

Had Traded Presents With Baker Before, President Asserts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said the expensive stereo set delivered to his home in 1959 was simply a gift from old friend Robert G. Baker.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield says this explanation should end the matter.

But Republicans, sensing an election year issue, are pressing this and other facets of the Senate Rules Committee's inquiry into the complicated business dealing of Baker, a former Johnson protegee who quit under fire last Oct. 7 as secretary to the Senate Democrats.

Personal Gift

"The Baker family gave us a stereo set," Johnson said Thursday at a White House Conference. We had exchanged gifts before. He was an employee of the public and had no business pending before me and was asking for nothing and so far as I knew expected nothing in return any more than I did when I had presented him with gifts."

The President volunteered this explanation a day after the Senate committee released testimony by Don B. Reynolds, an associate of Baker in a local insurance firm, who said he sent the $542 stereo record player to Johnson's home at Baker's suggestion.

Reynolds said he paid for the

Agencies Discuss Joint Action in Crime Inquiries

MADISON (AP)—Representatives of the State Department of Taxation and the attorney general's office met Thursday to discuss policies for joint criminal investigations by the agencies. They agreed to exchange some information.

Atty. Gen. George P. Thompson was represented by two assistants. Also present were George Corning, head of the tax department; and three of his aides, including two members of the beverage and cigarette tax division.

Agents of the beverage and cigarette tax unit are authorized to enforce laws dealing with gambling, prostitution and tax fraud.

Thompson said the meeting was requested by his office to develop a "liaison" between the agencies. He also said there would be an exchange of information between the two departments.

Missionaries Lifted From Congo Danger

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—Seven American missionaries and two American children have been flown to safety from a Protestant mission station burned down by Congolese guerrillas in southern Kivu Province.

They were flown to Lulua-bourg in the central Congo in two helicopters of the United Nations. Three Roman Catholic nuns were also evacuated from the danger area, U.N. officers said.

Earlier this week, three Roman Catholic priests were slain by guerrilla fighters and a fourth priest is missing. He was identified by Catholic headquarters in Leopoldville as Father Lode Sebrechts of Belgium.

The Protestant missionaries came from Kandale, a village about 50 miles south of Kikwit, capital of Kivu Province. Kikwit is about 500 miles east of Leopoldville.

The mission belongs to the Evangelical Congo Inland Mission which has its headquarters at Elkhart, Ind.

Trucker Dies on Ice-Covered Road

Schools Closed by Freezing Rain, Fog; Air Travel Halted

Heavy fog, mist and freezing rain crept into northeast Wisconsin today closing schools and coating highways with a glass-like coat of ice, a factor in the death of a truck driver in Shawano County.

The traffic victim was James Quilling, 45, Wilson, killed in a crash on State 29 four miles west of Shawano.

Authorities said Quilling apparently tried to leap from his skidding cattle truck, and was crushed beneath the vehicle after it went out of control and slid into a ditch.

Quilling was hauling cattle from St. Paul to Green Bay when the mishap occurred about 4 a.m. Shawano County authorities said the highway was covered with about one-half inch of ice.

Schools Closed

All schools were closed in Marion, Bonduel, Shawano and Clintonville because of the icy conditions.

One Clintonville resident described conditions as "too slippery to stand up."

Staff Must Redraft Bill To Include Changes Given Approval by Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The $11.5-billion tax bill has taken a giant stride toward enactment but whether it can become law by March 1, the administration goal, is uncertain.

The Senate Finance Committee voted 12-5 approval of the measure Thursday after 20 days of executive sessions and well over 100 separate votes.

But the floor debate cannot begin until congressional staff experts finish drafting all of the new language written into the 310-page bill by the committee.

They indicated today this might well take all of next week. In that case, the debate probably would not start before Feb. 3. This would leave only seven or eight days for floor action before the passage deadline of Feb. 11 set by Democratic leaders.

Meets Johnson's Aims

They must meet that deadline if the final enactment goal of March 1 is to be achieved. If the Senate does not pass the bill until after the Feb. 11-17 Lincoln Day recess there would be little chance to have the conference with the House over differences in the two versions and get the bill to President Johnson for signature next month.

The committee included in the bill all of the major provisions sought by Johnson.

The President won a last-minute victory Thursday afternoon when he persuaded nine Democrats to kill $455-million worth of excise tax repeals which had been voted in the morning.

Fight On Amendments

Chiefly involved were excises on luggage, jewelry, cosmetics and furs. The six Republicans on the committee and two Democrats—Paul H. Douglas of Illinois and Albert Gore of Tennessee—remained for repeal of the taxes in the afternoon test.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, author of the key repeal amendments, said he would press them on the floor.

Democrats on the committee who will handle the bill on the floor said they were confident it can be kept pretty much in the form approved by the finance group.

No Rate Change Seen

Sponsors of the bill said they did not expect any serious died about 12:15 a.m. today after a two-week illness.

Judge Arps served the circuit, comprised of Winnebago and Calumet Counties, from Jan. 5, 1948, when he was appointed by Gov. Oscar Rennebohm to succeed Henry P. Hughes, until his retirement in May, 1962. His colleagues, attorneys and State Supreme Court justices feted Arps at a testimonial shortly after his retirement.

He continued as a reserve judge and presided at the Sheboygan Police Chief Steen W. Heimke hearings. The decision, handed down two weeks ago, was his last.

In 1959 Judge Arps was elected chairman of the Wisconsin Board of Circuit Judges. He also served on the board of governors of the State Bar Association, was a life member of the group, and was a member of the American Bar Association.

5 More Homes Hit In Burglary Spree

Appleton's North Side Setting Of Thursday Evening Break-ins

BY RAY PY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Five northside Appleton homes were added to a daring early-evening burglar's itinerary Thursday, bringing to 14 the number of homes ransacked in a two-day crime spree which has stumped Appleton police.

The burglar, who strikes in the early evening hours when the home occupants are on errands, collected a paltry $43.25 in cash, some jewelry and a box of rifle ammunition Thursday night, Wednesday, in breaking into nine homes, the burglar collected an estimated $300 and some jewelry.

Struck Thursday were the homes of Frank Van Groll, 218 W. Marquette St.; Rudolph Krause, 1913 N. Superior St.; Leonard F. Mory, 707 E. Pershing St.; Theodore Hartjes, 825 E. Grant St., and Robert Lust, 1421 N. Harriman St.

Appleton detectives assigned to tracking the elusive burglar reported late Wednesday and today they have very few leads in the case. Teams of detectives combed the neighborhoods where the burglar struck Wednesday and reported that most neighbors saw or heard nothing unusual between the hours of 4 and 9 p.m. the time the burglar is believed to have entered the homes.

Police may have received a sketchy description of a burglar from Richard Moen, 1418 N. Marson St., who reported to police his back doorbell began ringing early Thursday morning. He got up to investigate and saw a tall man dressed in a black trench coat and wearing black pants run from his backyard. Moen said the rear doorbell is "very sensitive" and if the area around the bell is struck, it will ring.

The burglar early Thursday hit a home on Summer Street a few blocks from Moen's home, a short time after Moen's doorbell rang.

Saw Two Men

A 16-year-old girl on E. Pershing Street told police she watched two men run between homes on E. Pershing Street about 7 p.m. Thursday. She said one man wore a hat and earmuffs and was "husky." The girl's home

Too Small for Requirements Patient Does Not Survive History's First Human Heart Transplant

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Surgeons at the University of Mississippi Medical Center here transplanted a human heart into the body of a man dying of a heart ailment today.

A medical center spokesman said the transplanted heart beat for more than an hour but proved inadequate for the patient's requirements and the recipient died.

First in History

The spokesman said it was believed to be the first transplant of a human heart in history.

"The fatal outcome could not be reversed," the hospital said. "Unfortunately the only available donor heart at the time of the patient's collapse proved too small for the requirements of the considerably larger recipient."

The recipient was in "terminal heart failure" from a chronic heart ailment of years duration, the hospital said.

Neither the recipient nor the donor was identified.

The three-hour operation began shortly before midnight and the recipient died early today.

A spokesman said the heart was preserved while being sewn into place by chilled, oxygenated blood pumped through a coronary sinus, a large vein that drains the heart.

The spokesman said a forceful, regular beat was established with a single shock from an electrical instrument used to convert the transplanted heart to regular rhythm.

Surgical teams have transplanted hearts in more than 200 animals at the medical center over a period of several years, the spokesman said.

Shortly after the first brief announcement, the hospital closed the door to all questions.

"No further information will be released until additional clinical experience is gained," a spokesman said.

Asked if this meant the hospital would say nothing until another heart transplant is tried, the spokesman said: "That's right."

The spokesman said hospital officials and doctors agreed before the transplant not to make any names public — their own, the donor's or the recipient's.

Unanswered Questions

This left unanswered these key questions:

What was the sex and age of the recipient? and the donor? who were they? What ailment, if any, had stricken the donor? How long was the heart preserved after death of the donor?

affect millions of players who were unborn at the time.

West led the singleton heart, and East won with the jack. East continued with the ace of hearts, and South ruffed with the queen of spades.

West over-ruffed with the king of spades, smugly remarking: "I can't get anything higher than the queen for my king." He then returned a diamond to the ace.

Back came another heart, and South ruffed with the jack of spades. Declarer was then able to draw the rest of the trumps with the ace and the ten. The rest was easy.

Fear Of Revoke

Perhaps West was in a hurry to take the king of spades before his partner could revoke, but this haste allowed South to make the contract. Patience would have defeated the game.

If West discards instead of over-ruffing, South will lead a club to dummy in order to try the spade finesse. West captures the Jack of Spades with the king.

West returns a diamond to the ace, and back comes another heart. If South ruffs low, West will over-ruff. If South ruffs with the ace or ten of spades, West's eight will become established for the setting trick.

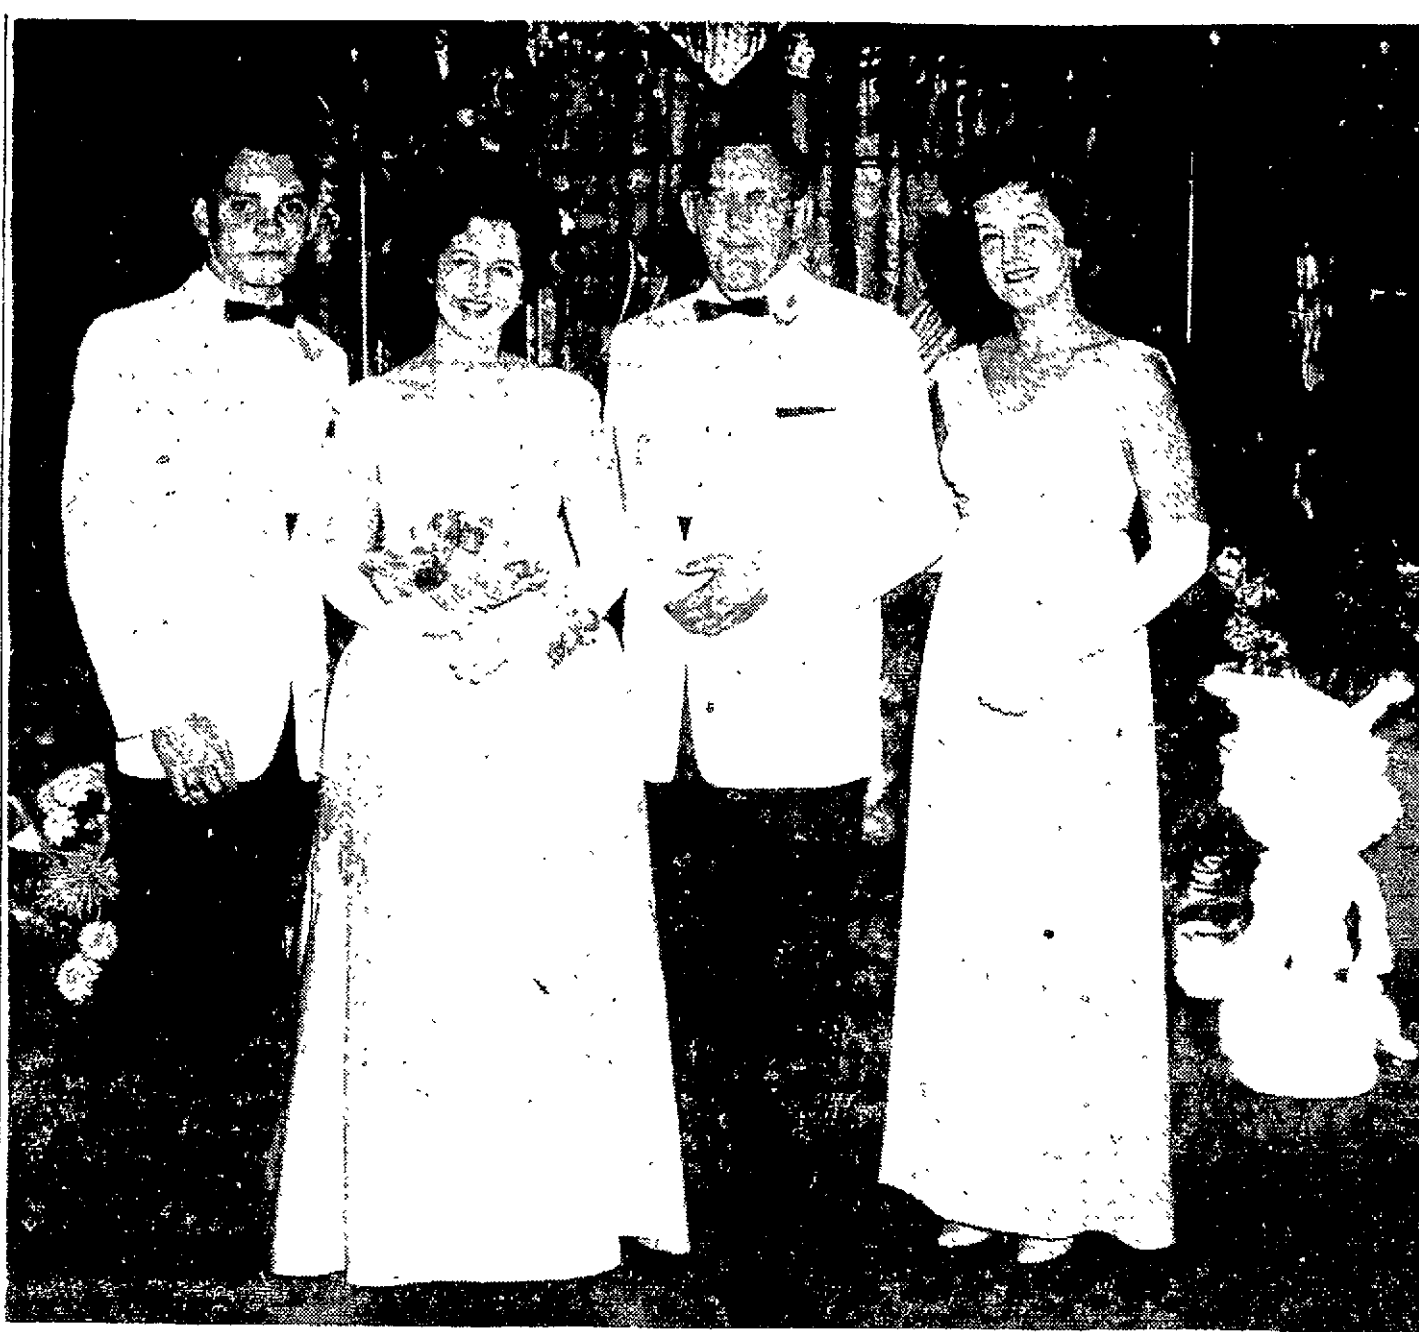

Declarer can do nothing to save himself from defeat. The outcome of the hand depends solely on whether or not West has the patience and foresight to save his king of spades instead of spending it all at once.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player doubles. You hold: S K 8 3, H 2, D 8 7 4 3, C 9 8 7 6 4. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. Don't bid over an opponent's takeout double just to show weakness. The best way to show weakness is to pass.

Lucy Johnson Has 'Grand Tour' of Madison Campus

BY HARVEY BREUSCHER

MADISON (AP) — University of Wisconsin freshman Jack Olson took the President's daughter to dinner and a movie Thursday night and the two made plans for a trip today that will include a visit with his folks.

For 16-year-old Lucy Baines Johnson, the night's activities put a "just wonderful" close to a two-day visit in Madison.

Olson, 18, proudly escorted Lucy on a tour of the Wisconsin campus Thursday.

"We talked last summer about her visiting Wisconsin and maybe the family but sometimes I thought it might never happen," Olson said as he walked with his arm around the waist of his pretty date.

The two met last February while Olson was a congressional page. The visit to Olson's Maiden Rock, Wis., home Saturday will be the first time his parents have met the President's daughter. They will stop tonight at the Rochester, Minn., home of Miss Johnson's chaperone, Mrs. James Cain.

Dismayed at Crowd

The campus tour was more than an hour long, but the strolling was slowed by two dozen newsmen, photographers, a host of well wishers and the ever-present Secret Servicemen.

Lucy had a bit of a sigh in her voice when she told University President Fred H. Harrington she hadn't expected such a group of followers.

Harrington, who has four pretty daughters of his own, said he could sympathize with her but she would have to become accustomed to crowds. "This is part of the democratic process," he said, pointing to the battery of photographers and reporters.

Olson was resigned to the attention. "I know this is part of your job," he told newsmen. "So far everything's worked out pretty well, though, and we'll have a good time anyway."

In pleasant 40 degree temperatures, Olson and his companion walked to the top of historic Observatory Hill, a favorite spot for couples.

Puffing Newsmen

As the party hauled up the hill, Lucy teased a lagging newsmen. "You don't like to walk?" Answering her own question, she said, "You know about the physical fitness program. You're supposed to get out and walk. Daddy takes a walk every day."

She also was amused by "no parking" signs on top of the romantic spot.

"If you don't have a car you can't get into trouble sitting on the curb," Olson explained.

Even to a girl from Texas, the Wisconsin campus looks big. "It's spread out so far. I didn't expect it," she told her escort near the end of their walk. The Wisconsin campus has more than enough room for its 23,000 students.

Their next call was at the executive mansion, where they were welcomed by the wife of Wisconsin's Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds.

The governor's 22-month old son had a few words for the President's daughter, but got his welcome across with a sign on his tee shirt. "Wisconsin for Johnson. Jimmy Reynolds," it read.

Wedding Promises Exchanged

CHILTON—Miss Barbara Ann Geiser and Gary Gabelt exchanged marriage promises at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at St. Martin Catholic Church, Charlestown. The Rev. Arnulf Buck, S. D. S. officiated at the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold J. Geiser, route 4, Chilton, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gabelt, route 1, Cross Plains.

The bride's sister, Miss Kathryn Geiser, attended as maid of honor. Miss Eileen Schmidt assisted as bridesmaid.

A brother of the bridegroom, Dean Gabelt, served as best man. Groomsman was Gerald Schmitz. Ushering duties were fulfilled by Wilmer Geiser and Roger Schmitz.

Heller's Hall, Brant, was the setting for a wedding reception. The bride is employed by the State Medical Society, Madison. Her husband is with Wick's Construction Co., Cross Plains. The couple will live at route 1, Cross Plains.

60th Wedding Anniversary To be Marked

KAUKAUNA—Mr. and Mrs. David Jacobson, 716 Blackwell St., will observe their sixtieth wedding anniversary Sunday, 26, 1964, at the Kaukauna Methodist Church by the Rev. F. H. Brigham.

The couple has three children: Malcolm, Kaukauna; Mrs. Iola Shaw, Green Bay, and Mrs. Irene Bottmer, Milwaukee. They also have seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

An open house for friends and relatives will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday in Fellowship Hall at the Methodist Church.

'Go to Your Mother,' Best Advice Ann Can Give Girl

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a girl, 16, who is scared to death. Don't tell me to talk to my mother because I've never been able to talk to her about anything. I've been dating since I was 13 and thought I knew my way around. Now I'm in serious trouble and I don't know which way to Ann Landers turn.

The boy who got me pregnant says he knows of two other guys who could have been responsible. According to him, that's all the court needs to let him off. When he said this I was so hurt I wanted to die. Last night he brought me the name of a pill written on a slip of paper. He says three of these pills will correct the situation. Are these pills dangerous, Ann? Will they work? Please put this in the paper. If your answer came to my house, my folks would kill me. — Miss Desperate

Dear Miss: You use the phrase "correct the situation" as if you were talking about a case of fallen arches. The "situation" you refer to involves a life. And the "correction" you speak of so casually is called an abortion.

The word from here is no! I repeat. No!! Don't take pills or any other kinds of medication. Tell your mother about your condition at once. And, if you want a list of homes for unwed mothers in or near your city please let me know and I will send it immediately.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Gil and I have been married three months. I'm afraid we'll be divorced before we celebrate even one anniversary.

District Moose Meeting Set

CLINTONVILLE — The college of regents midwinter conference will be Sunday at the Clintonville Moose Lodge beginning at 1:30 p.m.

The district comprises lodges in Clintonville, Appleton, Green Bay, Fond du Lac, Sheboygan and Kaukauna.

Mrs. Bernard Eberhardy, senior regent of the local chapter of Women of the Moose, will be conference leader. Mrs. Roland Laatsch will be registration chairman. Decorations will be arranged by Mrs. Matt Dahm.

The address of welcome will be given by Mrs. Lloyd Hand-schke, Clintonville. Mrs. Eva Gilli, Green Bay, will give the response. The investiture ceremony will be in charge of Mrs. John Peterman, Lakewood.

Dear New Orleans: Ask your clergyman to discuss this with your daughter. She should understand that when a girl has botched up a marriage her folks do not owe her room and board and nursery services.

The clergyman should tell her you have been extremely generous and that her attitude is unworthy.

Gus Ristows Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Ristow, 924 N. Story St., observed their 50th wedding anniversary Monday with a noon mass of thanks-giving at St. Mary Catholic Church. A family dinner was served at the Darboy Club.

The couple was married Jan. 20, 1914 at St. Boniface Catholic Church, DePere. Mr. Ristow was employed for 49 years in dren and two great-grandchild-railroad and street car section dren.

The Ristow's children are Gordon, Menasha; Mrs. Leo Muraski; Mrs. Donald Stump; Mrs. Lloyd Schabow; Mrs. Richard Wege and Miss Carole Ristow. A son, Arvin, was killed in World War II. Mr. and Mrs. Church, DePere. Mr. Ristow

The View From Observatory Hill was part of the four Lucy Baines Johnson was given by her companion, Jack Olson, Thursday on the University of Wisconsin campus. Temperatures of 40 degrees removed the winter snows and blended the landscape into ice-covered Lake Mendota. The couple had few moments alone as they strolled the campus. Miss Johnson met UW President Fred H. Harrington and called at the Governor's mansion. (AP Wirephoto)

Trend Is Toward More Trade With Red China

BY SYLVIA PORTER

A few days before General de Gaulle joyfully informed the U.S. that France is about to recognize Communist China, trade negotiators for the Red Chinese signed a deal to buy an entire industrial alcohol plant in France and also indicated plans for further purchases in France of such items as tractors, petroleum and fertilizers. Paris-Peking trade in 1964 will dwarf recent annual totals.

A few months ago the head of a British trade delegation in Peking for an industrial product exhibit predicted flatly that trade between the two countries would "expand rapidly." In 1963, Britain reversed the downtrend in her Chinese trade by boosting her exports 30 per cent over 1962. She's putting on another machinery exhibit in Peking this November.

Japan already has announced intentions to sell $105 million of manufactured goods and raw materials to Red China this year, double her 1963 sales, and France's move will put her under increasingly intense pressure to expand Sino-Japanese trade.

Red China is now Australia's fifth largest export market and at $148 million, Australia's sales to Red China last year were quadruple the volume of only three years ago. Canada signed a huge three-year wheat deal with Red China last year. In December Mexico got an order for $28 million of cotton, her second from Red China in a few weeks. Red Chinese trade negotiators are now fanning out all over the West, carrying shopping lists which indicate, says one top East-West trade expert in Washington, "a bottomless pit of requirements for agricultural and industrial products."

What are we going to do about this trade trend?

1917 Law On the surface today we are doing nothing, for under our 1917 Trading with the Enemy Act we maintain a total embargo on trade with Communist China. In 1962, for instance, our sales to Peking totaled $4,000 (a car or two for diplomatic missions of friendly countries).

"Any trading we do with Red China is either an exception or a mistake," says the Washington expert. "Generally, our total trade consists of a few thousand dollars worth of humanitarian items such as medical books and ambulances."

The trading ban is not just a reflection of our diplomatic policy, based on China's loathsome attitudes and acts of aggression. Red China is notoriously slow in payments, bureaucratic in negotiations, a bargainer for credits which are at best questionable.

Her reserves of acceptable currencies and precious metals are insignificant. She has no surplus. There are only limited markets in the West for products she might sell — hog bristles, feathers, furs, crude drugs, tung oil (a drying oil for paint), natural silk, non-ferrous metals such as tungsten, antimony and mercury.

Nevertheless, just as the problem of expanding trade with the Soviet bloc is being pushed into our faces, so is the problem of starting trade with Red China. We are not going to be able to ignore it indefinitely — and signs are mounting that we won't.

First Indication Item: The first indication that we are reconsidering our position came in December when a State Dept. spokesman declared in San Francisco that, "We are determined to keep the door open to the possibility of change, and not to slam it shut against any developments which might advance our national good, serve the free world, and benefit the people of China."

This was an official policy statement.

Item: Last Friday in Hong Kong, David Rockefeller, president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, said he favored "doing something like the Canadians have done" (selling wheat to Peking) and implied he would favor limited commercial contacts.

Item: Increasing numbers of West Coast congressmen are talking about establishing some sort of trading arrangement. It is off-the-record talk, but it's indicative.

Says the Washington trade authority: "What we need is a study by our businessmen to find out whether we are denying the Chinese anything by refusing to trade, whether the obstacles to trade are worth tackling or whether we should just say the hell with them. These questions should be answered in the commercial arena before we attempt to revise our laws in Congress."

This is the beginning. (Copyright 1964)

A WINNING LINEUP. Like a topnotch ball club, eager and ready to go, these used cars and trucks, available at Griesbach Chevrolet Sales & Service of Hortonville, await the signal to get up and go. Get on the winning team with a new or used Chevrolet car or truck now.

More and more people than ever before in the history of the automobile industry are choosing the new 1964 Chevrolet. From the world-famous "Body by Fisher" to the powerful and trustworthy power-plant under the hood, this car is a real winner. And, as never before, the family shopping for a new car can choose from options and custom feature accessories representing the most complete range in Chevrolet history. This permits the family to choose a 1964 Chevrolet that fits their needs or personal preferences exactly.

Jerry Griesbach, owner and manager of Griesbach Chevrolet Sales and Service, invites all readers to come out to Hortonville and look over the beautiful selection now available. You're sure to find the car that fills your demands, and your pocketbook. Here you can see one of the most complete selections in the new car field available in this part of the country. Most models, including station wagons, two door and four door models, including the exciting Corvair compact are available here. Griesbach's also have an extremely large and complete selection of OK Used Cars for you to choose from, if this is what you desire. The firm is always ready to help you move up to a better model, new or used, and chances are that you'll benefit with a better car at a lower cost.

The telephone number of the firm is SP 9-6132, and there is no cost to call Griesbach's from the Fox Cities. But don't put it off any longer, for the time couldn't be better for you to find just the car or truck you need.

THIS WAS ONLY A PRACTICE DRILL. It was held last summer at Little Chute to give area firemen a chance to use new techniques in fighting man's ancient enemy. Your community firefighters can benefit from such training, and they can also do a better job if they have the best equipment. Melray, Inc., metal fabricators of Hortonville, have long specialized in building tankers and pumpers for industrial and municipal uses. For complete information, contact Ray Richards at SP 9-4842.

Heart Disease Leads Death Cause List in Outagamie

Heart and blood vessel diseases caused more deaths in Outagamie County during 1962 than all other causes of death combined, according to figures compiled by the Wisconsin Heart Association from official State Board of Health records.

Heart deaths, which include heart attack, stroke and other complications of hardening of the arteries, rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease, high blood pressure, inborn heart defects and many other diseases and disorders, accounted for 428 deaths in Outagamie County during 1962. This figure represents 56.5 per cent of the total deaths.

The county figures closely parallel those compiled for all Wisconsin which list the heart diseases responsible for 57.6 per cent of total deaths. National statistics compiled by the National Bureau of Vital Statistics for 1961, the latest summary available, lists heart deaths at more than 54 per cent.

Control, Prevention

"Deaths from diseases of the heart and blood vessels continue to be our number one killer despite the fact that we have moved ahead steadily in the control and prevention of these diseases," said Dennis Herrling, 1505 Oakcrest Court, who will head the 1964 Heart Fund campaign here during February.

"Indicative of this progress was the announcement last year of a 6 per cent decrease in the death rate from heart disease in the 45-to-64-year age bracket — the most productive years of life," Herrling said.

Herrling called upon city residents to help the Heart Association continue and expand its three-part program by contributing to the Heart Fund. The annual campaign will continue through Feb. 29, reaching its high point on Heart Sunday Feb. 23 when a local army of volunteers will canvass their neighbors to collect contributions and to leave health-guarding information.

Rock River Polluted by City Sewage

BELOIT (AP)—State Board of Health experts, appearing at a water pollution hearing Wednesday, said municipal sewage plants at Madison, Janesville, Beloit and many other communities were contributing to the pollution of the Rock River and its tributaries.

Singled out for criticism were smaller, rapidly growing communities, which, the State Water Pollution Committee was told, were permitting effluent from septic tanks to flow into the river and Lake Koshkonong near Edgerton.

The committee recommended that sewage treatment procedures be improved at the State School for Boys at Wales and at several dairy farms in Walworth County.

Among the specific recommendations was a proposal that a sanitary sewerage district be formed in the Lake Koshkonong area. The report said there was enough residential development in the area to permit the State Board of Health to order sewer construction.

The Board of Health report said that pollution of the river is presently not "too serious" but is "increasing significantly" at a rapid rate.

Tustin Fire Department Buys New Equipment

TUSTIN — New forest fire fighting equipment purchased by the volunteer fire department includes 300 feet of hose, a reel and a new water pump. The purchasing committee included Norman Buchholz, fire chief; Elmer Radichal, Edwin Smith, James Boyson and Raymond Timm.

Support of Civic Leaders Sought by Plan Commission

Citizen Commtee Reviews Regional Expressway Plans

The Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission Thursday night made for the support of Valley civic leaders at the first meeting of Citizens Organization for Regional Planning (CORP).

"We need your support," Appleton City Planner Walter Rasmussen, a member of the commission, told the volunteer group.

"Our prestige and your decision-making ability is recognized in the community," he said. "We need your support of state legislation, and of various community programs."

"We need people who are not concerned with how much they will take on a particular project, or any other personal feelings," he added. "We can't function under those circumstances."

Credit Firm President Dead at 65

B. F. McKenzie A Founder of Appleton Company

Basil F. McKenzie, 65, president of People's Credit Corp., Appleton, died at 1 p.m. Thursday after an extended illness.

A native of Turtle Lake, McKenzie moved to Appleton 45 years ago and has been with the credit firm since it was founded 35 years ago. He was one of the founding officers.

McKenzie attended the University of Wisconsin and was graduated from Columbia University. He was a charter member of the Appleton Downtown Kiwanis Club, founder and past treasurer of the Fox Valley Ski Club, and chairman of the Outagamie County Veteran Service Commission.

Chamber Member

He also was a member of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, Riverview Country Club, and the Appleton Contract Bridge Association. He served for many years as treasurer of the Outagamie County Republican Volunteer Organization and was a veteran of World War I.

McKenzie lived at 66 Garden Court, Appleton. He is survived by the widow, two daughters, three sons, two brothers, one sister and 20 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Saturday in St. Mary Catholic Church. Friends may call after 3 p.m. today at Brett Schneider Funeral Home. Burial will be in St. Joseph Cemetery. A memorial has been established for the St. Mary Grade School Athletic Fund.

Teenage Safety Council Hears Outagamie Conservation Warden

The Outagamie County Teenage Safety Council heard Albert Vandenboom, conservation warden, speak on safety for sportsmen.

He spoke on gun handling, fishing, boat and water safety, and automobile and camping precautions.

A certificate of merit received by the council from Judge Gustave Keller, county judge, will be circulated to the various schools for display.

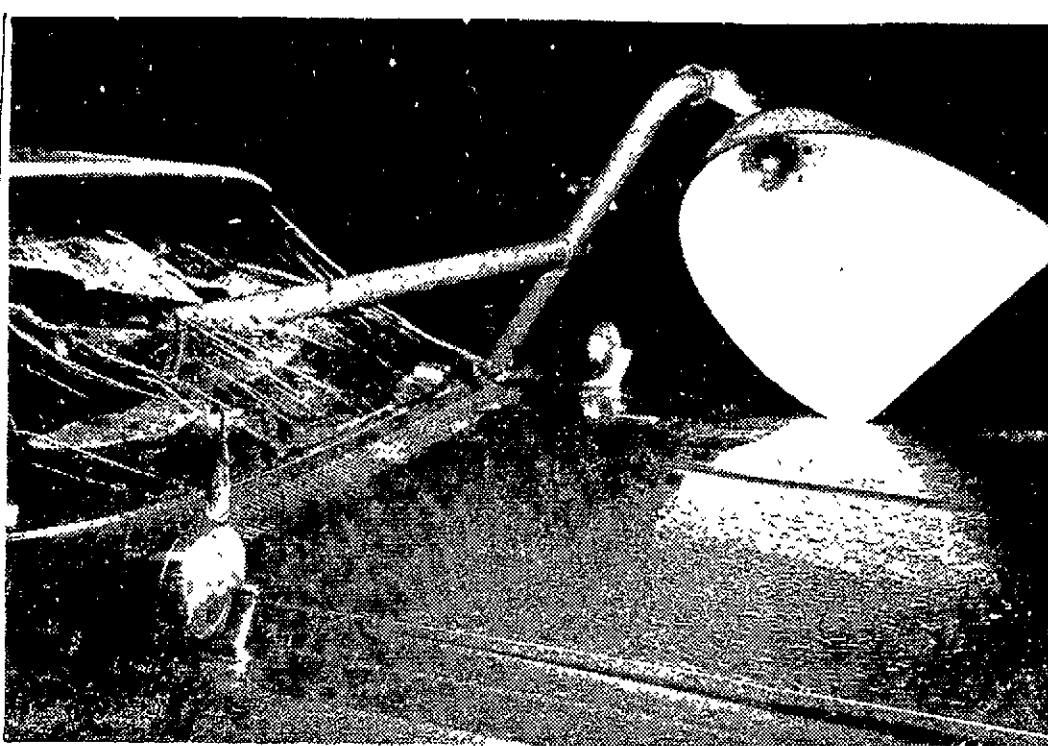

School committees and their projects are Appleton, safety messages displayed at basketball games; St. John, safety guidelines for babysitters; Kimberly, safety posters; Kaukauna, safety articles in school paper; Freedom, safety scrapbook and bulletin board; Shiocton, bulletin board; Bear Creek, bus evacuation drills and Hortonville, safety pennants on cars. Xavier and Fox Valley Lutheran had no definite projects pending.

2 Training Lectures Set for Xavier Faculty

Two lectures have been scheduled for in-service training of Xavier High School teachers.

The Rev. Albin Veszchowsky of St. Norbert College will speak Feb. 13 on "What We Must Know About Communism."

The Rev. George J. Augustyniak, O. Praem., of St. Norbert College, will speak Feb. 27 on "Contemporary Problems of Public Worship."

Burton A. Baerenwald, 19, route 1, Marion, narrowly escaped injury this morning when a light pole went through the windshield of his auto. Baerenwald told police he skidded while making a left turn onto Kamps Avenue, his car jumped a curb, went into a shopping center parking lot and struck the light pole. The pole toppled across the car and crashed through the windshield. (Post-Crescent Photo)

City-Union Contract Talks May Resume

Status of Negotiations Up for Personnel Committee Review

Negotiations between the City of Appleton and Teamsters Local 563 on 1964 contract demands may be resumed at city hall Saturday morning.

The city and union have been deadlocked in recent weeks, and Local 563 petitioned the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB) for fact-finding.

The union, representing about 100 employees in the department of public works, sought an across-the-board pay hike for hourly waged workers but this was rejected by the common council's personnel committee.

Negotiations have been broken off with each side in the dispute blaming the other.

Donald Lee of the WERB wrote Robert Shlieve, secretary-treasurer of Local 563, Thursday that he noted the union would accept mediation in lieu of fact-finding, if the city agrees.

Lee said he contacted Ald. Edward Krueger (11th), personnel committee chairman. Krueger informed the WERB examiner a committee meeting is set for Saturday at which the status of negotiations will be discussed.

"Mr. Krueger further stated he would be in contact with you relative to possible further negotiations and that he would also contact us concerning your progress toward a settlement," Lee told the examiner.

Copies of the WERB letter were also sent Krueger, Mayor Clarence Mitchell and City Clerk Elden Broehm.

Bells Placed In Church at Combined Locks

COMBINED LOCKS — Three bells were hoisted into place and a huge cross erected on the bell tower of the new St. Paul Catholic Church Thursday.

The bells are electric and will ring automatically. The largest bell weighs 2,325 pounds and has a mouth 48 inches in diameter. The smallest weighs 715 pounds and has a mouth 32 inches in diameter. The two were cast in Annecy, France, to match the third bell taken from the old church. That bell weighs 1,100 pounds and has a mouth 37 inches in diameter.

Refurbishing of the old bell, importing and electrifying of bells was handled by Alex Maslarchin of the United Organ and Bell Company, Milwaukee.

Races Postponed

Unseasonably warm weather and melted ice rinks have forced postponement of the recreation department-sponsored skating races scheduled at Jones Park Sunday afternoon. E. W. Grover said they would be rescheduled.

Xavier High Student Reservations Planned

Brother Peter, Xavier High School director, has announced reservations of present students and registrations of new students for the 1964-65 school year. They will be accepted until Feb. 7.

Registrations for next year will be accepted only from children from the seven Catholic parishes of Appleton.

A freshmen placement test will be given Feb. 15 starting at 8:30 a.m. and lasting until noon.

Loan Firm Secretary Resigns Post

George H. Beckley Named Chairman of ABLA Directors

The retirement of George H. Beckley as secretary for Appleton Building and Loan Association has been announced. He has been named as board chairman of the firm.

Beckley was organizer and founder of the association in April, 1919, and held the secretary position since then.

Arthur J. Snell Jr., loan officer, succeeds Beckley as secretary. Directors elected are Carl J. Becker, Willmer C. Rehbein and Snell.

Officers also elected are George Beckley Jr., president; Rehbein, vice president, and Becker, treasurer.

The association reported an assets total of $33.8 million, an increase of $3.3 million for 1963.

Retail Unit in Village Plans Special Sales

LITTLE CHUTE—The retail committee of the Businessmen's Association voted at a breakfast meeting to hold two early spring promotions.

First event will be dollar days from Feb. 13 through 15 and the second will be a coupon day on March 13. Merchants will include coupons in advertising which will be redeemable for special awards on the single day promotion.

Tentative plans were discussed for a sidewalk sale and crazy days to be held later in the year, but future meetings will be called to work out additional details.

Strive to Coordinate Utility, Street Work

Notice of Underground Projects Could End Costly Overlapping; Committee Named

Better coordination of street construction and underground utility projects in Appleton is to be achieved by a new committee of representatives of the department of public works, common council's street-sanitation committee, engineering department, park board, water department and the public utilities.

There is room for better understanding between departments, boards and utilities so streets aren't being constantly torn up," Mayor Clarence Mitchell said.

Appleton Pay Schedule to Be Reviewed

Council Awaits Cost Estimate Before Acting

The City of Appleton's pay schedule, established by the State Bureau of Personnel in 1960, will be reviewed again this year.

A request by the common council's personnel committee for the finance committee to appropriate an unknown sum from the contingent fund to cover updating the plan was denied Thursday night.

However, members of the finance committee said they would "go along" with the review by the board of personnel, but agreed no money would be transferred until an actual expenditure was established.

Aldermen felt that following any other procedure would be likened to "issuing a blank check."

Since 1960 Finance Director Donald Hassler said since 1960, the city has paid $3,122 for the pay plan and examinations conducted by the bureau at the request of the city.

"The best business practice would be for the personnel committee to submit the bill, and then we would pay it," commented Ald. Harold Hannemann (10th), finance chairman.

Salary adjustments were also approved for several firemen who recently received promotions. They include:

Carlton Beschta and Ralph Krause, from lieutenant to captain.

Duane Arts, driver to lieutenant.

James Mauthe, assistant inspector to lieutenant.

Larry Workman and John Nysse, fireman to driver.

Richard Peterson, assistant mechanic to mechanic.

Edward Mandock, fireman to assistant inspector.

Robert Otis, assistant inspector to driver.

Harold Lillge, driver to assistant inspector.

Treasurer Ray Feuerstein reported he deposited $1 million for six months in First National Bank at 3.55 per cent interest.

State Aeronautics Commission Director Speaks at Oshkosh Meeting of Airport Officials

BY ALLAN EKVALL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH 4—Recommended location of a regional airport to serve the Fox River Valley area may be announced sometime in April, by the Civil Aeronautics Board Hearing examiner, T. K. Jordan, State Aeronautics Commission director, indicated here Thursday.

Jordan said the prediction, which he said was his opinion, at a meeting of the Winnebago County Aviation Committee with representatives of his office and continue later at Washington, E. (the St. Paul and Kansas City Agency (FAA).

Both Outagamie and Winnebago counties are asking to be designated as the regional airport location.

Jordan said he would hesitate to guess what would happen after the CAB examiner makes his recommendation as to the airport's location.

The civil Aeronautics Board reviews this recommendation, then makes its decision. An appeal from that decision can be taken to the courts.

Airport Hearings

Hearings on the regional airport location, not only for the Fox River Valley area but for other parts of the state were held at Wausau last July and continue later at Washington, E. T. Stodola was the hearing examiner. At the close of the hearings he suggested Outagamie and Winnebago counties get together for a joint airport discussion, but such a meeting never came about.

The Winnebago County Board Tuesday tabled until March 17 a resolution proposing a joint meeting with Outagamie County to discuss the airport matter and a possible joint airport operation.

Vote on tabling the resolution was 27 to 23.

With Jordan at the meeting was James M. Abernathy, airport engineer for the State Aeronautics Commission. Attending from the FAA were Edgar P. Vie, assistant district airport engineer, James Dixon of the air space branch and Frank McCleod of the procedures branch, all of Kansas City, and James Popp of the St. Paul office.

Nomination Papers Filed By City Clerk

City Clerk Elden Broehm today became the first of the city's constitutional officials to file nomination papers for re-election.

He has been clerk since 1955. Three Appleton residents filed papers and formally entered the race for two board of education posts to be filled at the April 7 election.

In the contest for school commissioners are:

Martin L. Downs, a chemist, who lives at 1000 Greengrove Rd. He is a former district school board member.

Former Member

Mrs. Helen L. Heil, housewife and former Appleton Board of Education member, who lives at 1735 N. Oneida St.

Kenneth Sager, 525 N. Douglas St., a former member of the Appleton public school system and now an associate professor at Lawrence College.

Two other Appleton residents, including one incumbent board member, are circulating papers.

One incumbent council member also filed today and will seek another two-year term. He is Ald. Harold Hannemann (10th), council president. Hannemann is a salesman.

Indicating they intend to provide opposition for aldermen in two of the city's wards were a pair of other filers.

Gerald W. Arens, 615 N. Lawe St., operator of Central Delivery Service, is running for 2nd Ward alderman, and Lawrence Thomas, 417 E. Lindbergh St., a bus driver, in the race for 17th Ward alderman.

With two days remaining before the 5 p.m. Tuesday filing deadline, a last-minute rush is expected.

Board Members Argue Over Winnebago Stand on Airport

Definite Position on Issue May Affect CAB Decision

OSHKOSH — Supv. Alvin Staffed Neenah Thursday contended Outagamie County had made the proper approach offered every inducement "to get in touch with us and we haven't seen fit to do so" while Supv. E. G. Steinhilber of Oshkosh argued that "Winnebago County got nowhere in checking with Outagamie County."

Their statements were made at a meeting of the Winnebago County Board's aviation committee with representatives here from the state aeronautics commission office at Madison and the Federal Aviation Agency offices at Kansas City and St. Paul.

'Need No Help'

Supv. Steinhilber declared that Winnebago County's aviation committee had an informal meeting with Outagamie County's committee before the latter committee opened bids for its new airport.

"They said point blank they were going ahead and did not need any help," Supv. Steinhilber charged.

"What can be accomplished by further conversations with Outagamie County? I say nothing can be accomplished and that is my view and that of others. It would make the state and FAA think that we were not happy with their engineering for us," he continued.

Wait for CAB

"We have to wait for the CAB. If it is adverse against us, then they (the CAB) are going against all the criteria they had all along."

He had cited earlier the CAB regulations regarding air space conflicts, airports closer than 50 miles apart and the driving time of one hour as the suggested maximum to an airport.

Issue Warning: Stay Away From Channel Areas

OSHKOSH — Conservation department officials have issued a warning to people to stay away from river channel areas of the area lakes with cars. With the warm weather of the last 10 days the river current has eroded the channel ice and has made those sections of the lakes dangerous.

The car of an Oshkosh motorist, Harold Heling, 427 W. 14th Ave., went through the ice of Lake Poygan Thursday morning at Hanks Boat Livery on County Trunk B, West of Winnebago. Heling escaped unharm.

The Conservation Department reported there was about 22 inches of ice on Lake Winnebago and the big lake was entirely safe to the best of their knowledge. There also is "plenty of safe ice on Lakes Butte des Morts and Poygan," they reported, "but motorists should make a point of knowing where the river channels are."

They also warned fishermen of Big Green Lake. "It is the most dangerous lake in the state right now," conservation officials said. Only the eastern third of the lake is frozen and there is about 4½ miles of open water. "Don't drive beyond marked areas," they warned.

Aldermanic Race In First Ward Has 4 Candidates

KAUKAUNA — Three more candidates took out nomination papers for First ward alderman Wednesday after incumbent Clarence O'Connor announced he would not seek reelection.

Taking out papers were Clayton McCabe, 4 Armstrong Court, Married and the father of three children he is employed in the decorating department at the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Company; Duane E. Gast, 201 W. Wisconsin Ave., married and a student studying accounting at the Appleton Vocational and Adult School, and John A. Arnoldussen, 121 W. Wisconsin Ave., married and the father of one child and operator of the Wisconsin Bar.

Previously taking out papers for the office was William Egan. None have previously held public office and Egan is the lone candidate who sought office previously.

Candidate List Reaches 24 in Neenah Races

Two More Take Out Papers for Sixth Ward Alderman

NEENAH — The number of official candidates for the April 7 election in Neenah reached 24 today as three more candidates filed their completed papers at the city clerk's office. They were Milton H. Boehm, 429 Lowell Place; Lewis R. Emery, 523 E. Cecil St., and Ewald A. Miller, 113 W. Cecil St.

Boehm is seeking a one year term as Ninth Ward alderman, a position vacated by Florian Jabas in December and presently filled by Sidney Donaldson. The latter also is a candidate.

School Board

Emery is seeking one of three positions up for election on the Neenah Joint School District.

Miller, the incumbent Second Ward alderman, is seeking reelection to the position he has held for six years.

The list of possible candidates for the Sixth Ward alderman position was increased to six today with the addition of Frank Gmeiner, 657 Cleveland St., and Rodney L. Miller, 809 Harrison St., who took out papers.

Gmeiner is an office manager at the Neenah Foundry. Miller is an electrician.

Alderman

Second Ward — Ewald Miller, (incumbent) and Robert Torgerson.

Fourth Ward: Wilmot Houpt (incumbent) and Fredric Reichel.

Sixth Ward: Robert DeWald, Eighth Ward: Don Kuehneman (incumbent) and John K. Robinson.

Tenth Ward: Ronald W.

Engineer Reviews Airport Plans, Suggests Start on Some Project

OSHKOSH — An explanation of the suggestion in the engineering study of the Winnebago County airport that Winnebago County first "determine whether Outagamie County will participate in studies of feasibility and cost of a new joint airport in the Oshkosh - Neenah area" was made by Joseph H. Looper, manager of the Milwaukee office of Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff, engineering consultants, to the Winnebago County aviation committee Thursday.

Looper presented the report's recommendations and reasons at a meeting of the aviation committee with representatives of the Federal Aviation Agency and State Aeronautics Commission office.

He had been asked by Supv. E. G. Steinhilber, Oshkosh, as to why the report contained that suggestion when no ground work had been laid for it.

'Doesn't Make Sense'

Looper replied that as of now Outagamie County has committed itself almost beyond return to build some kind of an airport which was not the case when the engineering study was being made. "I don't know if they would quit."

"To an engineer, operating two fields for commercial service for much of the same area does not make sense. It may make political sense. Commercial service to an entire area can be provided from one field."

He suggested the aviation committee proceed with some of the recommendations in the report since some are pressing needs now and can be carried out while waiting for the CAB decision.

Suggests Start

Among the developments he suggested for action now were having a topographical survey made of the airport, widening the east-west runway to 150 feet from the present 100 foot width, an overlay on the east-west runway, and arranging the financing for the project.

He said his firm believes the long-range picture indicates an entry of the local service airlines into the major markets since the trunk lines are moving ahead into intercontinental and long hops and getting out of short-haul service.

Looper said the problems of the terminal building also are pressing now and that state and federal aid is not available for terminals. North Central Airlines already has asked for additional space at the airport terminal.

Alternates

He cited the two alternate proposals for a new runway with an effective length of 6,200 feet which could handle jet aircraft and which his firm recommends for completion by 1975. One would be for a new south-east - northwest runway and

Pair Who Took Squad Car Must 'Clean Up' Incident

OSHKOSH — Neenah Police will receive three free squad car wash jobs courtesy of Richard N. Brophy, 34, Rockford, Ill., and Robert L. McDonald, 27, Tullar Road, route 1, Neenah.

That was one phase of the sentence imposed by County Judge James V. Sitter on the pair this morning after he agreed to a reduction of the charge against them from car theft to disorderly conduct. They also were placed on probation for a year to their attorney, Melvin Crowley, Menasha.

Brophy had gotten into a Neenah squad car when it was parked on Chute Street in Menasha about 2 a.m. Wednesday when McDonald got into another car and pushed the Neenah squad car several blocks to a place behind the old Menasha City Garage where they left it.

The two Neenah policemen were in a restaurant eating at the time and had the ignition keys with them. Investigation by Neenah and Menasha Police led to Brophy and McDonald, who had been in the restaurant a few minutes earlier.

Dist. Atty. Jack Steinhilber, in asking for the reduction in the charge from car theft to disorderly conduct, said the action was a prank that was not funny to the Neenah and Menasha Police and that the two defendants now realized the seriousness of their mistake. They are both thoroughly ashamed of themselves, as they should be, he said.

the other was for extending the existing north-south runway.

Cost estimates, as of now, would be $2,630,000 for the complete project if the new south-east - northwest runway were built, of $1,888,000 if the north-south runway were extended.

There would be disadvantages in the latter extension from the standpoint of the instrument landing system equipment and the presence of other airplanes in the terminal area.

Interfaith Choir Concert to be Annual Event

7 Groups to Sing Sacred Music at Lawrence Chapel

The interfaith choir concert to be presented Sunday in Appleton as the first of its kind in this area, will become an annual event with the aim of fostering ecumenical spirit.

Set for 7:30 p.m. in the Lawrence College Chapel, the concert is being sponsored this year by Xavier High School Parents' Club.

Seven musical organizations will present varied religious music of the Christian and Jewish faiths.

Choir Groups

Taking part will be Schmitt Brothers Quartet of Two Rivers, who will sing sacred music of the Catholic Church, and Appleton's MacDowell Male Chorus, under direction of Edwin Zordel, which will present songs from many faiths.

Rabbi Gilbert Silverstein and cantors from the Moses Montefiore Synagogue will sing music of the Jewish religion. Mrs. Earl Fetting of St. Paul Lutheran Church will sing solos of the music of her church. The Presbyterian Church choir will appear under the direction of Mrs. Winton Schumaker.

The men's and boys' choir of St. Joseph Catholic Church, directed by Francis Scholtz, will sing official music of the Catholic church. The 30-member Xavier Parents' Choir, under direction of Brother Peter F. S. C., will present several contemporary sacred songs.

Outagamie County Road Markings To be Changed, Commissioner Says

All highway signs in Outagamie County will have to be changed in the next five years. Highway Commissioner Clarence Brownson said Wednesday. Brownson said according to state law, county highway markings must agree with the state manual.

"The state put out a new manual more than a year ago, but it has taken until just recently for Outagamie County to get a copy," Brownson said. He said major changes in road signs will include replacement of present markers with larger ones.

"In many cases, for instance, the state requires 30-inch stop signs where we now have 24-inch signs," Brownson said.

Color Coding The new manual, he said, is much more specific as to various measurements. For example, highway center stripes, where there are more than one to denote no passing areas, must be not more than four inches or less than three inches apart. Many of the new sign requirements also call for color coding, he said.

Some green signs in Brown County will have to come down, he said, because they are the wrong color for information they carry.

Work will be done gradually, Brownson said, bringing all the county's signs into agreement with state specifications in the next five years.

Xavier High School's all-victorious Hawks Saturday night begin the eliminatic portion of their campaign for a third successive Fox Valley Catholic Conference basketball crown.

The Hawks play host to Menasha St. Mary in a return 1963-4 engagement. The final three weeks of the regular season will be the "home" stretch in more ways than one, since five of the Hawks' final six FVCC games will be played in the Xavier Gym.

FVCC weekend activity begins tonight, with the St. John-at-Marquette and Pennings-at-Premonstr games. A Saturday night pairing, in addition to the St. Mary-Xavier duel pits Fond du Lac Springs against Oshkosh Lourdes.

Marquette Loses
The Hawks road to a third straight championship was a smoothed last Saturday when Lourdes upended Marquette Central. That loss by the previous undisputed runnerup put the Hawks three games ahead of their nearest rivals in the loss column.

Xavier, after escaping 12 days ago with its closest call of the season—a 42-38 win over Wausau Newman—responded with a typical Hawk game last weekend in Little Chute. Xavier nearly matched its season's offensive and defensive averages with a 76-45 win over St. John. For the conference campaign, the Gene (Torchy) Clark-coached Hawks have averaged 73.9 points per game, while permitting only 43.8.

Ranked the No. 1 parochial private school team in the state, Xavier will bid for its 25th straight FVCC win and its 40th straight success, over-all, Saturday. The longest winning streak in recent state Catholic basketball history was 46 straight by Madison Edgewood. 6: Ray Woboril, Milwaukee, beat Wisconsin Rapids Assumption; snapped it last February.

St. Mary's Zephyrs have won only two of eight league games to date, but in their latest start, they dropped a 73-72 heartbreaker to Pennings. In their first encounter with the powerful

Edges Ferkovich In Appleton's Mixed Bonspiel

Defending champion Bill Elwell, of Milwaukee, edged Appleton's Bud Ferkovich, 10-9, in one of the opening matches in the Appleton Curling Club's 1964 invitational mixed bonspiel Thursday.

Two ACC rinks came through with victories in inter-club matches. Carl Nebel nipped Don Stewart, Glenview, Ill., 8-7; and Joe Schulenberg whipped Spence Keare, of Exmoor, 13-7.

Winners of two all-ACC pairings were Ted Perry (with a 7-2 decision over Bill Herriott) and Jim Arnold (with a 10-5 verdict over Bill Johnston).

Wausau's Walt Pahl scored a 15-10 win over the ACC's Jock Cameron.

Other first round results: Woodbury Burgert, Exmoor, beat McCoy, Milwaukee, 11-9; "Fergie" Ferguson, Exmoor, beat Fred Lins, Milwaukee, 10-8; Jim Cottrell, of Madison, beat R. B. Baldridge, Stevens Point, 12-6; Bob Rasche, Milwaukee, stopped Roy Halligan, North Shore, 10-8; Pete Woboril, Milwaukee, beat Bill Boysen, North Shore, 9-7; Gray Cummins, Glenview, beat Wausau's Bill Miller, 12-1; Bob Dosen, Port Edwards, beat Bob Holt, Glenview, 8-7; and Don Anderson, Hartland, beat Bill Van Deven, Milwaukee, 9-3.

In second-evening matches, Lins beat McCoy, 8-7; and Baldridge stopped Halligan, 10-7.

while two American ski jumpers were involved in lesser accidents.

The increasing mishaps, though, failed to daunt coaches of the United States teams who named some of their starters for Olympic events.

Norman Barkley, a British sledder, flew off the dangerous toboggan course, spun around in the air and landed on the edge of the chute. Onlookers became alarmed when Barkley lay motionless for a few minutes.

Another Briton, Kazimierz Kay-Skrzypecki, was injured fatally earlier this week in a tobogganing accident near the same spot.

Barkley, however, regained consciousness by the time he reached an ambulance. Doctors said he broke his left upper arm near the shoulder.

Ansten Samuelstuen of Boulder, Colo., a member of the U.S. Nordic ski team, suffered a spectacular fall at nearby Seefeld Hill. He was shaken up, and both of his skis were broken. Dave Hicks of Duluth, Minn., received lacerations of his back and arms in a spill.

At the request of toboggan officials, the Olympic Organizing Committee took steps to lessen the hazards of the toboggan run. The committee agreed to install wooden lips at the top of the steep curves as soon as possible.

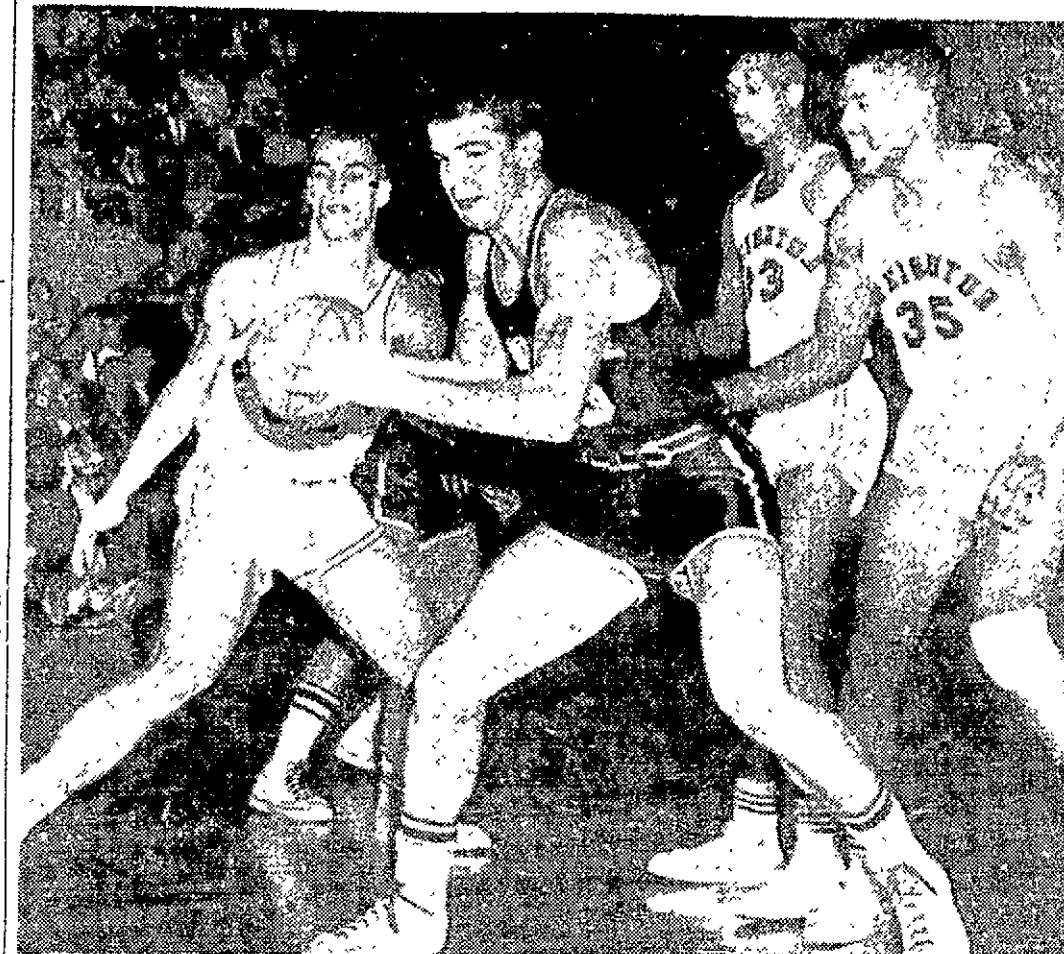

Turning to the task of naming the Americans who will go for gold medals, coaches of the Alpine and Nordic ski teams came up with partial lists of starters.

Alpine Coach Bob Beattie named Jean Saubert of Lakeview, Ore.; Bud Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo., and Billy Kidd of Stowe, Vt., as the only definite choices to compete in all three Alpine events—the slalom, the giant slalom and the downhill.

Besides Miss Saubert, picked for the women's competition were Linda Meyers of Bishop, Calif., two slalom races; Barbara Ferries of Houghton, Mich., the slalom, and Joan Hannah of Franconia, N.H., the giant slalom.

Beattie named Jim Huega of Tahoe City, Calif., for the two slaloms and Chuck Ferriss of Houghton, Mich., for the slalom.

John Balfanz of Minneapolis and Gene Kotlarek of Duluth, Minn., will head the U.S. ski jumping team.

Silas Stars In Team's 14th Victory

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Marquette's undermanned Warriors lost a bruising battle under the boards and their ninth game Thursday night when Creighton surged to a 84-57 basketball victory.

Creighton, winner of 14 of 16 starts, was in command from the onset but Marquette closed the margin to 30-27 late in the first period before the Bluejays hit 10 straight points for a 40-27 halftime advantage.

Paul Silas, Creighton's 6-foot-7 center who gave the Blue Jays complete rebound control, topped all scorers with 22 points. Sophomore Tom Flynn paced the Warriors with 16 points.

Creighton's offensive onslaught continued after the intermission and the Blue Jays built a 47-31 lead before Marquette center Willie Kingsley was benched with four fouls.

Then Warrior forward John Stone fouled out and Kingsley returned but Creighton continued to roll, sweeping to a 62-39 advantage.

Marquette has a 4-9 record. The Warriors next game will be Tuesday against Wisconsin at Milwaukee.

NFL Teams Fail to Follow Suit in Hiking Ticket Prices for 1964

Owner of Colts Says TV Revenue Got Him Off Hook

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts were left out on the limb by other members of the National Football League who got "cold feet" and failed to follow suit in raising ticket prices, Carroll Rosenbloom said Thursday.

The prospect of increased revenue from television got him off the hook, Rosenbloom said in rescinding an announced $1 increase in Colt tickets. He made the move upon becoming sole owner of the club by buying out two partners.

"Other teams in the league were supposed to raise theirs, too," said Rosenbloom. "The matter of increasing ticket costs was talked over within the league and it was generally agreed that the time had come when the step would have to be taken."

"Baltimore was picked as the ice breaker because of the support of Baltimore fans."

"We accepted the unwelcome job of going first."

Leave Us Hanging
"And after we had made our announcement of a ticket raise, the other teams were supposed to follow closely behind. But I'll be doggone if the others didn't get cold feet and leave us hanging there."

Rosenbloom said the winning bid to be awarded Friday in New York for telecasting NFL games will be far beyond original expectations. Under the expired contract with CBS, the league received $9.3 million for two years, which meant about $325,000 per year to each of the 14 members.

Rosenbloom said when negotiations started for a new two-year contract, it was estimated each team's share might increase to $400,000. Now the bidding is expected to be about $15 million which would be more than $500,000 each a year.

That will be enough, Rosenbloom said, to meet rising costs without a ticket increase — for 1964, he emphasized.

"There's no telling what will happen if the dizzy spending competition with the American Football League gets any worse," he said.

The third class session scheduled for Saturday morning at Calumet County Park and View Ridge at New London will be held on the first succeeding Saturday when there is sufficient snow.

Students are advised to watch the Post-Crescent for further information.

Spahn Signs Pact For Record Basic Pay of $85,000

Warren Reaches $1 Million Mark For Total Braves Salaries

BY BOB GREEN

Some few years before Warren Spahn started pitching, so history tells us, the island of Manhattan was purchased from the Indians for about $24. Old Spahn now gets more than that every time he uncoils that limber, ageless left arm of his.

Wondrous Warren, nearing his 43rd birthday and a 350 game winner, signed with the Milwaukee Braves Thursday calling for what General Manager John McHale says is the highest salary ever paid a pitcher.

That would call for about $85,000. Working on the assumption that he pitches about as many games, and throws about as many pitches as he usually does, it comes out to about $23 a throw for baseball's oldest active performer.

"Earn the Money"

"My job now," said the bald old fellow with the young outlook, "is to go out and earn the money."

The only surprise would be if he didn't. The amazing lefty, like good wine, seems to improve with age. His 23-7 record last season was the best of his career that started in 1942 with the old Boston Braves.

Spahn's signing was the top item on a day that offered plenty of fuel to the hot-stove league fires. Other major signings included Ron Perranoski of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Hector Lopez of the New York Yankees and Vada Pinson of the Cincinnati Reds.

In other action, Cincinnati shortstop Eddie Kasko was traded to the Houston Colts, Kansas City's Charles O. Finley asked for a meeting with the city fathers and the New York Mets announced that Casey Stengel is going to Mexico.

Perranoski, the Dodgers' reliever ace in their drive to the NL and World Series championships, got a hike of about $15,000 to $36,000. The 26-year-old lefty had a 16-3 record and a sparkling 1.63 earned run average. Reported $32,000.

Lopez, a key figure in taking up the Yankee outfield slack when Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris were injured last season, signed for a reported $32,000. Pinson, who had 22 homers and

Peralta Rules 2-1 Favorite Over Thornton

NEW YORK (AP)—Argentina's Gregorio Peralta is a 2-1 favorite to whip California's Wayne Thornton for the second straight time tonight and move on to a title fight with light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano in March.

The 175-pound division contenders clash in a 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden. It will be telecast coast to coast. Starting time is 10 p.m., EST.

Peralta, a handsome look-alike for movie star Paul Newman, has an unbeaten string of 46. His record is 44-1 and two draws. The lone defeat was an eighth round technical knockout on cuts to Peruvian Mauro Mina in Peralta's first pro fight. He has scored 16 knockouts.

Thornton's record is 29-4-1, including 18 knockouts.

Walt Bellamy Leads Bullets Over Knicks

Celtics Outlast Hawks, 110-104; Warriors Win

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fining Walt Bellamy was like poking a hole in a hornets' nest. The Baltimore star, assessed $400 earlier this month for not hustling, has reacted angrily—angrily, that is, against the Bullets' National Basketball Association opponents. In fact, that $400 might be the most expensive $400 the other teams incur this season.

Bellamy had a perfect game from the field Thursday night, sinking all 12 of his field goal attempts, in sparking Baltimore to a 130-114 triumph over New York.

In other games, Boston outlasted St. Louis 110-104 and San Francisco walloped Detroit 125-93.

Bellamy, rookie of the year in 1961-62, finished with 31 points in three quarters — he sat out the entire fourth — as Baltimore scored its most points of the season and won its fourth game in the last five starts.

Bill Russell's hook shot and Sam Jones' pair of free throws in the final 25 seconds brought Boston its fifth victory in six games with St. Louis.

San Francisco climbed into second place in the Western Division, five percentage points ahead of St. Louis, as seven players scored in double figures against hapless Detroit. Wilt Chamberlain led the parade with 28 points.

Men's Bonspiel Underway at Clintonville Club

CLINTONVILLE — Sixteen rinks will compete in the men's invitational bonspiel this weekend at Clintonville Curling club, Sixth Street.

The event got underway at noon today and will continue through the finals of three events Sunday afternoon.

The Dan Mullarkey rink, Wauwatosa, won the first event last year and is entered again for this bonspiel.

A fish fry will be served at the clubhouse tonight, with Jack McConley chairman. The bonspiel dinner will be at Fischer's Riviera Supper club Saturday night.

John Montv is chairman; Vic Sell, vice chairman; John Kaska, head of clubhouse committee; Woodrow Smith, games and rules chairman; and Cov Deming heads the committee on ice and refrigeration.

Rosenbloom Now Sole Owner of Baltimore Colts

BALTIMORE (AP) — Carroll Rosenbloom became sole owner of the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League Thursday, buying out two partners.

Rosenbloom reportedly owned 69 per cent and paid $1 million for the remaining 31 per cent.

Selling their interests to Rosenbloom were Thomas Mullan, a building contractor, and Zeevi Krieger, who also is part owner of the Baltimore Orioles and Baltimore Clippers in the American Hockey League.

Roosevelt '5' Beats Neenah, Leads League

Posts 81-63 Win; Kaukauna and Madison Triumph

FOX VALLEY FRESHMAN LEAGUE

Thursday's Results
Roosevelt 61, Neenah 43.
Kaukauna 54, Kimberly 48.
Madison 48, Menasha 44.

Roosevelt overcame a first quarter deficit and remained unbeaten in the Fox Valley Freshman Basketball League by scoring an 81-63 victory over previously undefeated Neenah at the Roosevelt gym Thursday afternoon.

In other games, Kaukauna moved into a tie for third place by defeating rival Kimberly, 56-48 and Madison posted its first victory of the campaign by edging Menasha, 48-44.

Roosevelt trailed, 18-17, at the end of the first quarter but roared out in front with 22 points in the second stanza while Neenah was limited to nine. The 81 points was the highest total a team coached by Rollie Winter has ever rolled up. A pressing defense by Roosevelt spelled the difference.

George Hoffman scored 23 for Roosevelt. Next came Gary Lutz, with 22, and Jim Kloes, with 21. Fred Ehardt played a key role in the win as the top playmaker. Gary Losse fired in 28 points for Neenah to take scoring honors.

Overcome Deficit
Kaukauna overcame a first-period Kimberly advantage and outscored the Papermakers, 22-11, in the second frame to take the lead. Joe Schouten Jr. and Tom Kavanaugh each scored 10 points for the Junior Ghosts. Ken Friese, of Kimberly, took game honors with 26 points.

Bruce Kain hit 19 points to lead Madison to its win over Menasha. The visitors had a 39-27 margin at the end of three quarters but a last-period rally by the Bluejays fell short. Top scorer for Menasha was Tom Kenney with 15.

Chuck Noe Quits At South Carolina

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — Charles (Chuck) Noe has resigned as basketball coach of the University of South Carolina for "personal reasons," university officials announced Thursday.

Dwaine Morrison, appointed acting coach after Noe asked that he be given a leave because he was exhausted earlier this month, will continue in that capacity for the balance of the season.

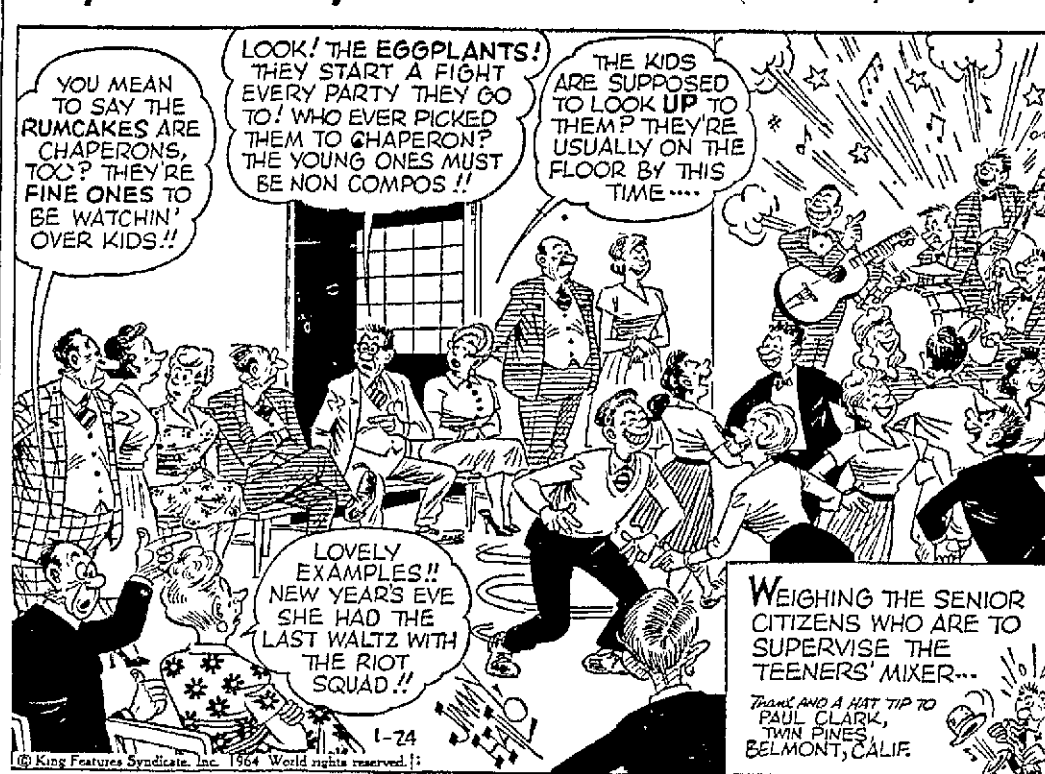

Dennis DeBruin Tops Teen Bowling League

KAUKAUNA — Dennis DeBruin rapped a 235 singleton and 2-game set of 379 to lead the Recreation Teen Bowling League at the Bowling Bar. Scores include handicap.

The Hairs lead, with a 16-2 record — five games better than runnerup Marshbergs. Other high lines were posted by Ron Sampson (209) and Louis Van Toll (200).

Linda Yingling with a 179 paced the girls, while Lynn Hust had a 2-game set of 317. The Knickers with a 12-6 record hold a 1-game lead over Alley Cats. Carla Ploetz hit a 174 singleton.

Black Hawks And Montreal Both Triumph

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The sudden spurt of the Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League race apparently has created quite an impact on the Chicago Black Hawks.

For a while it looked as if the Hawks were going to make a runaway while the other teams concentrated on qualifying for a playoff berth.

But the Canadiens caught fire while Chicago went into a tailspin. As a result, the clubs are in a first-place deadlock with 55 points each, and the Hawks realize that Montreal is a team to be reckoned with.

The Canadiens continued their winning ways with an uphill 4-2 victory over the New York Rangers in Montreal Thursday night. Meanwhile, the aroused Hawks kept pace by turning back the Bruins 3-1 on Boston ice.

Marquette Will Review Dropped Players' Cases

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Marquette University Athletic Board will review the cases of four basketball players dropped from the squad for training violations, board president Dr. Thomas R. Abbott said Wednesday.

Abbott said the cases of sophomores Jim Warras, Con Yagodzinski and Paul Carbins and junior Joe Price will be reviewed at the board's next regular meeting, probably in February.

The four players were dropped from the squad by coach Eddie Hickey for missing a 1 a.m. curfew New Year's Eve in Louisville, Ky. Hickey also recommended that their scholarships be lifted after the first semester.

Barry Paces Hurricane to 121-99 Victory

Miami Junior Averaging 30.5 In 15 Games

BY TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Rick Barry was good as a sophomore in college basketball for the University of Miami, Fla. Hurricanes last year. He's better this season.

The 6-foot-7 junior from Roselle Park, N.J. demonstrated his ability anew Thursday night with 32 points to lead the Hurricanes to a decisive 121-99 victory over Lasalle at Miami Beach. He's now the sixth highest collegiate scorer with 457 points in 15 games for an average of 30.5.

In living up to the praise of his coach, Bruce Hale, the 19-year-old Barry flipped in 10 field goals and 12 of 13 free throws. Down by 10 points the Hurricanes went on a 17-2 spree midway of the first half to turn the game into a rout.

Barry faces a stern test next month on Feb. 10 when the Hurricanes host Creighton and its star, Paul Silas, the nation's leading rebounder.

Silas, a 6-7 giant like Barry, shared the headlines with Rick Thursday on another light national program. He grabbed 32 rebounds and scored 22 points as the Blue Jays from Omaha walloped Marquette 84-57.

Creighton's record now is 14-2, Miami's 11-4.

All of the Top Ten teams in The Associated Press poll were idle.

Sindahl's Deals Bleier's First Two Volleyball Defeats of Season

Sindahl's (15-3) handed Bleier's (16-2) its first two defeats of the season to tighten up the ARD Men's Volleyball League race. The scores were 15-13, 15-13 and 12-15.

The Power Company Chargers swept three from Power Company Kilowatts to tie Sindahl's Metal (34-17) leads the Skunk Hill Bar by three games.

Heavyweight Champ Hopes to Weigh 210 for Clay Bout

BY DAVID FARMER

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston shuffled around the ring, warming up for a sparring session at his training camp in Las Vegas.

"Time!" yelled a trainer, and Liston closed in on a scrawny-looking light heavyweight named Leotis Martin.

There was no sound in the auditorium but the squeaking of shoes on canvas, the grunts and heavy breathing of the boxers, and the smack of gloves on flesh.

Dick Weber Takes Lead in All-Star Meet

Mark Kuglitsch, Of Milwaukee, Loses To Defending Champ

DALLAS (AP) — Defending champion Dick Weber of St. Louis charged into the lead in the All-Star Bowling Tournament Thursday, depositing Tommy Tuttle of Rural Hall, N.C., who had ruled the $100,000 event for seven straight rounds.

Weber split his eighth round duel with Mark Kuglitsch of Milwaukee, and outpinned his youthful opponent 890 to 886 in four games.

Tuttle, who had led Weber by 159 pins going into the final round of the day, lost four straight to Bob Strampe of Detroit, who clobbered him 941 to 774.

Weber emerged from the eighth round with a 21-11 record and a total pinfall of 6,917. He earned a 1,050 pin bonus, 50 for each game he has won, to boost his official grand total to 7,967.

57 Pins Behind Tuttle's 19-13 record and his total pinfall of 6,960 plus 950 bonus put him 57 pins behind the leader.

Laverne Carter of St. Louis took sole possession of the women's lead on the final square of the day. The attractive blonde wife of four-time former champion Don Carter, has a 11-5 record and 3,169 total pins. Her grand total is 3,719.

Mrs. Carter swept two games in the eighth round from Jeanette Robinson of Flint, Mich., outscoring her opponent 439 to 349.

Norma Lake of Dallas, the leader for seven straight rounds dropped to second place, 79 pins behind Mrs. Carter. Mrs. Lake split her eighth round match with Bobbe North of Pomona, Calif.

Mrs. Jeanette Bopp of Milwaukee was in ninth place with an eight-round total of 3,470. Kuglitsch held down the 15th spot in men's competition with 7,047.

Dodgers Deny Howard's Request To be Traded

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Big Frank Howard has asked the Los Angeles Dodgers management to trade him to another team so he can play more, and has been told he must stick around the Dodger dugout, the San Francisco Examiner said today.

An Examiner story, by sports writer Harry Jupiter, said Howard first approached Dodger vice president Buzzie Bavasi with his unusual request last October.

Howard said he wanted to leave the Dodgers because he was spending too much time on the bench.

Jupiter's story said Bavasi told Howard there was no chance of his being traded. Howard, in turn, suggested that he might just go home to Green Bay and "get a job" there, the Examiner said.

Blaine Walsh to Receive Catholic Layman's Award

BEAVER DAM (AP)—Blaine Walsh, a Milwaukee radio and television sports announcer, was named Thursday as Wisconsin's Outstanding Catholic Layman for 1963.

John Carran, grand knight of the Beaver Dam Knights of Columbus, made the announcement of Walsh, who will receive the award at a banquet here Feb. 20.

A native of Green Bay, Walsh returned to his home town after serving in World War II and started his broadcasting career. In 1952 he joined stations WTMJ and WTMJ-TV in Milwaukee.

Past winners of the award include Green Bay Packer Coach Vince Lombardi and Raymond Dvorak of Madison, director of the University of Wisconsin hand.

Like a giant cat, Liston toyed with Martin, sometimes playful and sometimes vicious. Martin flashed jabs at the big champion, making him look clumsy at times.

But the little man, selected to improve Sonny's speed, couldn't hurt Liston. Martin clinched with the champion, barely able to get his arms around the barrel of a chest.

Fay $1 Apiece "Time!" yelled the trainer, and the fighters separated. The 300 onlookers who paid $1 apiece to see the workout, applauded.

Liston and his opponent moved restlessly around the ring between rounds, then boxed two to see the workout, applauded.

Liston strolled over to the heavy bag on the showroom stage of the Thunderbird Hotel. The hulking, 31-year-old champion knocked the 75-pound bag around like a hanging sausage for a few minutes, then turned to the speed bag.

An announcer detailed Sonny's routine.

"He's down to about 220," said the announcer. "He weighed about 226 or 230 when he came here at the beginning of January. He wants to be down to about 210 or 215 when he fights Clay Feb. 25 in Miami Beach."

Never Knocked Down "Have you ever been knocked down, Sonny?" Someone asked. "Not yet," drawled Liston.

"Who will you fight next after Clay?" asked another. "I'd like to fight (Ingemar) Johansson if he'll come out of retirement. I hear he has tax problems, though."

Another questioner yelled. "Who was the toughest man you ever fought?"

"Cleveland Williams was one of the best," said Liston. He said he ranks Williams as a contender after Clay.

"I'd like to fight (Zora) Foley again. Either he knocks you out or your knock him out. Either way, you go home early."

Liston started skipping rope to a tune called "Night Train." His big body went doggedly about the business, but his feet were sores.

Throws Medicine Ball More applause, and Liston allowed his trainer, Willie Reddish, to throw a 10-pound medicine ball against his abdomen.

Reddish weighs about 240 pounds. A man in the audience called, "Don't you think Clay is as good as he's shown?"

"Against you, maybe, but not against me," said Liston. "Is your knee giving you any trouble?"

"If it does, I'll leave it at home and fight Clay anyway."

Liston explained why he's won only 35 of 36 fights. He lost a decision to Marty Marshall in 1954 after Marshall broke Sonny's jaw.

"When I lost to Marshall, it wasn't my fault. It was my manager's. It was like you getting in a jet plane with me as the pilot—you're in for a bad time."

Appleton JV '5' Concludes First Round at North

FOX VALLEY JV CONFERENCE

South 4 0 North 2 4

Manitowoc 6 0 Oshkosh 2 4

Appleton 1 5 2 3 East 0 6

Tonight's Games: Appleton at North, South at Manitowoc, West at Oshkosh, Fond du Lac at East.

The Appleton High School junior varsity basketball team concludes its first round of 1963-4 Fox Valley JV conference play tonight with a game at Sheboygan North.

The defending champion Junior Terrors, currently in third place with a 4-2 record, have lost two league games—an overtime decision to South and a last-second verdict to Manitowoc.

Those results helped shape the conference race because both South and Manty are unbeaten. The status of one will change tonight when they clash for the undisputed lead on the Ships' floor.

Wayne Kilsdonk Hits 604 Trio

KIMBERLY — Wayne Kilsdonk powered a 231 singleton and a 604 trio to top the American Business League at Jerry's Lanes.

Skier Says U. S. Could Take All Gold Medals

Jean Saubert Claims Olympic Squad Will Be Strongest Fielded

MADONNA DI CAMPIGLIO, Italy (AP)—Jean Saubert, the top U.S. hope for a Winter Olympic gold medal, says the American ski team is strong enough to win all six gold medals at stake.

"The American team probably never has been as strong as it is now," the 21-year-old Lakeview, Ore., skier said Wednesday night. "I'm not saying that we will win without fail. I'm just saying we are strong enough to win."

If the U.S. Alpine skiers were to accomplish such a feat, it would far exceed the performance of any previous American ski team. American men never have won a gold medal in the three events—the slalom, the giant slalom and the downhill. U.S. women have won three.

Gretchen Fraser won the slalom in 1948, and Andrea Mead Lawrence scored a double in 1952 in the slalom and the giant slalom.

Completes Training

The present U.S. team completed its training in this north Italian winter resort Wednesday. It planned to leave today for Innsbruck, site of the Winter Games.

Miss Saubert, fully recovered from a siege of flu, says she is in the best possible shape. She was confident about her chances, saying: "If I'm skiing my best, I should be able to win."

U.S. Coach Bob Beattie believes the attractive brunette who stands 5-feet-6 and weighs 147 pounds is the best athlete he has.

The Oregon State University student missed a full semester of her teaching studies for the Olympics. She said that even if she wins a gold medal at Innsbruck, she will have to return home at once to make up the missed school work.

"I like skiing very much," she explained, "but I don't know if I'll be able to race again after the Olympic Games. It will depend on many things."

Hawks, the Zephyrs, fell by an unexpectedly heavy margin (83-36) at Menasha.

Second in FVCC "Skip" Biesenstein, the league's No. 2 scorer who was held to 14 points by Xavier in December, will get another crack at the Hawks' dynamic pressing and/or zone defenders. His over-all league average is 20.2. Only Marinette's Jan Roland—with 20.9—is scoring at a faster clip.

Starting along with Biesenstein for the Zephyrs will be Bob Vissers, Ken Jahnke, Mike Staniak and Kim Vanderhyden. The Zephyrs will be confronted by the explosive Hawk attack which features four double-figure scorers. Bob DeBruin leads with an average of 18.4 points per league engagement.

Then come Tom Rankin, Rocky Bleier and Tim Garvey with 12.4, 11.5 and 10.5, respectively. Bill Timmers, the fifth starter, is hitting at a 7.9 rate.

St. John's hopes for a potential first-division finish will be in the balance in Marinette, where the Cavaliers are tough to beat. In their first meeting, at Little Chute, Marinette scored a 69-51 win on the strength of a blistering first half. The Chuters outscored Marinette, 30-26, in the second half.

Sam Komp led Marinette with 29 points, while Bruce Hammen tallied 22 for St. John. Hammen's over-all FVCC average—19.2—is third best in the league. Dave Van Vrede and Dennis Diedrick are also double-figure men, with 12.2 and 10.7, respectively, for St. John.

FVCC scoring leaders:

Roland, Marinette 25.38; Biesenstein, St. M. 24.64; Hammen, St. John 23.60; DeBruin, Xavier 22.16; Wendells, Springs 22.16; Wendells, Pennings 22.16; Komp, Marinette 22.16; Murphy, Lourdes 22.16; Franken, Pennings 22.16; Schumert, Lourdes 22.16; Suda, Lourdes 22.16; Rankin, Xavier 22.16; Callahan, Springs 22.16; VanVrede, St. John 22.16; DuPont, Frem. 22.16.

Lawrence Says Poverty, Like Prosperity Has Varied Degrees

Many Families Now Teeter on Brink Of Destitution

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The word "poverty" has been in the headlines a great deal recently. President John F. Kennedy has stressed plans for relieving poverty. But apparently an acceptable definition of just what the word means has not emerged.

There are, of course, various degrees of poverty, just as there are various kinds of prosperity. This correspondent has come in possession of a rather remarkable letter which discusses poverty. It was written a few days ago by a woman who lives in a small town in the middle west. She is the mother of 11 children and her husband earns a modest income. She poses an interesting question which indicates the wide area of human relationship which is sometimes covered under the heading of "poverty." Excerpts from the letter are as follows:

"Poverty, wherever it exists, is very real; and, except where it is self-induced, it is very wrong. Under proper investigation, many cases will be found where rehabilitation and temporary outright handouts could prove to be the wisest course of action, even by the federal government."

"I don't like the present drift toward the welfare state, but I don't like implications that poverty is a 'political hallucination.'"

"I am aware, through personal observation, that many cases of poverty are self-induced and deliberately propagated. I am also aware that many other cases are the result of misfortune or illness. There are those who not only have no 'bootstraps' but don't have the ability to pull themselves up by the same. Some means of aiding this group should be found — preferably outside the government."

"It would be quite humane at least to provide people with the opportunity for self-help."

Jim Peerenboom scored 27 points for the league leaders. Tom Hurley and Jim Dryszak scored 18 each for the losers. AVS trailed the newsmen, 45-42 at halftime but posted a 42-24 edge in the second half.

City Hall remained two games behind AVS by downing Elm Tree, 82-56. Harry Nelson and Tom Lonigro each scored 21 points for City Hall, while Harke hit 28 for Elm Tree.

IPC took over sole possession of third place by edging Appleton Coated, 92-53. Knaack led the balanced attack with 16 points. Klug tallied 18 for the Coated team.

Valley Iron whipped the Police team, 82-39. Bergman poured in 28 points to pace the win. Phil Condu led the losers with 18.

In many communities, private charitable organizations, with a staff of case-workers, have assumed the responsibility of looking out for families afflicted by misfortune. Unquestionably, community responsibility is difficult to assert effectively in some instances, especially in areas where the population is large and the means of communication are unsatisfactory. All too frequently, a long time elapses before the plight of a poverty-stricken family becomes known even to neighbors.

ground of what kind of reader takes this kind of attitude, I am informing you of the following:

"(A) I have 11 children — four sets of twins.

"(B) Our income has been as low as $5,000 a year and sometimes up to $7,000. Because of deductions, we have not had to pay federal income tax for 15 years.

"(C) We almost entirely own our very modest four-bedroom home.

"(D) We own two cars—well, they do sort of run. We have modern household appliances, adequate clothing, four bicycles, many books, a bed for everyone (complete with bedding), stereo-radio-phonograph (our only debt, besides the house and a couple of patient doctors).

"(E) Our diet is simple but adequate and well balanced — usually. Occasionally we receive surplus food—due to seasonal employment.

"(F) My husband is a nominal Democrat. I am a nominal nothing with strong leanings toward the Republican party.

"(G) We are both disturbed by the Labor Press. They do the country a grave injustice by deliberately fostering a hostile attitude towards business. Their criticisms are always inaccurate and highly misleading. We can't imagine where our family might be if business were not permitted to make money.

"(H) We are disgusted with our lower-middle-class friends and neighbors who complain loud and long about the 'high cost of living' while relaxed in a lovely living room, after a lovely meal, planning to polish out of their lovely cars. What they really resent is the high cost of living high.

"(I) We paid out about $1000 in medical expense in 1963. My husband was hospitalized for three months. I was hospitalized four times for two weeks each. Only very sound management kept us from going into debt. Temporary county aid helped some, but had we continued for any length of time we would have become truly poverty-stricken with long-range ill effects, particularly on the children. To whom could we have turned?"

The foregoing letter illustrates the problems that confront some citizens of the country, who would be at a loss to know where to go for help in an emergency. The tendency nowadays is to turn to the government, either federal, state or local. There are a number of notable relief projects carried on by governments, but there are persons who do not like to "go on re-

Fight Planned For Atom Accelerator

Oppose Administration Intent To Quash $150 Million AEC Plant Near State University

BY RICHARD P. POWERS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Wisconsin members of Congress, unhappy with a decision of the Johnson administration to quash a proposed $150 million high intensity atomic accelerator for Wisconsin, plan to fight back.

They intend to press for a reversal of the decision by the Atomic Energy Commission and President Johnson. They derived a bit of encouragement from a statement by the AEC that the Midwest will have a chance to land a high energy accelerator in the future.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., said the late President John F. Kennedy had approved $5 million to initiate construction of the high intensity atom smasher proposed by Midwestern Universities Research Association (MURA) for establishment near the University of Wisconsin.

Sen. William Proxmire, (D-Wis.), and Rep. Robert Kastner, D-Wis., said in a joint statement they would not accept the decision to deny funds for the MURA project for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Personal Urgings
Proxmire and Kastner said they personally will urge each of the members of the Senate and House Appropriations Committees to include funds for the reactor.

"Of course," they said, "this will be a very tough, up-hill, odds-against fight; but as long as there is the slightest possibility of securing Congressional action, we will fight for it."

The AEC said a decision had been reached not to construct the MURA plant but to "reorient" the work of MURA researchers toward new studies on the design of an accelerator having an energy up to 1,000 billion electron volts.

This high energy accelerator had been planned for construction on Long Island, N.Y., but the AEC said a final decision on the site has not been reached. The AEC said the Midwest will be given full consideration when a site decision is made.

"The only thing I can do is express my tremendous regret over the rejection of the MURA accelerator proposal, and to hold onto some slim ray of hope which the administration offers in a completely new proposal," Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said.

Termed Mistake
"The MURA accelerator, 10 years in creation, was abruptly dumped by the AEC and the President's science adviser. This was a tragic mistake in the judgment in the highest councils of our national government."

Laird said an effort is being made to pass MURA and build up the Argonne National Laboratory near Chicago. He said the administration will seek more research facilities at Argonne for work on neutrons.

Laird said he supports efforts by Appleton to cut expenditures.

Reynolds and Nelson Clash Is Reopened

Are on Opposite Sides in Attempt To Fill Posts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two of Wisconsin's leading Democrats whose longtime differences broke into the open again last Sunday talked for more than an hour Thursday but reportedly reached no agreements.

"Just a social visit," said Gov. John W. Reynolds as he left the office of Sen. Gaylord Nelson, who answered questions with a cryptic "no comment."

Far Apart
However, reports after the conference which was suggested by Reynolds said they remained as far apart as possible.

The clash between Reynolds and Nelson redeveloped last Sunday at a meeting of the Wisconsin Democratic party's administrative committee in Madison.

They were aligned on opposite sides in the balloting to fill three important party posts, including the office of Democratic National committeeman. The office went to Reynolds' choice, former state party chairman Patrick J. Lucey of Madison.

Other Selections
Also selected were a party treasurer and an at-large member of the administrative committee. Both posts went to men backed by Reynolds and Lucey. Democratic State Chairman J. Louis Hanson of Mellen, a Nelson supporter who was in the senator's office Thursday, said he did not see how a clash between Nelson and Lucey could be avoided at the party's state convention in Milwaukee June 19-20.

The convention will select a national committeeman for a new four-year term.

Weed Used in Cigarette War Gains in Price

BY ROGER LANE

NEW YORK (AP) — A weed that grows wild in the Great Smokies is worth a fancy price because so many people are trying to quit smoking.

An alkaloid derived from the weed would bring $70 an ounce if there was any to be had. It's lobeline sulphate, main ingredient in most stop-smoking drugs. Ordinarily, it sells for about $40 an ounce. The herb it comes from, Lobelia inflata which re-seeds itself annually, won't be gathered again until late summer.

Makers of tablets, lozenges, pastilles and special chewing gums to substitute for the cigarette habit say business is booming.

Two eastern drug chains confirm difficulty in keeping up with retail demand since the government report of Jan. 4 linking heavy cigarette smoking with cancer.

State School Districts Called Far From Equal

Official Says Smaller District Must Be Abolished Before Goal Is Reached

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wisconsin schools of equal quality still are a long way off, according to the state superintendent of schools, who says small, inadequate districts must be abolished before the goal is reached.

Dr. Angus Rothwell told a general session of the Wisconsin Association of School Boards Thursday that Wisconsin still has 114 rural one-room schools. Most of them he said, operate with old textbooks, poorly trained teachers and inadequate equipment.

Schools Not Equal
"Certainly we have not lived up to the obligation which the Constitution puts before us to have all the schools as nearly equal as possible," Rothwell said.

Gale L. Wanless of Viroqua was elected president of the Wisconsin Association of County Superintendents, who held their meeting in conjunction with the school board session.

Succeeds Lee
Wanless will take office July 1, succeeding Clayton L. Lee of Marinette.

Other officials selected are Arthur Prochnow of Medford, vice president, and Matt Kneale of Wisconsin Rapids, secretary-treasurer.

Ted G. Holthusen of Stevens Point was honored Thursday night as School Board Member of the Year. He was a member of the Stevens Point Board of Education for more than 10 years, including nine years as president.

In 30 States, Including Wisconsin

Efforts Underway to Correct Federal Milk Marketing Orders

BY OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department moved today to plug holes in 76 federal milk marketing orders.

The orders — which regulate sale of fluid milk in a portion of 30 states and the District of Columbia — are designed to give producers prices which would assure consumers an adequate supply of good quality bottling milk.

Wisconsin is one of the states involved.

Under the milk orders, the department sets minimum prices which handlers and distributors operating in the regulated areas must pay for milk. No such price minimums were set for milk produced outside the regulated areas which, for the most part, cover areas of high concentration of consumers.

Lower Prices
But prices on the outside milk were lower. Such milk was attracted into the better paying markets to the disadvantage of dairymen operating there.

Under the plan ruled illegal in 1962 by the U.S. Supreme Court, the payments collected on the unregulated milk were distributed among dairymen in the affected regulated areas to help compensate them for markets lost to the lower priced and unregulated milk.

The department proposed these measures for doing the work which had been assigned the compensatory payments:

Milk Distribution

1. A distributor of milk obtained from unregulated areas could sell his product in a regulated market without hindrance of any kind if the price he paid the producer was equivalent to that a distributor was required to pay dairymen in the regulated area.

2. A distributor would be free

Dodge's Will Meets With Complications

DETROIT (AP) — The legal tangle surrounding the estimated $2 million estate of the late auto heir Horace E. Dodge Jr. was complicated Thursday with the filing of nine Dodge wills. And an attorney estimated there may be as many as 10 more wills "floating around somewhere."

The filing in Probate Court brought the total number of wills to 10, but Milton J. Miller, representing Gregg Sherwood Dodge, Dodge's widow and formerly of Beloit, Wis., said he will rely on a 1958 will as being the only valid one he has seen.

The 1958 will, drawn up in Beverly Hills, Calif., and filed Thursday, leaves all the estate after debts are paid "to my beloved wife Dora." Gregg Sherwood was born Dora Fjelstad.

Schoolboard Allows Lectures on Smoking

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — As the Board of Education voted unanimously Wednesday night to allow physicians to speak at schools on the health hazards of smoking, one member was smoking a cigarette and three were puffing cigars.

to sell bottling milk from unregulated sources to customers in a regulated market if he purchased an equivalent amount of milk produced within the regulated area at that area's minimum prices.

3. A distributor could sell milk from unregulated sources in a regulated market if he paid in a pool the amount of the difference between the regulated area's minimum price for fluid milk for bottling distribution—the top-priced class of milk—and the lower blend price for all uses of milk in that area.

15 Day Notice

Interested persons were given 15 days within which to submit written views on these proposals. Later the proposals will be submitted—along with possible changes growing out of the submitted views—the referendum of producers in the 76 market order areas. In most cases, approval by at least two-thirds of those voting would be required.

Besides Wisconsin, Midwestern states affected include Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, North Dakota, Nebraska, South Dakota and Minnesota.

Nixon Says He Will Accept a GOP Draft

Thinks Goldwater Has Support Of Professional Politicians

BY RAY KOHN

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon says he would accept a draft for the presidential nomination if a deadlock developed at the Republican National Convention.

In a television interview Thursday night on the Columbia Broadcasting System network, the former vice president said he considered it a great privilege to have served the public. "If the opportunity should come again, I would accept it," he said.

Notes Leadership
Nixon, noting that he is leading in public opinion polls, said: "I don't think that's surprising."

Regional Meeting Important to Lakes Fishing

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich. (AP)—A Wisconsin representative at a three-state economic recovery conference said the meeting offered a chance for regional cooperation in areas such as revitalizing the Lake Superior fishing industry.

The two-day conference, which began Wednesday, was a followup to the Tri-State Land and People Conference held in Duluth, Minn., last September, with the late President John F. Kennedy the main speaker. It was attended by 35 representatives of government agencies and educational institutions in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota.

Arthur Doll of the Wisconsin Department of Resource Development said an area of possible cooperation in addition to Lake Superior commercial fishing was development of a vacation-land image.

He said the Menominee and Mississippi rivers may become known as just good places to fish instead of boundary lines separating the three states if goals set at the conference are reached.

After all, I received 34 million votes in 1960."

Nixon also said, however, he did not anticipate that the GOP would need him at this time, and he reiterated that he does not want to be a candidate.

But, bringing up the subject of a possible draft, he said "a man always must try to distinguish between the voice of the people and the echo of his own voice."

"I don't intend to go out and stimulate a draft," Nixon said, "so that when we get to San Francisco (for the GOP convention) as a result of my own initiative I respond to my own voice."

Nixon said he thinks Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is "still the leader among the professional politicians," with Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton second.

Nixon said that he feels that he does not have the support of professional politicians because he is not in the race and has no staff.

Scranton, Nixon said, "has the support of a lot of pros (and) the big eastern industrial complex."

Scranton's greatest need, Nixon continued, "is personal exposure." "I think that in his case if he entered a significant primary, went in and campaigned and beat the field, he'd be off and running."

Scranton has said he is not a candidate but would not turn down the nomination.

Glaeser Named See April Decision Prange Director On Regional Airport

Appleton Store's Manager Fills Post Of William Pifer

SHEBOYGAN — J. W. Glaeser, executive vice president and general manager of the H. C. Prange Co., Appleton, has been elected to the board of directors of the firm. Sheboygan Atty. Jacob F. Federer also was elected to the 10-member board to fill the second of two vacancies. Both were named to the posts at a stockholders' meeting here.

Glaeser, a Sheboygan native, is filling a vacancy created by the recent retirement of William Pifer, whom he also succeeded in his present post at the Appleton store. Pifer held the position for 17 years.

Glaeser began working for the Prange company as a stockboy in 1940. He left the Sheboygan store in 1960 after being named general merchandise manager at Appleton.

Federer succeeds his former law partner, George R. Currie, who resigned as a director after being named chief justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court earlier this month. Federer has been practicing law here since 1929.

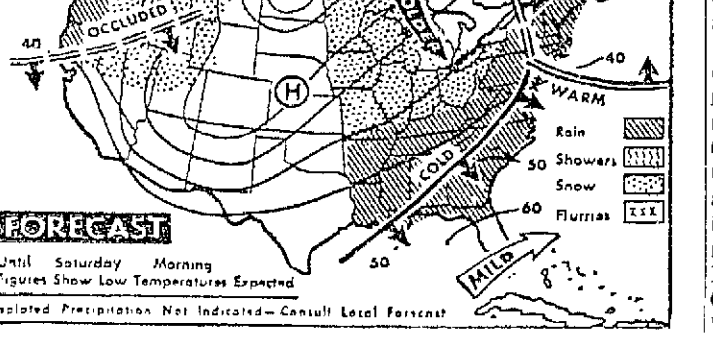

Youths' Driving Privileges Revoked For Traffic Violations

NEENAH — Three Neenah youths had their driving privileges suspended for 30 days for moving traffic violations in juvenile court activity Thursday.

Douglas A. Angell, 17, 234 Loraine Ave., Neenah was found guilty of speeding in the 600 block of Division Street at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Allen Nickle, 17, 818 Higgins Ave., was found guilty of driving too fast for conditions at 12:30 p.m. Jan. 11, in the 700 block of Higgins Avenue. He was involved in an accident which resulted in more than $100 damage to his and another vehicle.

Mark N. Reuss, 16, 1629 W. Eulte des Moris Road, was found guilty of speeding at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday in the 600 block of Laudan Boulevard.

Precipitation Will Extend from the plains eastward to the coast Friday night with snow forecast for the north and central Mississippi valley through the lakes to the north and central Appalachians. Rain elsewhere. Rain will fall along the Pacific coast as far south as northern California. There will be snow and snow flurries in the Rockies. It will be colder in the plains, the Mississippi valley and the Appalachians. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Mild Weather Has Robbed Skiers of Snow

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Wisconsin's mild January weather has robbed skiers of their snow in most of the state. But all they needed today was a little patience, because snow was returning, especially to northern areas.

Rain and freezing drizzle Thursday night and today did little to improve conditions in the southern two-thirds of Wisconsin.

After several days of almost balmy weather, the snow cover was gone from the areas around Milwaukee, Madison, Beloit, Lone Rock, La Crosse and Green Bay. Superior had 9 inches on the ground at 6 a.m. today and Park Falls had 6. Wausau's cover totaled 3 inches. The weatherman said rain ation or on the effect other airport locations might have on the Winnebago Airport.

The county board, Jordan said, must decide if it wants an evaluation at this time, if it wants to wait for the CAB decision or if it prefers further studies.

Awaiting Decision

Popp indicated everybody is waiting for the CAB decision while the CAB in turn is seeking guidance from community actions.

"A clear-cut decision of either county or of both counties would have a bearing on the decision. The CAB has asked us to advise it of the community's actions."

"If we had not voted to table it, we would have had that decision," Supv. Joseph Drexler, county board chairman, commented.

Jordan said the report by the engineering firm "covers a number of recommendations and you are considering implementing them. Involved is a case whether two points or one point of airline service is to be provided. The FAA has said until a decision is made in this case, they cannot provide federal aid for airport development."

"The governor has said the

Firemen Uninjured As Green Bay Chip Bin Blows Top

GREEN BAY—Firemen narrowly escaped injury Thursday when the top blew off a 100-foot chip bin elevator as they fought a blaze at the Northern Paper Mill here.

Firemen battled the blaze in the three and one-half carload bin more than nine hours.

The plant is a division of Marathon, a division of American Can Co. Damage was estimated at $10,000 to $15,000.

Orval Jens Named Center Supervisor

Orval Jens, 61, route 3, Appleton, has been appointed county supervisor from the Town of Center to fill the unexpired term of Harold Schmeichel, who died last Saturday.

Jens has served as town supervisor for seven years and replaced Schmeichel on the county board when Schmeichel was sick last spring. Jens also resigned as town supervisor to take the position of town chairman, a position formerly held by Schmeichel.

County Fair Association Elects Officers, Directors

OSHKOSH — Five officers and 17 directors for the Winnebago County Fair have been elected to serve during 1964.

Elections were held at the Fair's annual meeting here this week. Lewis C. Magnusen was elected president of the organization. Other officers elected were Hugh Gear, Menasha, vice president; Joseph Meyer of Oshkosh, treasurer; Don Lloyd of Oshkosh, second vice president; and Robert J. Misky of Oshkosh, secretary and general manager.

The 17 directors elected included, from Oshkosh, Fredrick Behlendorf, Louis C. Haltug, Louis Jensen, A. R. Maxwell, Gordon Raddatz, George R. y f, Carl E. Steiger, Herb Zwicky, and Phil Grundy; Ben Backin from Winneconne; Lloyd Han-neman and A. H. Moeser from Larsen; Archie Daggett of Omro; B. W. Keese and Arden Winkenwerder, both of Neenah; Taylor C. Brown of Menasha and Bob Hunter of Pickett.

and freezing rain in northern Wisconsin will change to light snow or snow flurries tonight and Saturday. Temperatures generally will be in the 20s during the weekend.

In Upper Michigan, heavy snow was falling this morning at Marquette where 9 inches already had covered the ground. Houghton reported 8 inches and continued snowfall.

same. As for improvements, this will have to wait until this case is decided. When we have that, we will be in a better position as to how to proceed. An evaluation of a report depends on the time it is made. If done now, it might be different than after the decision.

Not Simple

"Runway alignment involves technological matters and real estate matters. An evaluation is not a simple matter," Jordan stressed.

Vie added the "FAA's hands are fairly well tied now. We have to be rather cautious in comments because of the hearing and cannot make comments of any sort."

"We are rather conservative on most of these things," he said in reference to some of the survey comments. "We are opposed to the continual increase in aircraft size and airport requirements."

Seek Aircraft

Vie said the CAB is looking for an aircraft that can be accommodated on existing airports. He pointed to a Mohawk Airlines incident in which the airline said it was going to obtain some jets. The CAB said the airline then could take care of the added cost for the jets itself and not expect any increase in its subsidy. The CAB is trying to reduce the subsidy payments, such as the almost $10 million paid last year to North Central Airlines.

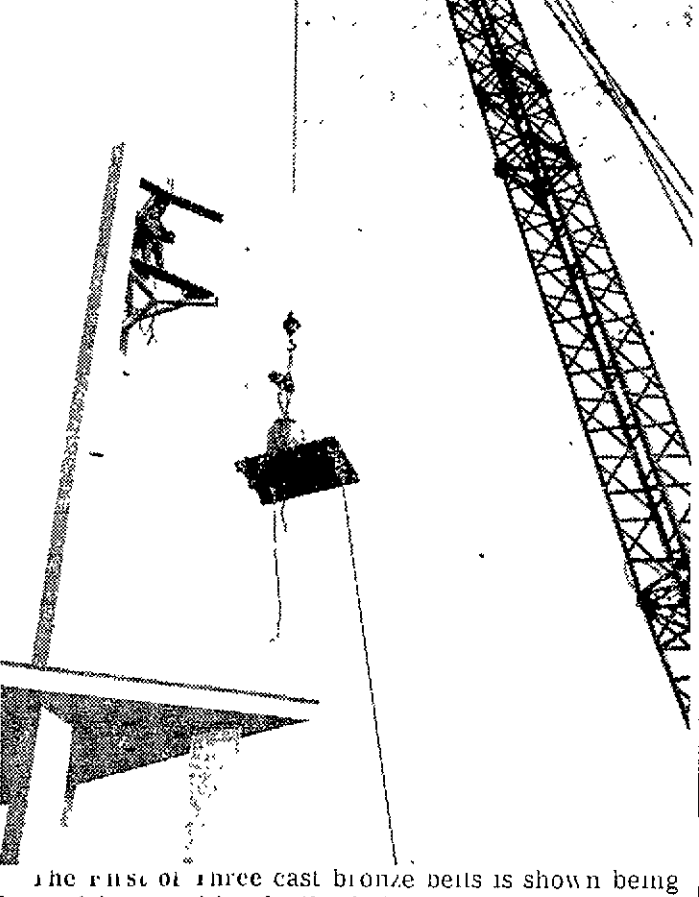

Jordan said the procedure to follow would be for the committee and county board to accept the engineering study report, then to formally ask the State Aeronautics Commission for an evaluation of the report. The state in turn formally requests an evaluation from the FAA.

Name MHS Debaters For District Meet

MENASHA — Menasha High School debaters taking part in the Oshkosh district debate tournament at Neenah High School Saturday, are John Herziger and Pal Conway, affirmative, and Nathan Page and Tom Gooding, negative.

Places on the "A" squad, coached by Richard Badger, were determined after five practice debates this season and competing in the conference debates. All four are sophomores and in their second year of debating.

Ken Malson and Ralph Swoboda are alternates.

Oil Firm Shares Blame

Jury Says It Was 30 Pct. Negligent In Rural Home Blast

The Sinclair Oil Refining Co. was found partially responsible for a 1959 explosion at a Town of Oneida farmhome by a Circuit Court jury Wednesday.

The refining company will pay 30 per cent of $33,000 damages awarded Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson. An agent for the refining firm, Norbert Bougie, West Pere, was found 70 per cent negligent in the explosion.

Bougie delivered 100 gallons of gasoline into the fuel oil tank of the Peterson home on Dec. 9, 1959. When he discovered his mistake, he attempted to empty the tank, but an explosion resulted before he was completed.

Both Bougie and Peterson were injured and the house and furniture destroyed.

The Circuit Court jury ruled the refining company was negligent in that it did not give satisfactory instructions to its agents in the delivery of the fuel and gasoline.

The jury ruled the refining company was not negligent in not distributing fuel oil outlets and gasoline outlets on the agent's truck.

Money in Shoe Boxes Find Nearly $250,000 In Shawano Home

SHAWANO —Nearly $250,000 in cash, securities and uncashed checks has been taken from the cluttered home of a rural Shawano man.

Shawano County authorities have ordered a mental examination of Henry Krohn, 72, who was taken to the Shawano hospital Wednesday afternoon after residents in the area found him wandering around the neighborhood.

The money was found by Undersheriff Fred Lemhouse who had received permission to lock the home after Krohn was taken to the hospital.

Found was $9,750 in cash strewn about the downstairs floor, and $31,381 in cash in a shoe box upstairs. A total of $203,000 in "fine stock" was found in boxes throughout the house. The total was based on the Thursday stock market quotations.

Other stocks still are being checked by E. L. Aschenbrenner, public administrator. The cash and securities have been taken to the Shawano National Bank.

Shawano County Judge C. B. Dilleit has ordered the home locked and a security guard around the rundown building until it has been checked for more money and stocks.

Krohn, a retired railroad worker, was taken into custody Wednesday morning near his Town of Waukechon home just south of Shawano City limits after neighbors saw him fall as he wandered around.

"Mean Dog"

When Lemhouse took the elderly man back to the house, he found a "mean" dog inside. He put the dog on a leash and took it to the dog pound before taking Krohn to the hospital.

In a cluttered upstairs room they found an old cupboard which had a shoe box containing $31,381 in cash, mostly in 100, 50 and 20 dollar bills. Stocks were from nearly 50 companies. Also found were a number of boxes, "mostly of junk," which included some Imperial Japanese bonds.

Krohn was employed by the Chicago and North Western Railway until retiring seven years ago.

Pre-Measuring Set for 1964 Grain Program

Acreage Can be Determined Before Planting Season

An expanded pre-measurement service for Fox Valley area farmers has been announced along with the 1964 feed grain program.

The service is intended to establish precise acreage before planting, Joseph Rickert, Outagamie County Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization Service (ASCS) office manager, explained. Farmers participating in the 1964 feed grain program can elect to use the pre-measurement program or proceed without it.

Precise measurements are taken later in the growing season for those who do not use pre-measurement. The "rough estimates" of acreage may result in financial losses to the farmer, either in the form of crops which must be destroyed as a result of over-planting or from sales and government support payment losses on underestimated acreage, Rickert said.

Leads to Saving

If the pre-measurement is used, the farmer is guaranteed to be able to plant up to the marking stakes. "If mistakes are made, we (the ASCS) must make good," he said.

He estimates that farmers enrolled in the 1963 program could have saved an average of $100 had their diverted acreage been pre-measured, Rickert said.

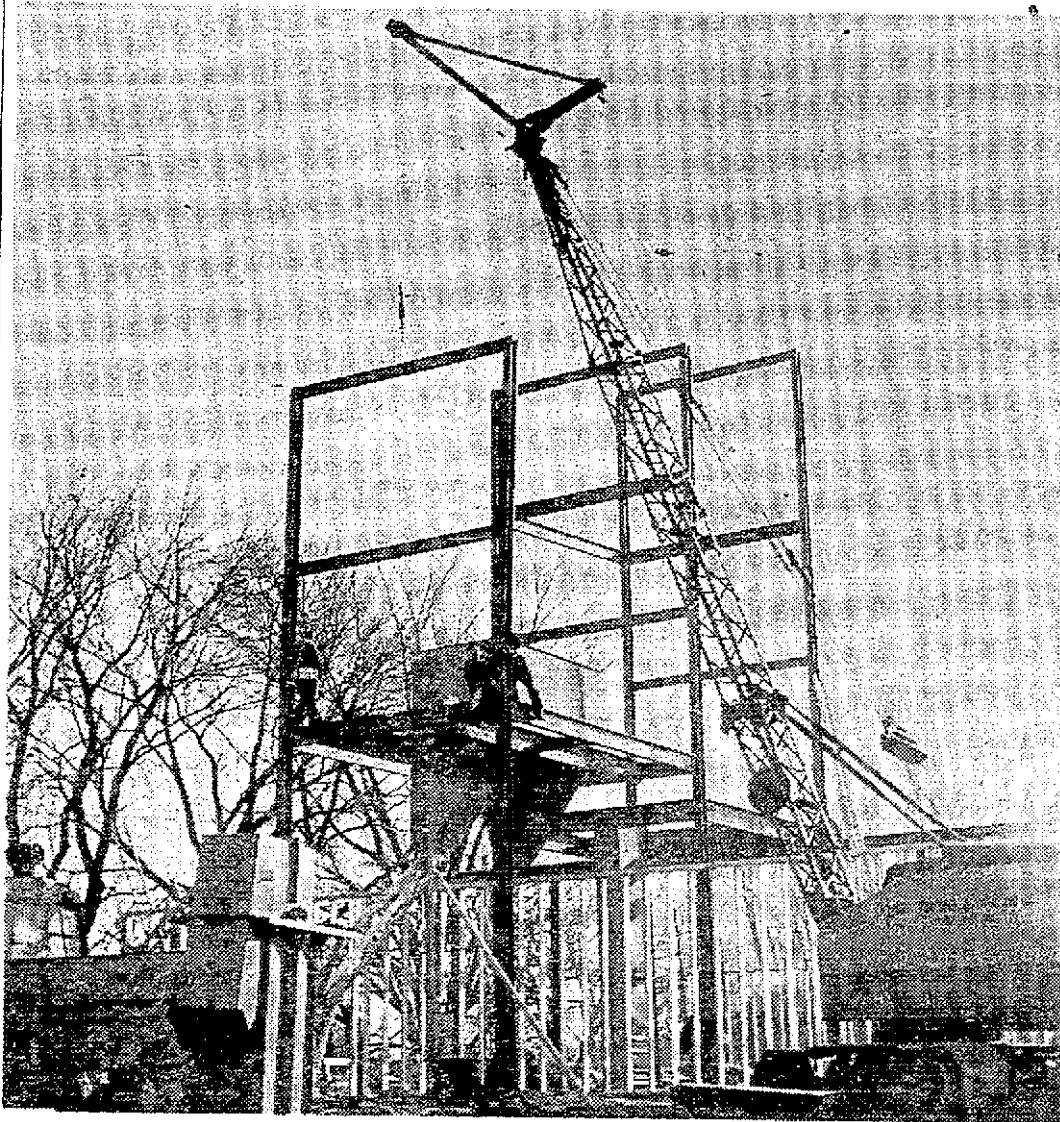

A few farmers used the system last year but then the measuring started late, Rickert said. A new type of stake has been developed to be driven in frozen ground which will enable crews to get out on the land shortly after Feb. 10 when the '64 feed grain applications will be first accepted at ASCS offices, Rickert said.

Costs of the service will be announced soon. Last year it cost the farmer a minimum $8 fee or 20 cents an acre.

Plant Food Firm Building New $35,000 Bulk Plant at Seymour

SEYMOUR — A $35,000 bulk fertilizer plant and bagging operation is expected to begin operation here in early February. It is being built by the U.S. Plant Foods, Inc.

Carlton Larscheid, Preble, corporation president and manager, said the firm will have its office and plant here. A warehouse in Green Bay will continue in operation under Larscheid's name and serve Eastern Wisconsin customers. The warehouse will carry the new Seymour firm's products.

The plant site is along Depot Street adjacent to the Green Bay and Western Railroad tracks. An existing railroad siding has been extended to the building site.

The 72 by 72-foot building will include a 50-foot mixing tower. It will be designed to accommodate future expansion. The firm will employ five persons. Its products will be sold by 20 area farmer-salesmen covering a 10-county area of Northeastern Wisconsin.

Handling design and construction is Fertilizer Engineering and Construction Co., Green Bay. Katers Construction Co. was the successful bidder on the projects excavation and foundation work.

The firm will become the largest user of rail service in the community. A quota of 4,000 tons of plant food has been set for the first year. Hopper cars carry 50-ton loads. The plant's capacity is 8,000 tons although it has space for only 1,000 tons of plant food at one time.

Prepared plant food mixtures will be either bagged or dumped into spreader vehicles for direct delivery to the farm. These spreader vehicles, with a 4-ton capacity, will be available in addition to a bulk truck. The truck can carry a load of two to three times that of the spreader. Spreaders can be attached to any truck with a trailer hitch. They can be used separately or with the truck.

Orders will be trucked to farmers' but those in the area will be asked to pick up their supplies at the plant. Other orders will be sent out through regular commercial trucking

No Real Formula On Holstein Size, Dairymen Are Told

Weight Has Little Relationship To Production, Professor Says

GREENVILLE — How big should a Holstein be?

If any dairyman came to the Outagamie County Holstein Breeders Association annual meeting here Thursday expecting Professor W. J. Tyler to outline a precise formula establishing the ideal size of a Holstein dairy cow, he left disappointed.

The University of Wisconsin dairy science department professor told the dairymen that in the end the decision on animal size would be "up to you." He said there was only a minimal relationship between animal size and production. Age is far more important than size, Tyler said, and suggested there was a closer relationship between age and size.

Holsteins, like any other dairy cow, tend to gain weight as they approach maturity and also increase their production. From this point may stem the belief that big cows outproduce their smaller "sisters." However, a test made in the UW herd shows among cows in the same age group, the larger animals have no distinct production edge and, in fact, wound up with lower production marks than their average size counterparts, Tyler explained.

Average Size

If there is an average size, it would be near the 1,500-pound mark. Younger animals may weigh about 1,000 pounds and some of the older herd members in an average herd would be 1,800 pounds or more.

Tyler said 2,000-pound animals are rare, and the biggest he knew of is one 2,400 pounds in Connecticut. When the breed was first introduced in this country in the 1870s, the average size was about 1,000 pounds.

Dairymen who prefer the larger types should make certain that the big ones produce extra milk to offset the additional feed maintenance and replacement costs the type requires if the farmer wants to come out ahead on the deal.

Four factors to consider regarding milk cow size, Tyler said, are:

—Weight itself is not a reliable indication of production.

—With the small association between size and production, select for milk and not for carcass size.

—Be assured that larger cows give at least 250 pounds more milk per lactation for each 100 pounds of additional carcass weight.

—"It's up to you." If a herd tends to be generally small, introduction of some larger cows may be desirable if existing barn facilities permit.

Appearing on the program with Tyler was Roger Natzke, UW graduate student working on a protein testing program. Natzke outlined the project's objectives and cited some of its problems.

Norman Rasmussen, state Holstein secretary - treasurer, urged membership recruitment and vitalizing the importance of registered purebred animals.

Waupaca 4-H Sets Workshop Series

WAUPACA — A series of workshops on three projects is scheduled for Waupaca County 4-H Club members, according to Philip Jeske, county 4-H agent.

A drama training event is scheduled at 10 a.m. Feb. 6 at Manawa city hall. Directing will be Lindley Spencer, University of Wisconsin. It is open for junior and adult leaders and drama leaders in both Shawano and Waupaca counties.

The first in a series of five tractor meetings is planned for Jan. 28 at Waupaca County Motors, Manawa.

A woodworking training meeting for adult leaders is scheduled Feb. 4 at Manawa city hall. Glenn Barquest, assistant professor of agriculture engineering will be at the meeting.

Pikarama Staff To be Cited

CHILTON — Club members, leaders and committeemen who worked on the recent 4-H pikarama will be honored at a special dinner Jan. 29.

Paul Schultz, University of Wisconsin fish management specialist, will be speaker at Heller's Hall, Brant.

Schultz will speak on walleye planting and growth, and about farm pond fish maintenance.

Mild Weather Has Robbed Skiers of Snow

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Wisconsin's mild January weather has robbed skiers of their snow in most of the state. But all they needed today was a little patience, because snow was returning, especially to northern areas.

Rain and freezing drizzle Thursday night and today did little to improve conditions in the southern two-thirds of Wisconsin.

After several days of almost balmy weather, the snow cover was gone from the areas around Milwaukee, Madison, Beloit, Lone Rock, La Crosse and Green Bay. Superior had 9 inches on the ground at 6 a.m. today and Park Falls had 6. Wausau's cover totaled 3 inches.

The county board, Jordan said, must decide if it wants an evaluation at this time, if it wants to wait for the CAB decision or if it prefers further studies.

Awaiting Decision

Popp indicated everybody is waiting for the CAB decision while the CAB in turn is seeking guidance from community actions.

"A clear-cut decision of either county or of both counties would have a bearing on the decision. The CAB has asked us to advise it of the community's actions."

"If we had not voted to table it, we would have had that decision," Supv. Joseph Drexler, county board chairman, commented.

Jordan said the report by the engineering firm "covers a number of recommendations and you are considering implementing them. Involved is a case where two points or one point of airline service is to be provided. The FAA has said until a decision is made in this case, they cannot provide federal aid for airport development."

Orval Jens, 61, route 3, Appleton, has been appointed county supervisor from the Town of Center to fill the unexpired term of Harold Schmeichel, who died last Saturday.

same. As for improvements, this will have to wait until this case is decided. When we have that, we will be in a better position as to how to proceed. An evaluation of a report depends on the time it is made. If done now, it might be different than after the decision.

Not Simple

"Runway alignment involves technological matters and real estate matters. An evaluation is not a simple matter," Jordan stressed.

Vie added the "FAA's hands are fairly well tied now. We have to be rather cautious in comments because of the hearing and cannot make comments of any sort."

"We are rather conservative on most of these things," he said in reference to some of the survey comments. "We are opposed to the continual increase in aircraft size and airport requirements."

Seek Aircraft

Vie said the CAB is looking for an aircraft that can be accommodated on existing airports. He pointed to a Mohawk Airlines incident in which the airline said it was going to obtain some jets. The CAB said the airline then could take care of the added cost for the jets itself and not expect any increase in its subsidy. The CAB is trying to reduce the subsidy payments, such as the almost $10 million paid last year to North Central Airlines.

Jordan said the procedure to follow would be for the committee and county board to accept the engineering study report then to formally ask the State Aeronautics Commission for an evaluation of the report. The state in turn formally requests an evaluation from the FAA.

160,800 Pounds of Milk Produced by Hilbert Holstein Cow

HILBERT — A registered Holstein on Kaytee Farm No. 2 was one of 11 in the state to join the select circle of dairy animals to top the 150,000-pound career milk production mark.

The animal, according to the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, is Kaytee Pontiac Bonny. She produced 160,800 pounds of milk and 5,706 pounds of butterfat or an average of 41 pounds of milk for every day since she reached two years of age. This includes days dry.

Feed Grain Program to Offer Higher Payments

Signup for '64 Measure Begins Feb. 10,
Ends March 27 at County ASCS Offices

The 1964 feed grain program offers payment rates substantially higher than in 1963.

Signup period begins Feb. 10 and ends March 27. Joseph Rickert, Outagamie County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office manager, has announced. The ASCS administers the feed grain program.

It applies this year to corn, grain sorghum and barley. Fox Valley area farmers are mainly concerned with corn and barley.

The three crops are combined into a single base computed from acreage on farms with a 1959-60 feed grain history.

The maximum limit has been upped from 40 per cent last year to 50 per cent. The diversion minimum is 20 per cent of the feed grain base.

Qualify for Payments

For farmers with a small feed grain base the percentage of acreage eligible for payments could exceed 50 per cent. Bringing this about is a 25 acre diversion alternate. Consequently a farmer with a 25-acre base could divert 100 per cent of the land and qualify for acreage payments. However, payments will not be made on more acres than are in the base. This would apply only to farmers with a base of less than 25 acres.

Farmers diverting 40 per cent or more their base will be in line for the substantially increased acreage payments. Under the 1963 program there were "low" and "high" support rates. The first 20 per cent of diverted acreage came in line for the low rates and any acreage over and above the first 20 per cent qualified for the top rates. This year the top applies to the entire acreage for those diverting 40 per cent or more.

4-Year Average

A new provision of the rule for determining average yields for figuring payments requires that the county and farm yields for the 1964 program be based on a 4-year average—1959 through 1962. A two-year average, 1959 and 1960, was used in previous feed grain programs.

The Hollandtown 4-H Club is planning a roller skating party Jan. 30. Tickets are being distributed by members.

Reorganized Darboy Clubs Elect Officers, Set Program

DARBOY — The three Darboy Ever Alert 4-H Clubs set their annual programs and elected officers at recent organizational meetings.

Originally one large club consisting of 81 members, it was divided into three separate units in November.

The Darboy East Club met in Holy Angels School hall. Officers elected for the coming year include Margaret Jochman, president; John Marx, vice president; Jim Marx, secretary; Kenneth Mader, treasurer, and Donald Zuleger, reporter. Miss Joyce Meulemans is the group's new recreational activity leader.

Members discussed events for the coming year and reviewed record book material. Miss Kathleen Hopfensperger is leader of the group.

Members of Darboy Central Club met at the home of Mrs. Robert Hooyman, group leader. Officers elected are Joe Hank, president; Michael Hopfensperger, vice president; Ellen Hopfensperger, secretary; Margaret Gosz, treasurer, and Ann Sprangers, sergeant-at-arms.

Bob Wittmann, leader of Darboy West Club, was host of his club's meeting. A new project leader, Lawrence Kiel, was introduced. His project will be photography. Officers of the club are Roland Probst, president; Nancy Hoffman, vice president; Lynn Dietzen, secretary; Carol Emons, treasurer; and Mary Schmalz, reporter.

Grain Loan Deadline Near

The deadline for Fox Valley area farmers to place grains under price support loans is Jan. 31, county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) committee chairmen have announced.

They issued the reminder so all applications would be in early to avoid last minute delays. Farmers can expect the necessary inspection of storage buildings and sample taking for grade and moisture to take several days.

Grains which come under the program are wheat, oats, barley, rye, soybeans and flaxseed produced in 1963.

Contest Date Set

CHILTON — The county 4-H speaking contest is set Jan 30 at Hilbert High School.

Members will compete in their own age group on some phase of 4-H training.

There will be three classes. Ten and 11 year olds will speak from two to three minutes. Twelve and 13 year olds will speak from three to five minutes and 14 and older will speak from four to eight minutes.

Those 15 and older will be competing for a spot in the district contest March 12. The district winner will be invited to the state 4-H convention in June.

State winners will receive a wristwatch or a silverware set and a chance to compete for two $400 scholarships offered to national winners.

Committee Office Managers and county committees of the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service from a 21-county area held a two-day conference at the Hotel Marson, Clintonville. Provisions of the 1964 feed-grain program and the offering of pre-measurement service to farmers who plan to participate in it were discussed. Standing from the left, are Kimball Romberg, New London, a member of the Waupaca County ASC committee; Robert Neely, Bear Creek, vice chairman of the Waupaca County ASC committee; Martin Thorson, Iola, chairman of the Waupaca County ASC committee; and Weldon Huss, Freedom, vice chairman of the Outagamie County ASC committee. Seated from the left are John Hansen, Franksville, state ASC committeeman; Leland Mulder, Holmen, state ASC committee chairman, and Ralph Gehring, Shiocton, state ASC committeeman (Laib Photo).

Neenah Holsteins Compile High Butterfat Mark

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced a new lactation average for the registered Holstein herd of Earl Hughes, Neenah, which has 31 completed production records averaging 16,438 pounds of milk and 571 pounds of butterfat.

Lactation averages are calculated on the commonly-employed two-milkings a day, 305 day, mature equivalent basis. This provides a uniform basis for comparison and selection in registered Holstein breeding programs.

The University of Wisconsin supervised the weighing and testing of production as part of the official herd testing programs of the national Holstein organization.

One of the Hughes' Holsteins has produced 117,022 pounds of milk and 4,884 pounds of butterfat in 3,143 days of an official test. Another recorded 105, pounds of milk and 3,772 of butterfat in a 3,021-day test.

"For Water Where You Want It"

U. S. Stretches Luck on President's Successors

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — From its beginning this country has been uneasy about two questions which never go away although the nation has acted as if it wished they would.

What happens when a president is disabled or when a president dies and there is no vice president?

Eight times—when presidents died in office and were succeeded by their vice presidents—the country has been left without a vice president, as it is now. Luckily, none of the vice presidents who became president died.

It's stretching luck to think this can go on indefinitely. The assassination of President John F. Kennedy and the succession of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson to the presidency, leaving the No. 2 spot vacant, once again has forced a national re-examination of the problem.

Ideas Offered
Now, as in the past, ideas have been offered by the bundle. Three times Congress acted to say who becomes president if the president dies and there is no vice president. Always it had second thoughts, as it is having now.

But it always ducked the task of answering the disability question: Who decides when a sorely stricken president can't carry out his duties? Who decides when he thinks he is no longer disabled?

Now a Senate subcommittee on constitutional amendments is tackling both questions: Succession and disability. It held hearings the past two days, will resume in late February.

There will be enormous disagreements, as always. The subcommittee has been drenched in proposals. And, when it's all through, no matter what it recommends, the full Congress may duck again.

Not Positive
The framers of the Constitution didn't try to be positive either.

They said—in case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of said of-

NEW YORK (AP) — Jackie Gleason is abandoning New York for the golf courses of Florida.

The comedian signed a $6-million contract with CBS which will allow him to produce his weekly television show in Miami.

Gleason, who has worked in New York City for 15 years, explained: "I want to play golf in the winter. I don't want to be stuck in a New York hotel in the weather here."

—"the same shall devolve on the vice president." They didn't say who decided on presidential disability.

They specifically left it up to Congress by law to say who became president if there was no president or vice president. Congress acted promptly, in a limited way.

By act of March 1, 1793, Congress provided for the Senate's president pro tempore and the speaker of the House, in that order, to succeed to the presidency if there was no president or vice president.

Not Satisfied
Congress wasn't satisfied. After 93 years it passed another act—on Jan. 19, 1886—knocking out the 1793 act and saying now that, if there was no president or vice president, the line of succession should be through the Cabinet, starting with the secretary of state.

After 61 more years, Congress by act of July 18, 1947, changed the line of succession again. Now it goes this way: Speaker of the House, the Senate's president pro tempore, and then the Cabinet.

(House Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts is now 72 and the Senate's president pro tempore, Carl Hayden of Arizona, is 86.)

On the line of succession perhaps the most influential and persuasive suggestion was made this week by a group of lawyers called together by the American Bar Association.

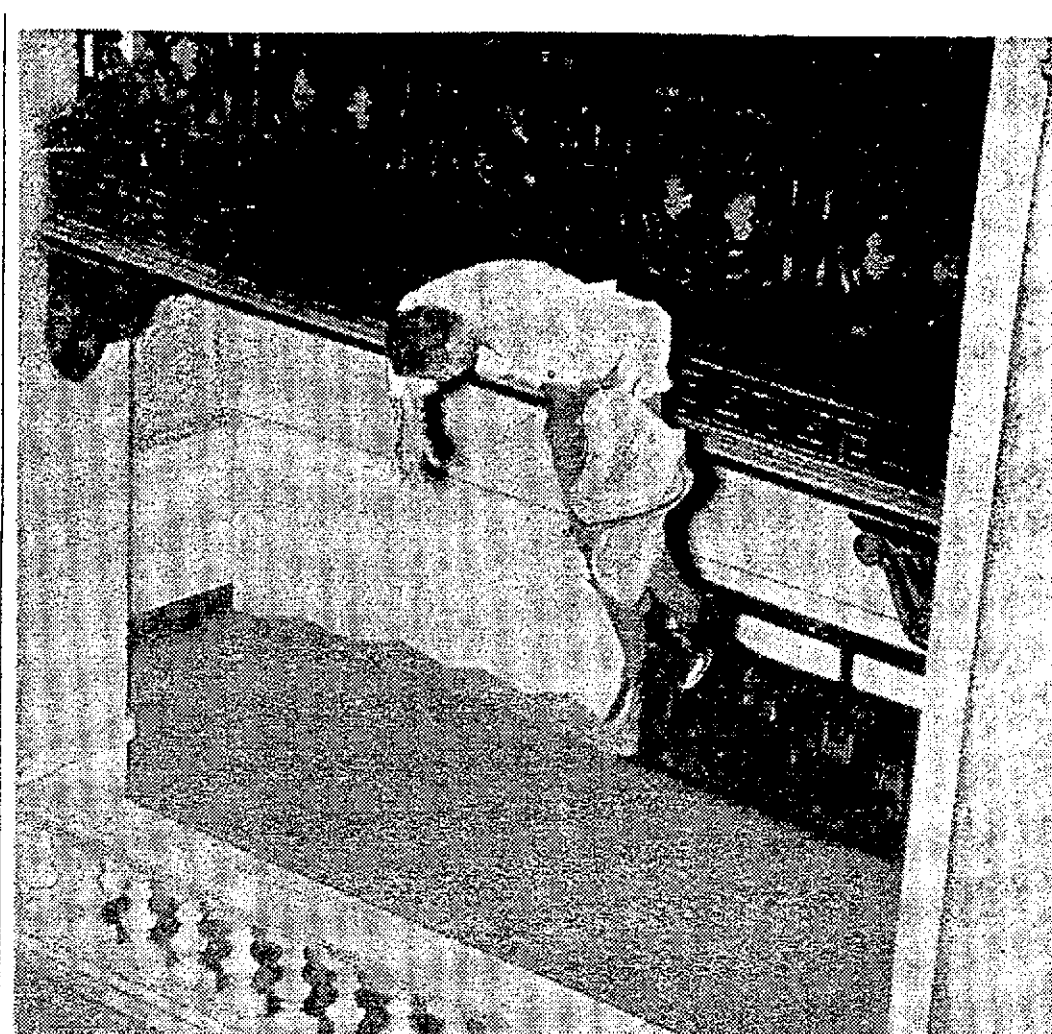

1947 Act
They don't like the present arrangement—under that act of 1947—and suggest a constitutional amendment providing that when there is no vice president the president should nominate a person "who, upon approval by a majority of Congress in joint session, shall then become vice president."

This proposal has had a good response in Congress. Even if Congress approved and sent it to the states for ratification, this takes a lot of time and meanwhile there is no vice president.

But there is far more dispute over solving the question of presidential disability. There is no law covering this.

This is what causes uneasiness: Suppose a president feels he is no longer disabled and wants to take back his duties from the vice president but there is wide doubt that he is capable.

For this reason, it has been proposed that some group of government officials—the Cabinet, or Congress, or a commission—should decide when a president is no longer disabled. This is a big tangle, with perhaps no answer in sight.

Burglary Spree Extends to Northside was near that of Leonard Mory who reported to police his home was ransacked between 10 a.m. and 7:20 p.m. when he returned home.

Meanwhile, Appleton police are checking out other leads which may have a connection with the burglaries. A woman on N. Center Street reported about 12:50 a.m. today that she heard a person on the upstairs porch of her home. Police found no evidence that anyone had been on the porch.

A woman on Prospect Avenue reported early Thursday morning she heard a noise in the corridor outside her bedroom, went to investigate and scared off an intruder.

Tactics in all burglaries have been the same, with entries gained either by forcing a window or breaking a pane of glass near the front door, reaching in and unlocking the door.

In two of the Thursday night burglaries, however, the burglar has found a patio sliding glass door open and gained entry that way.

Once inside, the burglar has ransacked drawers in the kitchen and has rummaged through bedrooms and desk drawers. On one occasion he has pulled heavy bedroom furniture away from the wall to search behind it and on another occasion, he has pulled bed clothes apart apparently seeking money hid under the pillows or sheets.

At one home visited by the burglar, he took time to fish over $6 in coins from a small glass bank. The bank was found empty by the homeowner when he inventoried his home to determine what was missing.

The burglar's largest haul, about $37, was taken in the Ted Hartjes home, 825 E. Grant St., where $6 was found in a billfold and $30 was found hidden under a jewelry box. Miscellaneous jewelry including a 50-year-old heirloom ring was also taken.

Mory reported nothing missing from his home other than a small diamond ring. Entry had been made through sliding French doors from the back patio.

Rifle ammunition stored in a metal box was taken from the Rudolph Krause home. Entry was made by breaking a pane of glass in the front door. Van Groll reported the loss of $6.25 in coins from a bank and a can full of dimes and nickels.

privilege for corporation executives; To give a tax break on college education costs;

To eliminate a house provision which prevents federal regulatory agencies from passing on to utility customers the benefits of tax cuts they receive under the 7 per cent investment credit enacted in 1962 and broadened in the pending bill.

In the house, most of the fight over the bill last fall centered on Republican efforts to tie spending limitations to it.

But Johnson's fiscal 1965 budget cut $500 million under the estimate for the present year eliminated most of this controversy in the senate committee, and GOP members offered no spending limitation riders there.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said he was pleased at the budget cuts but he remained opposed to the tax bill and cast one of the five votes against it. The staff experts said their tentative estimate was that the changes made in the bill by the committee had added about $400 million of revenue loss to the $11.1 billion house version.

Chief of these was an amendment which would permit taxpayers who itemize deductions to continue to take off for state gas taxes, auto tags and drivers licenses. The house voted to eliminate these.

The Finance Committee also liberalized deductions allowed families with working wives for child care, broadened the retirement income credit limitation for families not covered by social security, added a new deduction for political contributions, and gave a tax break to transferred employees who must sell their homes quickly at below the appraised value.

It retained key house provisions establishing a new minimum standard deduction which will knock 1.5 million low income taxpayers off the rolls, giving relief to persons who have large amounts of income bunched in one year, helping old persons who sell their homes at a profit, broadening the charitable contributions deduction, and allowing older persons to deduct more of their expenditures for drugs and medicines.

set after selling Johnson—then the Senate Democratic leader—the first half of $200,000 in life insurance policies. The insurance man said he also agreed to buy $1,208 worth of advertising time on the Austin television station controlled by the Johnson family.

The President made no mention of the advertising purchase.

Asked for comment, Mansfield said "the President is to be commended for stepping right out and answering the allegations and for laying the cards on the table. The charge has been answered."

Gross Wants Inquiry
House Democratic leader Carl Albert said "the statement should stand on its own feet."

On the Republican side, Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen could not be reached for comment and House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck declined to discuss the matter.

But Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, who has called for a separate House investigation of Baker's business dealings, told newsmen that Johnson's remarks make it "more imperative than ever that the Senate Rules Committee call Bobby Baker, put him under oath and ask him whether he paid for this record player."

Gross said the President's statement "flies directly in the face of sworn testimony of Reynolds that he bought and paid for the stereo."

This morning she returned to her home about midnight Thursday and found the doors standing open. She said her dog was very excited and may have chased the intruder away. She said nothing was taken.

Boston, New York Police Cooperate On Stranglings

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Boston and New York police are checking today to see if there is

Mrs. Martin Miss Martin any connection between murders of women in those cities and the strangling of an Oakland mother and daughter Wednesday.

Lt. John J. Donovan, chief of the Boston police homicide bureau, was due in Oakland today. There have been 11 unsolved stranglings to women in Massachusetts during the last 19 months.

Oakland police also were communicating with New York authorities. Two young women were tied up and stabbed to death there last August.

Oakland police said they had no suspects in the gruesome slayings of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Martin, Oakland's 1963 "Mother of the Year," and her daughter, Carolyn, 18.

Mrs. Martin, 43, was strangled with an extension cord, and the girl by two women's stockings tied together. Police said Carolyn apparently had been sexually assaulted, with her blouse and slacks torn from her body.

Arps was elected Calumet County district attorney in 1916 and held the office for four terms. He resigned in 1923 to accept a Calumet County judgeship appointment.

He was elected to complete an unexpired county judge term in 1924 and in 1925 was re-elected to a full term. Arps practiced law in Chilton for 31 years before being named to the circuit bench.

Active in civic affairs, he was instrumental in organizing the Chilton Kiwanis Club, was a charter member and officer. He also served as Kiwanis District governor.

Judge Arps was a member of the Chilton Masonic Lodge, was a 32nd degree Mason and a member of the Calumet and Tripoli (Milwaukee) Shrine.

Survivors include the widow and a brother. Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Sunday in Pfeiffer Funeral Home, Chilton. Burial will be in New Holstein City Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. Saturday.

Junior Leaders Install Officers

Waupaca 4-H Unit Raises Age Limit For Membership

MANAWA — New officers were installed by the Waupaca County Junior 4-H Leaders' Council at the organization's January meeting.

Jerome Severson is new president, Mary Kraus, vice president; Sandra Zirbel, secretary; Janice Rasmussen, treasurer, and Darlene Scheider, reporter. The group cleared the way for older members to remain in the council when it raised the maximum age limit from 18 to 21.

Drafting a constitution will be the responsibility of a committee consisting of Mary Kraus, Kenn Beyer, Nancy Johnson and Jim Riske. Monthly meetings will be at the Manawa city hall.

Named to the recreation committee were Janice Rasmussen, Bill Steinmates, Lee Hansen and Darlene Scheider.

Miss Rasmussen and Jerome Severson reported on the district junior leaders meeting at Port Edwards.

Tentative plans for a bowling party at Weyauwega were set. The event will be late in January.

Cow in Valders Herd Shatters State Mark For 4-Year-Old's

A registered Holstein cow owned by Elmer H. Gries, Valders, has shattered an all-time Wisconsin butterfat record in the official herd testing programs of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

The organization reports that the animal established a new high for junior four-year-olds milked two times daily.

*Her official 305-day production totalled 20,174 pounds of milk and 872 pounds of butterfat. Weighing and testing were supervised by the University of Wisconsin.

Libertyland Fobes Star was bred in the herd of her present owner.

B-Square Club Picks Officers

Officers were elected at Appleton's B-Square 4-H Club January meeting.

David Plamann is president; Carol Noel, vice president; Esther Hoh, secretary-treasurer; Barbara Neubert, reporter; Roger Plamann, sergeant-at-arms; and Judy Cahee, song leader.

Club members out for junior leader training are Grace Wilhams, Judy Cahee, Barbara Neubert, William Cahee, David Plamann and Colleen Pennings.

Named to plan a card party were Judy Cahee, Barbara Neubert, Bill Cahee and Walter Pulzer. Barbara, Carol and Joann Noel will enter the speaking contest.

Plans Skating Party

GREENVILLE — The Go-Getter's 4-H Club planned a Feb. 21 skating party at Hortonville when they met at Cedar Grove School.

Plans Activities

LEEMAN — The Wolf River Beavers 4-H Club set plans for a Valentine party and a skating outing when it met last week. The Valentine event will be at the W. Winterfeldt home Feb. 12.

30 Attend Party

NICHOLS — Some 30 members of the North Star 4-H Club participated in a skating party at the Nichols rink Friday. The club also elected a new vice president. Donald Freimuth will succeed Tom Peters.

channels or on the firm's own truck.

The operation will be odorless and dustless. The firm is currently seeking to acquaint farmers with the new service.

Blending and mixing operations have been improved in recent years, said Larscheid. Problems of varying weight and size have been solved by using ammoniated phosphate. The operation is further simplified by the greatly reduced need for ammonium nitrate.

Nitrate, phosphate and potash are basic to all bulk mixtures. Under the new arrangement, the firm can produce unlimited mixtures. The Seymour operation will also package materials for the lawn and garden market.

In addition to the bulk plant foods, the firm also plans to market insecticides and herbicides.

The firm also will make liquid nitrogen available by summer.

Larscheid said the corporation decided to locate at Seymour because Outagamie County is one of the heaviest fertilizer users in the state. It is double the Brown County consumption rate.

The entire raw material supply for the operation will be furnished by Armour and Co's Agricultural Chemicals Division, Atlanta, Ga.

The new U.S. Plant Foods plant is the second modern agricultural project slated to begin operation here during 1964. A new $125,000 mill of the Seymour Coop Exchange unit affiliated with the Midland Cooperative is under construction and will replace a smaller operation here. The new mill is being constructed adjacent to the railroad on the west edge of the business district.

Livestock Marketing Panels to Dominate Five Farm Institutes

Bear Creek, Shiocton, Hortonville, Seymour, Freedom Will be Sites

Livestock marketing panels will dominate the agendas of five farm institutes scheduled next week in Outagamie County.

The first institute, according to Jack Powers, county agricultural agent, will be at the Seymour High School gym at 8 p.m. Tuesday. It is one of three set for evenings only. Two others will be all-day sessions.

On Wednesday the institute will move to the Hortonville Community Hall from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and to Freedom High School for a program beginning at 8 p.m.

The Shiocton High School gym will be the setting of an institute from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Thursday and the series will be concluded with a program beginning at 8 p.m. Thursday at Bear Creek High School.

Two program topics will remain unchanged throughout the series, Powers explained. They are the nucleus of resource personnel serving on the marketing panel and "A Change in Face for a Changing Time," a discussion on home furnishings to be presented for women by Judith Stellwagen, home economics agent.

Serve on Panel

Serving on the panel will be Jim Smith, division president, Milwaukee Stock Yards; Peter May, public information director, Equity Livestock Sales Association; Ken Pessig, vice president and sales director, Badgers Breeders Cooperative, and Professor Richard Vilstrup, agricultural economist, University of Wisconsin.

At each locality, the panel will be reinforced with local agricultural and marketing leaders.

The two, all-day institutes, at Hortonville and Shiocton, will feature identical morning programs for men and women. Included will be "What's New in Corn and Oats," by Russell Luckow, farm management agent; "County Defense Program," by Lee Penney, county civil defense director, and a film, "About Fallout."

At Seymour

Local panel personalities at Seymour will be William Tubbs and Melvin Blohm, farmers; Ronald Nelson, livestock trucker; Carl Kuehne, a livestock marketing representative, and Oliver Lerum, high school agricultural instructor.

Added to the women's program will be "It's a Shifty Season" by home economics one and three, FHA demonstrations and music selections by a high school choral group.

The Seymour Kiwanis Club joins the extension service and the high school for sponsorship.

At Hortonville

Joining the basic panel during the afternoon at Hortonville will be Gilbert Laabs and Jerald Jentz, farmers; Arnold Ticks, a livestock dealer; Carlyle Manley, livestock organization; Fred Berneger, packing company official, and Paul Kreul, agricultural instructor.

Local additions to the women's program will be a style show by high school home economics girls, music selections by the choral ensemble, and "Light is What You Make It," by Mary Beth Kuester, Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. representative.

The Commercial Club is the local sponsor.

Serving on the panel at Freedom will be William Randerson, farmer; Gerald Geenen, farmer and livestock dealer; Gene Gonerling, farmer - livestock dealer, and John Valiga, high school agricultural instructor.

"The Personal Touch," a discussion on unusual accessories for the home by Mrs. Willis Baer, Kaukauna homemaker and former vocational school instructor, has been added to the program for women.

The school is the local sponsor.

At Shiocton

Augmenting the panel at Shiocton will be Cliff Conradt and Larry Kruzicki, farmers; Carl Kuehne, livestock organization, and Victor Wariorka, high school agricultural instructor.

High school freshman and sophomore clothing classes will present a style show to go with Miss Stellwagen's program for women.

Local residents on the panel at Bear Creek will be Gus Paul and Art Hoffman, farmers; Lyle Wendt, livestock trucker, and Bill Shaw, high school agricultural instructor.

Consolidation Plans Unveiled

SHAWANO — Plans for a three-way consolidation involving Badger Breeders Cooperative, here are being studied, it was disclosed at the recent annual meeting of Tri-State Breeders Cooperative at Westby.

Involved aside from the aforementioned would be East - Central Breeders Cooperative, Wau-pun.

Tri-State President Clarence Ahrens said, "If such consolidation were achieved, it would produce a cooperative serving nearly the entire state of Wisconsin as well as bordering counties in Iowa and Minnesota."

Added to the women's program will be "Winter Wonderland," an FHA style show; "Silhouettes" and "Are You Seeing Double," FHA demonstrations; music selections, and an FHA bake sale.

British Commando Troops Go to Kenya To Preserve Order

BY ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
LONDON (AP)—With unrest spreading in East Africa, Britain today ordered the spearhead of its strategic reserve, a 600-man royal marine commando unit, to fly to Kenya.

A government announcement said the troops were being dispatched at the request of Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya to help preserve law and order. Army mutinies this week shook two of Kenya's neighbors, Tanganyika on the south and Uganda on the west.

The vanguard of commandos, who are based at Plymouth, England, will begin flying to Kenya tonight. Earlier, Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys told Parliament the troops had been requested as a "purely precautionary measure" by the Kenya government, worried at unrest spreading through East Africa.

In the past 13 days three new British Commonwealth countries in East Africa have been shaken by upheavals. In Zanzibar, the conservative Arab government was overthrown by a pro-Communist revolution on Jan.

12. In Tanganyika and Uganda, Kenya's neighbors on the South and West, brief army mutinies occurred this week.

The Tanganyika mutiny was accompanied by rioting and looting in which at least 17 people were killed before order was restored.

The Uganda mutiny Thursday lasted only a few hours, and Prime Minister Obote said Thursday night in Kampala, the Uganda capital, that his government was still in control.

Reports reaching Kampala said two companies of the Uganda rifle regiment mutinied in Jinja, Uganda's second largest city 45 miles northeast of this capital. The mutineers locked up Internal Affairs Minister Felix Onama, assaulted newsmen and then marched on downtown Jinja.

Britain rushed 450 soldiers from neighboring Kenya to Entebbe, near Kampala. 45 minutes after Obote requested assistance from the British government.

Reports late Thursday night said the mutinous company's British officers, who are on loan from the British army, had regained control.

Had Traded Presents With Baker Before, President Asserts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said the expensive stereo set delivered to his home in 1959 was simply a gift from old friend Robert G. Baker, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield says this explanation should end the matter.

But Republicans, sensing an election year issue, are pressing this and other facets of the Senate Rules Committee's inquiry into the complicated business dealing of Baker, a former Johnson protege who quit under fire last Oct. 7 as secretary to the Senate Democrats.

Personal Gift
"The Baker family gave us a stereo set," Johnson said Thursday at a White House Conference. We had exchanged gifts before. He was an employee of the public and had no business pending before me and was asking for nothing and so far as I knew expected nothing in return any more than I did when I had presented him with gifts."

The President volunteered this explanation a day after the Senate committee released testimony by Don B. Reynolds, an associate of Baker in a local insurance firm, who said he sent the $542 stereo record player to Johnson's home at Baker's suggestion.

Reynolds said he paid for the set.

Agencies Discuss Joint Action in Crime Inquiries

MADISON (AP)—Representatives of the State Department of Taxation and the attorney general's office met Thursday to discuss policies for joint criminal investigations by the agencies. They agreed to exchange some information.

Atty. Gen. George P. Thompson was represented by two assistants. Also present were George Corning, head of the tax department; and three of his aides, including two members of the beverage and cigarette tax division.

Agents of the beverage and cigarette tax unit are authorized to enforce laws dealing with gambling, prostitution and tax fraud.

Thompson said the meeting was requested by his office to develop a "liaison" between the agencies. He also said there would be an exchange of information between the two departments.

Copters Try To Rescue 9 In Congo Area

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Two U.N. helicopters were on a mercy flight today to rescue seven American missionaries and two American children from guerrilla-ravaged southern Kivu Province.

The mission station at Kanda had been burned but latest reports said the mission families were alive. The guerrillas earlier this week killed three Belgian Roman Catholic priests.

The helicopters, accompanied by a light plane, took off this morning from the diamond mining center of Tshikapa, about 90 miles from Kanda.

The mission was burned out by guerrilla bands led by Pierre Mulele, pro-Peking right-hand man of imprisoned separatist leader Antoine Gizenga.

The mission belongs to the Evangelical Congo Inland Mission which has its headquarters at Elkhart, Ind.

Thursday, a four-seater plane belonging to the Protestant missions in the Congo flew 23 persons out of Mukedi to safety at Kikwit.

Trucker Dies on Ice-Covered Road

Schools Closed by Freezing Rain, Fog; Air Travel Halted

Heavy fog, mist and freezing rain crept into northeast Wisconsin today closing schools and coating highways with a glass-like coat of ice, a factor in the death of a truck driver in Shawano County.

The traffic victim was James Quilling, 45, Wilson, killed in a crash on State 29 four miles west of Shawano.

Authorities said Quilling apparently tried to leap from his skidding cattle truck, and was crushed beneath the vehicle after it went out of control and slid into a ditch.

Quilling was hauling cattle muling from the north from St. Paul to Green Bay. South of the icy area, dense fog when the mishap occurred about 4 a.m. Shawano County authorities said the highway was covered with about one-half inch of ice.

Schools Closed
All schools were closed in Marion, Bonduel, Shawano and Clintonville because of the icy conditions.

One Clintonville resident described conditions as "too slippery to stand up."

Police reported cars stopped over the weekend.

Staff Must Redraft Bill To Include Changes Given Approval by Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The $11.5-billion tax bill has taken a giant stride toward enactment but whether it can become law by March 1, the administration goal, is uncertain.

The Senate Finance Committee voted 12-5 approval of the measure Thursday after 20 days of executive sessions and well over 100 separate votes.

But the floor debate cannot begin until congressional staff experts finish drafting all of the new language written into the 310-page bill by the committee.

They indicated today this might well take all of next week. In that case, the debate probably would not start before Feb. 3. This would leave only seven or eight days for floor action before the passage deadline of Feb. 11 set by Democratic leaders.

Meets Johnson's Aims
They must meet that deadline if the final enactment goal of March 1 is to be achieved. If the Senate does not pass the bill until after the Feb. 11-17 Lincoln Day recess there would be little chance to have the conference with the House over differences in the two versions and get the bill to President Johnson for signature next month.

The committee included in the bill all of the major provisions sought by Johnson.

The President won a last-minute victory Thursday afternoon when he persuaded nine Democrats to kill $455-million worth of excise tax repeals which had been voted in the morning.

Fight On Amendments
Chiefly involved were excises on luggage, jewelry, cosmetics and furs. The six Republicans on the committee and two Democrats—Paul H. Douglas of Illinois and Albert Gore of Tennessee—remained for repeal of the taxes in the afternoon test.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, author of the key repeal amendments, said he would press them on the floor.

Democrats on the committee who will handle the bill on the floor said they were confident it can be kept pretty much in the form approved by the finance group.

No Rate Change Seen
Sponsors of the bill said they did not expect any serious effort to change the rate cuts in the bill.

If this is correct, the final Senate version would provide cuts averaging 19 per cent and totaling about $9.2 billion for 80 million individual taxpayers and cuts averaging about 10 per cent and totaling $2.3 billion for 550,000 corporations.

There are sure to be fights not only to repeal the retail excises but—

To knock out the stock option

Helmut F. Arps

H. F. Arps, 71, Circuit Judge, Dies in Chilton

Served Third Judicial District Over 14 Years

CHILTON—Helmut F. Arps, 71, 818 S. Madison St., Chilton, judge of the Third Judicial Circuit for more than 14 years, died about 12.15 a.m. today after a two-week illness.

Judge Arps served the circuit, comprised of Winnebago and Calumet Counties, from Jan. 5, 1948, when he was appointed by Gov. Oscar Rennebohm to succeed Henry P. Hughes, until his retirement in May, 1962. His colleagues, attorneys and State Supreme Court justices feted Arps at a testimonial shortly after his retirement.

He continued as a reserve judge and presided at the Sheboygan Police Chief Steen W. Heimke hearings. The decision, handed down two weeks ago, was his last.

In 1959 Judge Arps was elected chairman of the Wisconsin Board of Circuit Judges. He also served on the board of governors of the State Bar Association, was a life member of the group, and was a member of the American Bar Association.

UW Graduate
He was born May 2, 1892, in the Town of New Holstein. He attended New Holstein public schools, the University of Wisconsin.

5 More Homes Hit In Burglary Spree

Appleton's North Side Setting Of Thursday Evening Break-ins

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Five northside Appleton homes were added to a daring early evening burglar's itinerary Thursday, bringing to 14 the number of homes ransacked in a two-day crime spree which has stumped Appleton police.

The burglar, who strikes in the early evening hours when the home occupants are on errands, collected a paltry $43.25 in cash, some jewelry and a box of rifle ammunition Thursday night. Wednesday, in breaking into nine homes, the burglar collected an estimated $300 and some jewelry.

Struck Thursday were the homes of Frank Van Groll, 218 W. Marquette St.; Rudolph Krause, 1918 N. Superior St.; Leonard F. Mory, 707 E. Pershing St.; Theodore Hartjes, 825 E. Grant St., and Robert Lust, 1421 N. Harriman St.

Appleton detectives assigned to tracking the elusive burglar reported late Wednesday and today they have very few leads in the case. Teams of detectives combed the neighborhoods where the burglar struck Wednesday and reported that most neighbors saw or heard nothing unusual between the hours of 4 and 9 p.m. the time the burglar is believed to have entered the homes.

Police may have received a sketchy description of a burglar from Richard Moen, 1418 N. Madison St., who reported to police his back doorbell began ringing early Thursday morning. He got up to investigate and saw a tall man dressed in a black trench coat and wearing black pants run from his backyard. Moen said the rear doorbell is "very sensitive" and if the area around the bell is struck, it will ring.

The burglar early Thursday hit a home on Summer Street a few blocks from Moen's home. A short time after Moen's doorbell rang.

Saw Two Men
A 16-year-old girl on E. Pershing Street told police she watched two men run between homes on E. Pershing Street about 7 p.m. Thursday. She said one man wore a hat and earmuffs and was "husky." The girl's home was on E. Pershing.

Too Small for Requirements

Patient Does Not Survive History's First Human Heart Transplant

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Surgeons at the University of Mississippi Medical Center here transplanted a human heart into the body of a man dying of a heart ailment today.

A medical center spokesman said the transplanted heart beat for more than an hour but proved inadequate for the patient's requirements and the recipient died.

First in History
The spokesman said it was believed to be the first transplant of a human heart in history.

"The fatal outcome could not be reversed," the hospital said. "Unfortunately the only available donor heart at the time of the patient's collapse proved too small for the requirements of the considerably larger recipient."

The recipient was in "terminal heart failure" from a chronic heart ailment of years duration, the hospital said.

Neither the recipient nor the donor was identified.

The three-hour operation began shortly before midnight and the recipient died early today.

A spokesman said the heart was preserved while being sewn into place by chilled, oxygenated blood pumped through a coronary sinus, a large vein that drains the heart.

The spokesman said a forceful, regular beat was established with a single shock from an electrical instrument used to convert the transplanted heart to regular rhythm.

Surgical teams have trans-

planted hearts in more than 200 animals at the medical center over a period of several years, the spokesman said.

Shortly after the first brief announcement, the hospital closed the door to all questions. "No further information will be released until additional clinical experience is gained," a spokesman said.

Asked if this meant the hospital would say nothing until another heart transplant is tried, the spokesman said: "That's right."

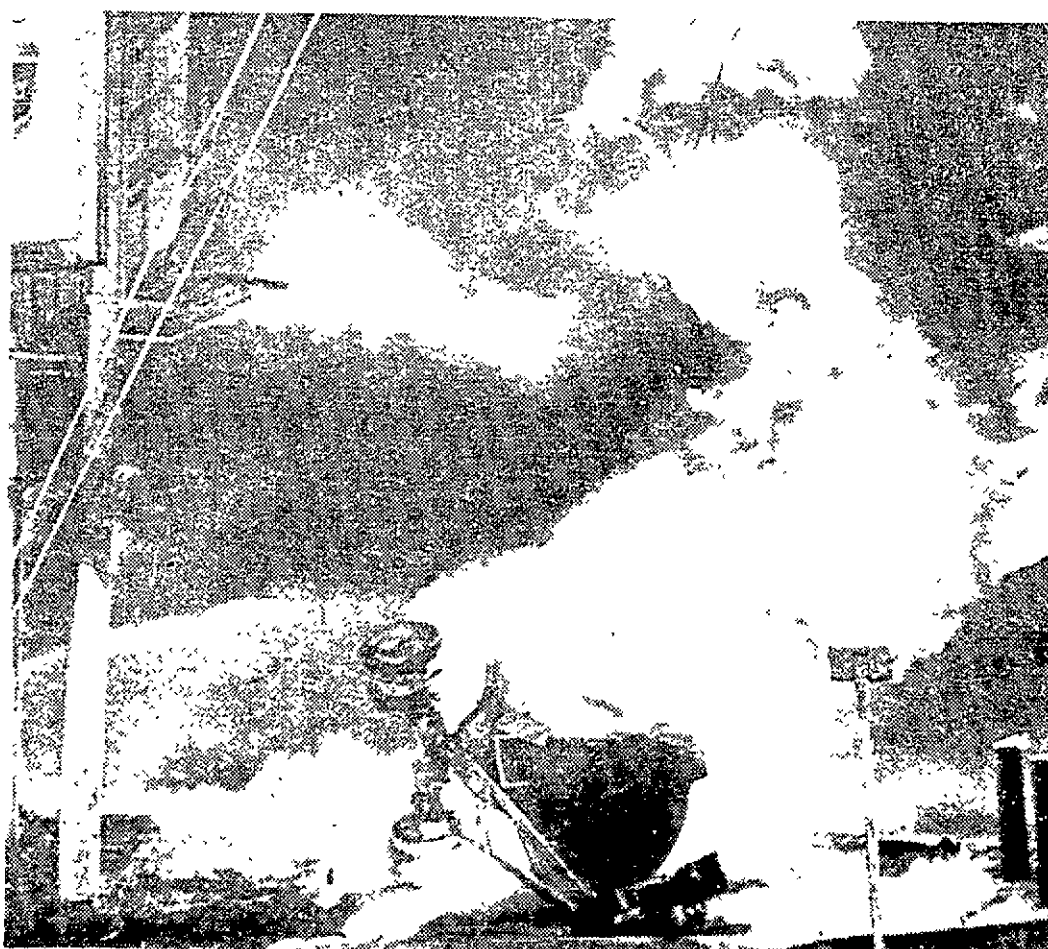

The spokesman said hospital officials and doctors agreed before the transplant not to make any names public — their own, the donor's or the recipient's.

Unanswered Questions
This left unanswered these key questions:

What was the sex and age of the recipient? and the donor? who were they? What ailment, if any, had stricken the donor? How long was the heart preserved after death of the donor?

Chilton AFS Club Sets Fund-Raising

High School Organization Assists Students on Foreign Exchange

CHILTON — More than 150 high school students here have combined their efforts to raise money to sponsor foreign students at Chilton High School.

The AFS Club (American Field Service) was formed approximately one year ago for the purpose of bringing a foreign student to Chilton.

A subsidiary of the adult AFS organization in the city, the school group pledges $200 each year for a foreign student.

Since the start of the 1963-64 school term the club has raised over $450.

$200 for Loan

Of the money earned this year, $200 had to be paid to the school for payment on a loan for this year's student, Cherdak Choomnoon, from Thailand.

Richard Layman, faculty advisor, said the major purpose of the AFS club is to coordinate the school's activities with the adult AFS Club.

Another goal of the club is to make sure that foreign students coming to Chilton receive a warm welcome and are accepted into the school community.

Fund-Raising

Some of the fund raising activities sponsored by the group are a student-faculty volleyball game, record dances, selling of taffy apples at athletic events, the Christmas dance and a sale of pictures to students in school.

The group is led by Bette Uhlenbrauch, president. High School Principal Earl Anderson stated the success of the group is mainly due to Miss Uhlenbrauch's leadership and total membership participation.

Other officers of the club are Steve Larson, vice president, Jeanne Hoffmann, secretary, and Tom Fox and Tom Hilbert, co-treasurers.

Speech Test Winners Announced

MANAWA — Four winners emerged from the local elimination event of the Waupaca met this week at the home of the District's eighth annual speaking contest.

In all, 25 elementary pupils, grades five through eight, of Little Wolf School District, were entered in the elimination finals. Winners were Donna Eder and Marsha Lindsay, Manawa seventh graders; Catherine Wagner, Ogdensburg eighth grader, and Judith Baldwin, Symco eighth grader.

Judges were Ronald Elmhurst and George Lehto.

Elimination winners will compete in the county contest at Waupaca Jan. 31. Group judges in the finals will be Jow Walker and Mrs. Frances Turner, junior group; Harold Clark, Dan Polz and Mrs. Carl Bacher, youth and adult groups.

County winners earn the right to enter district competition at Wausau.

The Marquette University team which surveyed Catholic elementary and secondary education in Appleton last year strongly recommended construction of a new high school on the east side of Appleton, he said.

A new school would cost an estimated $2 million to $2.5 million, he said.

Expansion Cost

Expansion of the present building to accommodate an enrollment of 1,650 would cost about $500,000 under the present class schedule or $1,250,000 under a traditional schedule.

Dr. Driessen said the present college-type schedule, introduced last fall, has six periods a day and 34 class periods a week, including four Saturday, while the traditional "five-by-five" schedule has five periods five days a week.

Manawa 4-H Plans Party

MANAWA—The Friendly Valley 4-H Club, will stage a skating party from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Sunday at Bear Lake.

Working on the committee are Kenn Beyer, Jerry Quimby, Betty Struck, and Harvey Miller.

Beyer reported on the community builders project for 1963 in which the club won top honors.

Nancy Jones, treasurer, said $12.40 was collected for CARE.

On Feb. 1, Valentine favors for the Little Wolf Rest Home will be made at the home of Mrs. Clarence Prellwitz. Those working will be Barbara Schultz, Kenn Beyer, Jerry Quimby, Bonnie Craig, Susan Miller, Vicky Ferg, Irene Sedora, Kieth Pegorsch, Weylin Walker and Waunita Walker.

Health and safety talks, will be given at the next meeting by Harvey Miller and Betty Struck.

Manawa Homemakers Hike Playground Fund

MANAWA—The Future Club met this week at the home of Mrs. Frank Binder. Co-hostess was Mrs. Robert Squires.

A white elephant sale netted $10 for the club's city park playground fund. Members expressed interest in finding leaders to organize a "Girl Scout" troop in Manawa. Plans for a Valentine party were completed.

Forest Junction May Buy New Fire Truck

District Electors To Decide Issue; Old Truck Is Inadequate

FOREST JUNCTION — The purchase of a new 1,500-gallon water truck in Brillion Town's Fire District No. 1 for use by the Forest Junction Fire Department will be decided by electors of the district, it was decided Tuesday evening at a joint meeting of fire department representatives and the Brillion Town board.

The proposal was presented in the form of a resolution passed at the recent annual meeting of the department which named a special committee comprised of Chief Stuart Commins, Gerald Burg and Robert Stanelle to confer with the town board. The resolution declared the present water truck to be inadequate, obsolete and hazardous.

Information on new trucks available and their cost will be assembled for a report at a special district meeting. The western half of the geographically square township constitutes fire district No. 1. The eastern portion receives fire protection from the City of Brillion.

Wilmer Struebing, town chairman, said financing the new truck would be attempted without upsetting payments on a $13,500 debt on the new fire station. It was completed in 1962 at a cost of a little over $20,000.

Work Adjustment

Duane F. Kelso, director of Work Adjustment Services Inc. in Menasha and Oshkosh, described his agency's program, which includes work adjustment services and a half-day school program for trainable retarded.

He said the Outagamie County group must decide first which disability group it wants to serve.

Mrs. Kyle Ward Jr., president of the Outagamie County Mental Health Association and chairman of the citizens' committee, said the "most immediate and most pressing needs" are to train those who are untrained and cannot compete in industry, and to find some outlet or day care facilities for the severely retarded.

The colonies are so crowded the Mongoloid retarded may be returned to the communities, which would mean many more facilities would be needed, she said.

National Averages

Applying national averages to the 1960 census figures for Outagamie County, Kelso estimated there are 3,000 mentally retarded in the county, including 1,500 in Appleton. Of these, 1,200 are under 18, and about 300 are in the 16 to 18 year old age group, the most difficult group for providing employment and other facilities, he said.

These figures do not include the emotionally disturbed, who also could be served by some of the services being discussed, he said.

L. C. Smith, representing Fox Valley Sheltered Workshop Inc., said the workshop is concerned about broadening the scope of its activities. Additional space there possibly could be used for some of the services being discussed, he said.

Dean Adams, manager of the Fox Valley division of Goodwill Industries, said Goodwill plans to develop a workshop in the Fox Valley and believes it could employ about 75 persons.

Mrs. Ward will appoint a committee to study what services are available and what are needed in the county. The committee then will present a plan to the group which met Wednesday and to the community.

Committee to Study Needs of Retarded

Outagamie Citizens' Group Will Map Plan of Action for Area

A citizens' committee has been set up to study needs for work adjustment services and day care facilities for the mentally retarded and mentally disturbed in Outagamie County and to present a plan of action to the community.

The committee also will consider needs for after-care services for patients returning home from mental hospitals.

About 32 persons attended the first planning session of the volunteer committee in the Appleton City Hall Wednesday. Representatives of mental health organizations, retarded children's councils, service groups, schools, labor groups and state vocational rehabilitation services were at the meeting.

State Services

Dr. Edward Pfeiffer, senior supervisor of vocational rehabilitation for the State Board of Vocational and Adult Education, Madison, discussed the services his agency provides to help physically and mentally handicapped persons become employable.

A "personal development center" could provide three types of help, he said:

1. Work adjustment services, aimed at preparing individuals for employment in private business or industry.

2. A sheltered workshop, which provides work for handicapped persons who are unable to find work outside.

3. A personal adjustment or activity program for the severely retarded who are unable to be employed.

The vocational rehabilitation agency would be primarily interested in the work adjustment services, which lead to eventual employment, he said. The agency encourages communities to provide sheltered workshops, but cannot give them continued support, he said. New legislation provides state aid under the Division of Mental Hygiene for day care centers, he said.

Editor Says Young Christians Want Larger Role in Church

Hospital Has Patient Hike At Clintonville

2,307 Admitted in '63, Administrator's Report Indicates

CLINTONVILLE — Community hospital had an increase in both the number of patients and number of patient days in 1963 over 1962, according to comparative figures released by R. J. Platte, hospital administrator.

The hospital had 2,307 patients in 1963, 56 more than the 1962 total of 2,251, and a total of 12,246 patient days in 1963, 419 more than the 11,827 in 1962. The average number of daily patients remained the same at 33.

Surgical cases increased by 16 with 557 in 1963 and 541 in 1962. The medical showed a decrease of 47 with 1,117 in 1963 and 1,164 in 1962.

Fewer Births

Obstetrics decreased by 11 with 282 in 1963 and 293 in 1962. There were 62 deaths in 1963 and 56 in 1962. Two autopsies were performed last year and three in 1962.

Occupancy was 60 per cent in 1963 and 63 per cent in 1962 with the average length of stay being five days for both years. Also unchanged was the average daily admission of six.

There were 104 consultations in 1963, 11 less than in 1962.

All-Incumbent Slate Shapes for Seymour Voters

SEYMOUR — An all-incumbent slate is developing for Seymour's spring election. As the Jan. 28 deadline for filing approaches, only incumbent city office holders have filed nomination papers.

Heading the ballot will be Mayor Ben Truymen who is seeking his second term. Ald. Earl Brick, First Ward, also is aiming for a second term. Mayor or Truymen is an insurance salesman and Brick owns a local farm implementing business.

Harvey Hart, currently serving his first term as the city's first municipal justice of peace, also has expressed his intent to continue if elected. Hart is parts manager for a local automobile dealer.

City Treasurer Corrine Huth and City Clerk Josephine Marchio are seeking their fifth terms of office. Ald. Elmed Seidel, Second Ward, who operates a loan auto body shop, will be going for his sixth term.

5-Year Program

All highway signs in Outagamie County will have to be changed in the next five years, Highway Commissioner Clarence Brownson said Wednesday.

Brownson said according to state law, county highway markings must agree with the state manual.

"The state put out a new manual more than a year ago, but it has taken until just recently for Outagamie County to get a copy," Brownson said.

He said major changes in road signs will include replacement of present markers with larger ones.

"In many cases, for instance, the state requires 30-inch stop signs where we now have 24-inch signs," Brownson said.

Color Coding

The new manual, he said, is much more specific as to various measurements. For example, highway center stripes, where there are more than one to denote no passing areas, must be not more than four inches or less than three inches apart.

Many of the new sign requirements also call for color coding, he said.

Some green signs in Brown County will have to come down, he said, because they are the wrong color for information they carry.

Work will be done gradually, Brownson said, bringing all the county's signs into agreement with state specifications in the next five years.

Address by Magazine Chief

Concludes Lawrence Conference

Co-existence between Christians and non-Christians was the topic Wednesday night at the final Lawrence College Religion in Life Conference on Church Unity.

Joseph Cunneen, West Nyack, N. Y., managing editor of "Cross Currents," a Catholic magazine, delivered his second major address of the conference.

Young Christians involved in renewal within the church do not want their faith to be a privilege, making them members of a middle class elite, Cunneen stated. They wish to share fully in "the misery of the world."

"In this attitude, every religion in the world should assume in the spiritual history of mankind a meaning that is not simply negative but positive; every culture should enrich the expression of faith and be enriched by faith," the speaker said.

Differing Viewpoints

The differing viewpoints in the world—such as those that exist between Marxism, atheistic humanism and Christianity; between the methods for analysis and criticism of reality; between social and political systems—pose problems in judgment for Christians. "All too often pluralism is evaluated as merely intellectual anarchy or spiritual impoverishment, whereas it may also be a sign of cultural riches and may constitute a summons from divine providence to new tasks."

"We should take care," Cunneen said, "lest our legitimate desire for unity transform itself into a wish to dominate; we should take care that the myth of a unified society which would include all men, is not a rationalization of our resentment and incompetence when faced with values which we ourselves have been incapable of producing or assimilating."

All possibilities for collaboration should be based first of all on the respect for different orders of truth, he went on. "This does not prevent searching and yearning for the unity of truth, but the unification must not be achieved prematurely through assimilation."

The celebrated formula, "Outside the church there is no salvation" has been frequently misunderstood," Cunneen stated. "It does not mean that the Catholic Church is the only available and acceptable means of incorporation; on the contrary, every man of good will is invisibly united to the Church. Membership in the Church does not require full awareness of the fact. Membership can exist also by desire and even when there is no knowledge of the Church."

"There exists," Cunneen went on, "what is a paradoxical membership for those who in good faith fight the Church because they do not recognize its features."

"There exists a tremendous unity among men, a mystical communion, whether they are Christians or non-Christians," the speaker said, as well as a "common destiny which exists for all men."

Common Destiny

"If we have a common destiny, there is also a common life of work because together we create civilizations," he concluded. "The Christian must recognize that the story of man has a meaning. . . that the role of man is to humanize himself and humanize the world. The Christian's duty is to do his part in the evolution of this history because the Christian way of life does not suppress the human."

"If we Christians are to avoid making a travesty of our own faith, we must respect the full freedom of our non-believing friends: we must avoid projecting a terrible kind of Vulture-God; a destroyer of values and liberties because he was made in the image of our own pious mediocrity. What we all need is that intellectual charity which lends with all its powers to do the truth in love."

Farmer Seeks Zone Change

Plans to Establish Trailer Court in Brillion Township

FOREST JUNCTION — A Town of Brillion farmer has requested permission to establish a trailer court on his land.

Ervin Thomas has petitioned the Calumet County Park Commission, administrators of the county's zoning ordinance, to have land rezoned from agricultural to commercial to clear the way for the project. The hearing date has not been set.

The Thomas farm is located on a town road about a mile from U.S. 10 between Brillion and Forest Junction.

$103,000 in Claims From Waupaca Fires

Waupaca County Club, A and P Store Losses Nearly All of $107,185 Total for 1963

WAUPACA—Two large fires, compared to 79 times in 1962, at the Waupaca Country Club Hansen said the totals exclude on Feb. 6 and at the A and P Store on June 5, contributed $103,000 of the $107,185 fire claims in Waupaca during 1963, according to the annual report of Fire Chief James "Bob" Hansen.

Hansen said with the exclusion of the two major fires, fire loss in Waupaca was held to less than $4,000. Of the $4,000 loss at other fires, the city fire department was called to about 35 per cent of the claims. The larger percentage was due to non-reported fires such as cigarette burns on carpets and furniture and other claims. Waupaca firemen were called out 93 times during 1963 as

New Parish Adopts Budget

Wittenberg Church Okays $24,157 Plan; Accepts Membership

WITTENBERG — A $24,157 budget for 1964 was adopted by members of the new Redeemer Lutheran Church at the congregation's first annual meeting.

The new congregation voted to accept the membership lists of the former St. John and First Lutheran churches. They total 443 confirmed members and 710 baptized members. The Redeemer Church is the result of a merger approved Feb. 4 by both congregations.

Members decided church councilmen would hold office until January, 1966. The council was given the right to appoint members to fill vacancies which might develop.

A motion to join the Wisconsin Association of Bible Camps was approved by the 112 members attending the annual session.

Congregation statistics for 1963 include 17 baptisms, 15 confirmations, 28 new members, four weddings, and eight burials.

Highlights of the inaugural year were the March 17 meeting of the new congregation during which Carl C. Larsen was elected president and the name "Redeemer Lutheran" was selected. On Aug. 21 the parish called the Rev. Myron Haleen. He was installed Dec. 8.

Amherst Parish Picks Officers

AMHERST — Three new trustees and two deacons were elected Monday when the Nelsonville Evangelical Lutheran Church held its annual meeting in the church dining hall. Leroy Gordon, congregation president, conducted the meeting.

Neil Kachur, Mrs. William Frizzell and Norris Grayson were elected to replace Herbert Wolding, Charles Alm and Dan Bobbe as trustees. Ernest Lepen and Arlyn Peterson will replace Julian Henke and Clair Packer as deacons. Leroy Gordon and Mrs. Verner Lundgren are holdover trustees. Deacon holdovers are Henry Johnson, Claude Uphagrove and Arthur Thompson. Mrs. Lundgren is secretary of the church board and Mrs. Leroy Gordon is secretary-treasurer of the congregation.

Fidel Takes a Trip

There is one thing certain about Fidel Castro. He is never at a loss for words. A lot of Russians, Cubans and ordinary folk were surprised when Castro quite suddenly appeared in Moscow for the second time in less than a year. "I want to see the real hunters in Siberia and see how they live, how they battle with nature and how they prepare their food. It will be very interesting to live among these courageous people," explained Fidel with enthusiasm. But other sources suspected that the men in the Kremlin are concerned about the continued downhill trend of the economy in Cuba despite all the advantages of communism and the examples set by the Soviet Union. Khrushchev may even be getting tired of sending some $1 million per day to Havana although he has publicly announced that the Russians will continue to help their fellow fighters for the revolution in Cuba—even to the point of sending force in case of invasion. And it is possible that Castro wanted to try to get the price of sugar a little higher since he is selling it to Russia for four cents a pound less than the world market price and a great deal less than the United States used to pay. How serious are the various economic failures in the Communist world it is too soon to tell. But it is possible that one of these days some top Communists if not Fidel himself may find out from first hand experience how men live—and die—in Siberia.

The Reference Bureau Chief

The Republican leadership of the state legislature has wisely resisted a temptation to install a politically friendly candidate as chief of the legislative reference bureau at the state capitol which during half a century of distinguished service has become one of the most famous agencies of its kind in the country. The legislative officers have announced the appointment of H. Rupert Theobald, a comparatively young man of 33, to succeed the late M. G. Toepel, the generally admired librarian who died unexpectedly last year. Although the responsibility and the rank of his new office are great for a man of Mr. Theobald's tender years, he has the considerable advantage, not to mention the prestige, of having worked as an associate of the late Mr. Toepel for the last six years. That background and his good showing on a competitive civil service examination made his promotion a logical and expected one. The reference bureau command is a career assignment, and it is one of the most sensitive and strategic in state government.

Kennedy's Mission in Asia

Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy's current mission in Asia may turn out to be as difficult as making an indictment against James Hoffa stick. Kennedy has been sent by President Johnson somehow to persuade Indonesia's Sukarno that backing down from his absurd stand against Malaysia will not lose him face. Presumably Kennedy was picked for the chore because he and his wife made friends in Indonesia two years ago both with the leaders and with often rude and rebellious students. At that time the young attorney general showed his ability with the quick answer, the firm phrase. Certainly he made an impression and he never backed down from his obvious faith in democracy as opposed to the various tyrannies paraded around the world. Actually both Sukarno and the Philippines' Macapagal can be in serious economic trouble if they continue a boycott of Malaysia. The Philippines in fact have already slowed down their resentment. But Indonesian guerrillas have been raiding borders of the various members of Malaysia. And as living standards in Indonesia continued to slip, it was easy to imagine a more violent war which could spread in the always unstable waters of the Pacific. The United States has already cut off much of its aid to Indonesia. Kennedy has managed to get an agreement from Sukarno and Macapagal to meet with the Prime Minister of Malaysia, Tunku Abdul Rahman, by suggesting that the rest of the aid would go elsewhere otherwise. But Sukarno has not demonstrated much sense during his rule. It may be that he would consider a continuing small war against Malaysia far better for his personal prestige than peace.

Disarmament Talks Start Again

President Johnson's reply to Premier Khrushchev's suggestion a few weeks ago for the renunciation of force really said little more than did the Russian leader's vague commitment to peaceful solutions to problems. The reply probably indicates that the Administration will continue to try to avoid the areas where no agreement seems possible. The nuclear test ban treaty was developed under this policy. Since inspection is the stumbling block to agreements on testing, it could be overlooked in the treaty as detection of atmospheric tests are supposed to be easy without inspection teams near the spot. Specifically the President asked for the renunciation of force or the threat of force, the sincere seeking of peaceful solutions when disputes arise and reappraisals of the whole situation unless there is general adherence to the principles of the renunciation of force. President Johnson also outlined what he said were our aims in disarmament proceedings. They included the prevention of the spread of nuclear arms to other countries, ending the production of fissionable material for weapons and transferring such material to peaceful uses, banning all nuclear weapons tests, reducing the risk of war by accident or design, and moving toward general disarmament. The President urged the disarmament conference now reconvened in Geneva to discuss the means of prohibiting the use of force in settling disputes. He said the United States was ready to set up observation posts to reduce the danger of surprise attack. But of course all of this is merely terminology. Its real meaning is that the United States will continue to discuss how to avoid war with the Soviet Union. We have not given up our insistence upon inspection before we agree to a test ban involving underground explosions. The Russians have not abandoned their efforts to get our foreign troops out of Europe although not their own. They are still campaigning for the Rapacki plan of a neutralized Europe. Presumably we should be relieved that the conference has started up again and that we are talking and not shooting. But we expect no more progress from the new talks than have been accomplished over the last ten years—except that the state of peace alone is some sort of progress. We regret that President Johnson did not see fit to point out the dangers to peace in the world of the Berlin Wall and the other restrictions to free travel of men and ideas which communism erects. Khrushchev has been making a big point of his renunciation of force speech and a little more pointing out of the problems of the Communist world would have been pertinent.

Appleton Business Prospering

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Jan. 28 1861.
Our Business firms present unusual activity and, if change implies improvement, then we have great cause for remarking the present aspect of affairs. We find, upon inspection, the following prominent changes all made within the past few months. On our principal street (College Avenue) we find that the late Gilbert House is now incognito. Geiger's Furniture Store is merged in Turner's establishment; Russell's Tin and Stove Shop is now Russell & Galpin Hardware Dealers; Barlow's Groceries has grown into Barlow and Parson's Variety Store; Kellogg's Meat Market is now Jerrard & Kellogg's Provision Store; Fay and Humphrey have so increased that Appleton can contain but one of the firm while the other has taken root in Ripon. Our Water Power, too, has shown similar symptoms of growth. The Western Spoke and Hub Factory, too big for Mr. Barbeau, now runs under the supervision of Barbeau and Heath. Castro Stepping Up Campaign To Oust U. S. From Guantanamo

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT
There are increasing disquieting indications that dictator Fidel Castro, aided and abetted by Premier Khrushchev, is readying a Panama fuero-type drive to oust the U.S. from the big Guantanamo naval base it has occupied under lease in Cuba since 1903. From the mounting evidence, the Communists' apparent strategy is to deliberately provoke violence and incidents at Guantanamo as a prelude to bringing the base issue before the United Nations. It is deemed highly significant that these disturbing portents have markedly intensified since the Panama crisis and Castro's mystery-shrouded trip to Moscow. The threatening developments include: Soviet bloc representatives at the UN are urging Latin American diplomats to take the lead in moves to compel the U.S. to give up control of the Panama Canal and to relinquish Guantanamo — with emphatic assurances of vigorous Red support.

Castro's UN representatives have become very active in seeking backing for a plan to denounce the U.S. for "aggression," etc., for holding on to Guantanamo. The Castro government has again rejected the annual $2,000 gold rental payment for the naval base. However, it collects regularly the monthly $14,000 bill for water for the base—supplied by a Castro-nationalized concern. The water payment is in dollars. A machinegun disappeared from a locker; later was found hidden on the base near a heavy wire fence in an area constantly patrolled by Cuban troops. Rear Admiral John Bulkeley, base commander, now gets a daily report on what he describes as "rock throwing incidents." Later, these have noticeably increased, with Cubans throwing rocks at Marines on guard at the base for the obvious purpose of provoking incidents. The Marines are under orders not to retaliate, but on occasion they do. All U.S. guards are armed with ball ammunition as well as hand grenades. The Marines have four tanks on Guantanamo ready for instant action. The largest field gun is 155-mm caliber. No planes are stationed there. There are two airfields, but they are very vulnerable.

ONE-MAN INVASION — Investigation disclosed that the machinegun was taken by Cubans working on the base. They claimed to be anti-Castro, and their alleged intent was to use the gun against his troops. Had they done so from the U.S. base, that could have precipitated a potentially serious incident. Some Guantanamo officials doubt the Cubans' story, but were unable to uncover evidence that they were Castro agents. The workers have been shipped to Puerto Rico, where they are living with other Cuban refugees. Approximately 1,000 Cubans work on the base, daily traveling to and from their nearby homes. Castro can block this any time he wants to, but is finding it profitable to allow it to continue. He takes more than half of the Cubans' pay, netting him several million dollars a year. Although the Cuban workers are closely checked, U.S. authorities take it for granted that there are Castro agents among them. Recently, one Marine staged a spectacular demonstration of bravado. Unarmed, he left the base and sauntered for a mile across the Cuban countryside singing the Star-Spangled Banner and Marine Corps Hymn, then nonchalantly returned unchallenged and untouched. Astonished witnesses relate several Cuban patrols were so astounded they watched the Marine without doing anything. Only after he was back on the base, did he hastily summoned Cuban reinforcements arrive. They were obviously baffled by the unusual episode, and manifestly didn't know what to make of it. The ebullient Marine was shipped back to the States.

CASTRO FLASHES — An average of two Soviet bloc freighters a week go through Guantanamo Bay enroute to Guantanamo city, a supply base for the large forces maintained by Castro around the base. These troops include Russians, whom the Marines call "white Cubans." Around 300 refugees are living on the U.S. base. Under the treaty, they cannot be shipped elsewhere. Most of them are employed on the base. Also under the treaty, marriages are prohibited, so they are usually performed in nearby Puerto Rico.

SOCIAL WHIRL — Now that Mrs. Perle Mesta, multi-millionaire, "hostess with the mostest," is again in the good graces of the White House, she is making the most of it and entertaining furiously. Few days go by that she doesn't give a party of some kind, and on occasion several. In 1960 the one-time Minister to Luxembourg campaigned for President Johnson in the pre-convention battle; when he lost, she switched to Nixon. Under the late President Kennedy she had no White House entree and for a while left Washington. But Mrs. Mesta is back now and in all her old social glory. President Johnson's admonition to his staff about avoiding the cocktail party circuit doesn't seem to be taken very seriously. His assistants and other officials are going the rounds as pleasantly as ever. Vermont's astute and plain-talking Senator George Aiken, ranking Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee, has a simple formula for fulfilling his "social obligations." He attends one embassy reception a year representing each continent. Says Aiken dryly, "No one can have any complaints that I am discriminating or showing preference."

Appointments Issue Is Becoming Boring For Average Citizen

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — Whatever the judgment of history on the quality and achievements of the Reynolds administration of the state government, it is already evident that it will establish a record that will stand for a long time in providing work for the state supreme court. No governor has turned to the tribunal so often and with such complex issues for its resolution as has Gov. John W. Reynolds in little more than a year in office. Nor is he easily discouraged. Mr. Reynolds now declares that after the spring session of the legislature next April he intends to ask the court to rule again on the appointments issue which it may have thought it resolved when it ruled on his first appeal involving his rights a month ago.

Wyngaard

SEMANTICS
The governor is plainly and deeply angered by the Republican senate's refusal to permit him to install in appointive office some of the men of his own choice, as replacements for the last of the Republican survivors of the earlier Republican regimes. The court has already ruled that in most of these cases he has been wrong, but because in the nature of courts the judges avoid saying more than they are asked, the governor believes there remains a slender reed or two which he can grasp to make a new law-suit. It is a matter of semantics. The court has said that if the legislature is in "recess," incumbent officials cannot be kicked out by the governor, no matter how ardent his desire to do so. But if the legislature is "not in session," the governor can make interim appointments, although they are subject to the later action of the senate confirming or rejecting them. This will strike the laity, it may be supposed, as a pretty mysterious business. What is a "recess?" The court didn't elaborate. The tribunal's opinion said a regular session of the legislature may be interrupted by recesses, as "long as such recesses can reasonably be said to be taken for a proper legislative purpose." The recess of the 1963 legislature between August and November, it went on, "fulfilled this requirement." "What is a proper legislative purpose? Again the court didn't say. When the legislature in November recessed until April, its resolution covering the act listed a number of matters held over until the spring, even as the recess resolution of August listed subjects kept alive during the interim until November. Presumably, therefore, the current recess is for a "proper legislative purpose." If so, then it won't tax the imagination of the Republican legislative leaders to arrange another recess in April, perhaps until July, and then yet others, through the summer and fall until the end of the interim and the time for the convening of the new legislature next January. Thus the governor would be foiled again.

TIREDSOME?
All of which may appear to be a pretty tiresome story to the average voter. There may also be a discerning voter here and there wondering about the governor's obdurate refusal to recognize that he is here involved in a stalemate which was the inevitable and natural result of the electorate's inability to decide who should have power in the state government. He complains that the Republicans are interfering with the orderly processes of government and denying his appointment rights. But to other eyes it may appear that he is exceeding his appointment rights, under the decisions of the state court, or at the very least refusing to acknowledge that the electorate from which he claims authority also gave the state senate the authority to checkmate him. In contemplating this intrinsically complex and legalistic affair, the citizen will do well to remember that no offices will remain unoccupied, physically empty. The issue turns on the question of which of two rival parties shall have the control, in their inability to reach a compromise solution to a stalemate.

Advice to Students on Research for Themes

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS
Each month, this column receives dozens of letters from pupils in various grades requesting information. Most of them want me, in effect, to do their work for them. They seem not to realize (or care) that this is not only an imposition on my time, but also a disservice to their own education and training. Not long ago, Prof. Max Marshall, chairman of the Department of Microbiology at the University of California Medical Center, replied to such a letter. It is a model reply, which was printed in the Peabody Journal of Education, and which, I think, deserves wider circulation: "Dear Virginia," he replied to the student, "you ask me for 'any information you might have on bacteria harmful to man.' Since I have spent my life on this subject, and so did my father before me. . . I cannot send you all the information I have without sending you my library and writing a book for you. "The best I can do is to send you a book, under separate cover, which you can put in your library when you are through with it. I am also sending you an article I wrote about this kind of question, which I hope you will give to your teacher. Possibly he or she will not like it, so tell him or her that you are not to blame. "You see, your teachers are trying to stir up in you an interest in what goes on about you, but teachers have fallen into bad ways in some of the things they do. If they told you how to use the library or helped you find a book and read it, then you would be growing with your learning. "But when they get you to ask someone to do your work for you, then they are robbing you of a chance to do your own discovering by thinking, by searching, and by studying. They are teaching you to depend on others when you are just learning to depend on yourself. If this goes on, you will become not only dependent on someone else all the time, which is no fun and is not necessary, but you will also find yourself believing everything you are told, and what you are told will not always be as good as something you thought out for yourself. . . "I am trying to help you with your project, but help a little more than that. My students are mostly 24 years old, and I get not only letters like yours, but I see what happens when students subjected to this sort of thing try to do advanced work. Some of them still think that, if they telephone to someone and ask a question, they have performed a great mental task. You be the one to whom they telephone, not the one who does the telephoning. "Thank you, Prof. Marshall, for trying to stop the spread of the bacteria of mental laziness, which are most harmful of all to man.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

The post office drops hours and minutes from the postmark on letters. That's big government for you. Won't even give you the time of day. There's some comfort for Secretary of State Rusk. With trouble in the Canal Zone and Zanzibar, at least he's worked his way down to the end of the alphabet. Photographs of LBJ and Barry Goldwater on horseback have Americans worried. Imagine putting everything we have on a horse.

Help Available for Brain-Damaged Child

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I read with interest and dismay a letter written to you and your reply to the woman with a brain-damaged child.

Dr. Molner

There is help, there are people who are concerned, and something can be done. My brother has such a child who had been taken to various doctors. The one recommended — Institute. It has a program designed to develop that part of the brain which is not damaged. Due to this program children have been taught to walk, to talk, to read and in general become normal. In many cases these children have surpassed the mentality of so-called normal children of equal age. Please pass this information along. — S. R.

I'm sure you are sincere, but I cannot in good conscience publicize the "institute" you mention. I imply no criticism of it. It may do a very fine job.

But let's face facts. Brain damage is a serious and permanent matter. It is tragic.

I agree that much can often be done for either the retarded or the brain-damaged child. There is no doubt that, in the past, many such children have been shunted aside or "written off" without any effort to develop their capabilities.

After all, normal children have to be trained, or "taught" or whatever you want to call the process of imparting knowledge. A normal child, subjected to being ignored or thrust aside, will not develop his potential capabilities. This, regrettably, has happened at times. Perhaps it still happens.

Let's take the opposite condition. Either retarded or brain-damaged children can be trained, but there will be a limit as to what they can learn or understand.

Frequently a retarded child will have a remarkably good memory. Yet not "understand." But because of that, such children can with patience, be trained to have certain skills even though they may not understand the reasons.

All this is fine. Everybody—don't you think so, too?—should learn to use such abilities as he can. Most of us should be averagely good. The genius should be exceptionally good. The retarded should be as capable as their condition permits.

But let's not try to convince ourselves that brain damage doesn't matter, that other parts of the organ can take on all the duties of the damaged ones.

tations, learn to do a great deal. The degree of damage governs what is possible. We have not done enough in the past and we are not doing enough now to help such youngsters to make the best use of the ability they possess.

But we must also guard against fooling ourselves into believing that training can make them into "normal children."

A lame child, with training, braces or whatever, can be taught to walk. He cannot become a sprinter, or play basketball, or become a ballet dancer.

It is the same with damage to the mind.

Dear Dr. Molner: What kind of a surgeon is best for a broken nose? — MRS. M. H.

Your regular physician doubtless has taped up many a broken nose. But if you mean the nose is out of shape from having been broken some time ago, a plastic surgeon would be preferred.

NOTE TO M.T.: Neither fruit nor "acid" is "bad for the skin," but I doubt if my word will settle your family argument.

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Facts About Shingles," write Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Sea Stars On Special TV Program

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5)—"The Restless Sea," a study of "Planet Ocean" (as Earth is called here), is fascinating viewing for every member of the family. This Walt Disney Production for the Bell System Science Series combines magnificent photography with clever animation for a show about the mysteries of the deep. An animated drop of water is host. (Color)

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5)—"The Seven Little Foys," on Bob Hope Presents, is a pilot for a series that could be a welcome piece of family viewing. Eddie Foy Jr., a wonderfully comic man, is seen as his father, vaudevillean Eddie Foy, who headed the "worst act in vaudeville." Mickey Rooney is well-cast as brash George M. Cohan. (Color)

6:30-7:30 (Channel 2)—It's hard to knock a factual drama about a Congressional Medal of Honor winner, but "The Great Adventure's" study of "Rodger Young" unfortunately follows a well-worn path as a determined young man fights against overwhelming odds to become a good soldier, and eventually a hero.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11)—"77 Sunset Strip" has a completely incredible tale of a newspaperman, released from prison after refusing to reveal a news source, who is shot as he returns home. He won't tell why, mainly because this is an hour show and the author needed to fill.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 12)—In "Kiss the Monster, Make Him Sleep," Route 66 has an absorbing story. If you can stand another disturbed family plot. Here James Coburn is a big shot who rules his sister's life and drives her to attempt suicide.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 11)—A famous, if unethical lawyer, is stabbed on Burke's Law, so Gene Barry sets out investigating former clients who might have wanted him dead.

8:30-9 (Channel 2)—The Twilight Zone has a lot to say about conformity and beauty in "Number 12 Looks Just Like You." We are in a future society where "The Transformation" takes place as young ladies reach their late teens. They can choose a pattern sent over by The Bureau, and voila. Instant Beauty. But Collin Wilcox, the daughter of Suzy Parker (model No. 12), doesn't want to be transformed.

8:30-9 (Channel 4-5)—That Was the Week That Was, after a disappointing start, promises to discuss the critical reaction to the first show, and this could be a funny bit. Bobby Morse joins regulars Elliott Reid, Henry Morgan, Nancy Ames and Dav-

"The Prize," both a suspense-thriller and romantic comedy, has four outstanding actors in leading roles. European star Elke Sommer, left, makes her Hollywood debut in the film currently playing at the Viking Theater in Appleton and the Time Theater in Oshkosh. Other members of the star cast shown above are Paul Newman, Edward G. Robinson and Diane Baker.

'Sugar Shack' Brings Fortune to Singer

Texan James Gilmer Catches Fancy Of Teen-Agers With 'Rock' Recording

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Next month a royalty check for more than $100,000 will be heading in the direction of James Gilmer, 23, an Amarillo, Tex., singer who managed to boom in today's boom-or-bust record business.

Gilmer, backed by a lively combo called The Fireballs, rocked out a number called "Sugar Shack" that slugged the teen-age market for 1,200,000 discs, an amazing total in the single-record field.

The record came, oddly enough, from Clovis, N.M. It had been submitted to Dot Records by a music entrepreneur, Norman Petty. And that's how the business bounces nowadays.

Mixup Up Business Dot headman Randy Wood explained the new era in the oft-times mixed-up record industry.

"A large percentage of single records in the lists today during records. And the people demonstration records that have been submitted to companies after they have been made. We receive anywhere from 25 to 50 of them a week at Dot, and I make it a point to listen to all of them. Once in a while a "Sugar Shack" comes along.

"These records are made by combos all over the country and night have been recorded in kitchens or bathrooms, often on home recorders. The quality doesn't matter; we never re-record the ones we pick. It's that original quality we're looking for."

Other Hits Among the Dot hits that came from demonstration records

Jim Loew's "Green Door," which sold 1,300,000; Robbie

Luke's "Suzie Darling," 750,000; Dodie Stevens' "Pink Shoelaces"; and Lonnie Donegan's

"Does Your Chewing Gum Lose Its Flavor on The Bedpost Overnight?" A half-million seller.

Obviously it pays a record firm to open its mail. It might contain the next No. 1 hit.

"The system works out fine for both sides," explained Wood. "We have less overhead in production records. And the people who make the record have less taken out of their profits. Of the $100,000 earned by "Sugar Shack," I doubt if more than $1,000 would be deducted for expenses."

Clinical Progress Report:

Longer Lasting Medication for Painless Home Treatment of Hemorrhoids

M.P.O. combines fast-acting ingredients in a prescription-type formula to relieve pain and itch—shrink piles.

Doctors have reported "We are quite pleased with the results." In recent clinical tests of Menthatholam M.P.O., results were good to excellent for 25 out of 30 patients.

Relief starts in seconds—M.P.O. contains more medicinally accepted pain-relieving ingredients than the leading hemorrhoid preparation. And M.P.O. is homogenized for faster absorption of its relief-bringing medication. The instant you apply M.P.O., its anesthetic (Benzocaine) and vasoconstrictor (Epinephrine Sulfate) start to work to relieve pain, stop embarrassing itching and promote shrinking. Longer lasting relief—because M.P.O.'s formula has an exclusive stabilized base, the medication is concentrated on the inflamed tissue to keep on working. And it includes Hexachlorophene, the famous germ killer, to relieve bacteria-caused itching and fight possible infection.

Get Menthatholam M.P.O. today. Sold without prescription at all drug counters.

IT'S EASY TO FIND OUT WHAT MAKES PEOPLE HAPPY!
TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐

False. Strangely it is not. Most people will talk fairly freely about their problems and difficulties, but are tongue-tied when it comes to discussing their satisfactions in life. One investigator says that he finds it is easier to ask people what is wrong with their lives and what troubles they are having, than it is to ask them what is right with what satisfactions they are experiencing. Are we afraid that we talk about our happiness will go away? What do you think?

Does perfume really make a woman alluring?

Yes — No —

Yes, it does. Professor Nowell, of U.C.L.A. finds, in an extensive study, that "advertisements about perfume make a woman irresistible have far more basis in fact than many people suspect." Perfume is most effective when it is applied judiciously as a final step in careful grooming. Using scent to cover an unpleasant odor doesn't make sense. Putting on too much cheap perfume is another common mistake. A nice touch of perfume can make a woman feel like a lady — and

Some Readers Prefer Fiction to Fact; Poor Charlie Often Gets Lambasted

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Gentle reader, you are a double-dyed, irascible, opinionated hot-tempered son-of-a-gun, and you have me baffled.

The reason you are and have is based on a small survey I have just made on what causes you to get mad at me. I think you will be surprised.

House

Over an ever-lengthening career as a newspaperman, I have discovered that you would happily torture me to death because of things I have written. I know that certain things will anger you and I avoid these subjects—if I can do so honorably.

For example, I know that I must not write mean things about mothers. I never have and I never will. I understand the reasons why I must not.

But why do you get mad at me for other things?

For example, you have been enraged at me for writing about:

1. The Garden of Eden.
2. Theodore Roosevelt's clash with a Pope.
3. Robins.
4. Cowboys.
5. Porcupines.
6. General George Custer.
7. Calamity Jane.

Oh, you've threatened me and flung your share of butt-shafts for other articles, but the ones I have listed are the ones I don't completely understand.

Charlie a Devil

Well, you blasted me pretty good for that story; but I still don't know why. One reader said: "You are the devil incarnate!" (I'm really not).

Another time I wrote a straight, factual story about a series of diplomatic notes which had passed between the Pope and President Roosevelt. I was scorched and damned and double-damned for it. I just wrote about the facts; I didn't commit them!

Then, gentle reader, how about the time I wrote the basic truth about robins? I said they aren't robins at all, they're thrushes and they do a lot of serious damage to fruit farms.

Robin Defenders

For that one, gentle reader, you almost ran me out of town. "Robins" you said in effect, "are good YOU are bad."

The reason for your ire was, of course, that the robin is the first sign of spring for many of you, and you like him for that.

But you certainly were mad at me!

For some reason or other, you like cowboys, too. So when I wrote a truthful article about their social and economic status and their historic improvidence, you belabored me for it. "You lie in your teeth!" That's what you told me. Trouble was, I didn't even know you LIKED cowboys!

I didn't know you worshipped porcupines either, until I wrote a factual article which explained the extent of the damage they do and which suggested that it's perfectly all right to shoot the critters because they are not protected as most folks think.

"You should be shot, not porcupines," said your wrathful letters, and they added, "Porcupines are good." But you didn't tell me what they are good for.

Another Hero

Gen. George Custer, who led his troops to death at the battle of Little Big Horn, is not one of my favorite characters. In fact, I don't even like him. You do, though! When I wrote a critical piece about his two courts martial, his bad record as a student, his egotism, his impulsive behavior during President Grant's administration, you—gentle reader—swarmed all over me.

"Only a coward would kick a dead lion," you said, in effect, "and YOU are a coward."

I also attempted to tell some of the unpleasant, unsavory truths about the untidy lady who is known to history as "Calamity Jane."

Zounds! I was skinned and scolded and scorned.

"You lie!" said your letters. "She was a fine lady, a good, honorable pioneer and you are a nasty man to try to discredit her."

All right for you, gentle reader, you madcap you!

Both Sides Write

Recently I wrote a series on the Negro of the South. One of the results was that I got mean letters from the North, and another result was that I got mean letters from the South. But another result was that I got praise from the North and praise from the South, too.

But I understand such things—except the very bad letters.

Official Notes Deficiencies in Math Teaching

Instructors Not Taking Courses to Better Methods

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Mathematics instruction in many of the schools of Wisconsin is below desirable standards because of deficient preparation of the instructors in charge, a State Department of Public Instruction mathematics supervisor claims.

A considerable expansion of in-service training programs for teachers throughout Wisconsin is required for the improved mathematics teaching now recognized as needed in the schools, said Arnold Chandler in a report published by the Wisconsin Education Association.

"The greatest deterrent to an effective change for better kindergarten through high school mathematics program across Wisconsin is the large number of good and devoted teachers who have had minimum, little or no preparation in mathematics for the level at which they are teaching," he said.

Chandler reported on the variety of institutes and other teacher improvement programs now available with the assistance of the National Science Foundation and other organizations, and lamented that too few teachers have thus far participated in them.

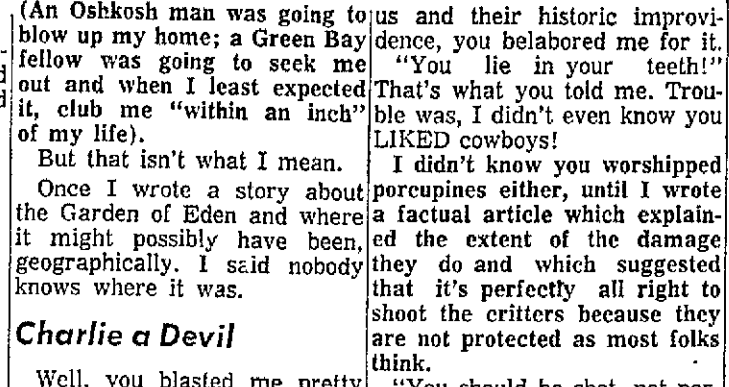

He said on a national basis the deficiencies in elementary school mathematics teaching are "appalling," and there is no reason to believe the Wisconsin picture is significantly different.

Chandler said a beginning has been made in teacher improvement in the mathematics programs, but that it has represented only a "scratching of the surface." He said every school district should act to help mathematics instructors improve themselves.

Today's Etiquette

FORGIVABLE DELAY
Dear Louise, I was ill at the time my husband died suddenly. That was three months ago and I then went into a physical and emotional collapse. I have improved enough to pick up some of the pieces and there is much to be done. There are no relatives to lend a hand, so I must do these things myself. At the time of the death about 350 friends and many of my husband's customers sent flowers, notes and cards of sympathy. Please tell me what to do at this late date. I don't see how I can write personal notes to that many people.

Louise Davis Answers:
I am sure that friends and customers of your late husband have made allowances for your delay. Because you are not yet up to par, I recommend that you go over the list of names and select a priority from them so that you can write short personal notes to those who went out of their way to perform special deeds. For the others, I suggest the acknowledgment cards supplied by the funeral director. If you have the strength, you might wish to write two or three sentences on the back of some such as: Dear Mary and George, I appreciate your note of condolence more than I can say. I am learning how much the understanding and sympathy of good friends can mean. They also helped through my own recent illness. Many, many thanks. Dorothy Smith. Referring to your illness subtly explains the reason for the delay in getting out your acknowledgments.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

In fashion, waistlines continue to travel. Some trek north to the bosom, while others dash south to the hips. And, from the looks of things, many a feminine waistline has caught the roving spirit. It takes other directions, however — east to west. The itinerary is quite obviously at odds with fashion's, and never the twain shall meet. The bulge in the figure's middle throws clothes way off course.

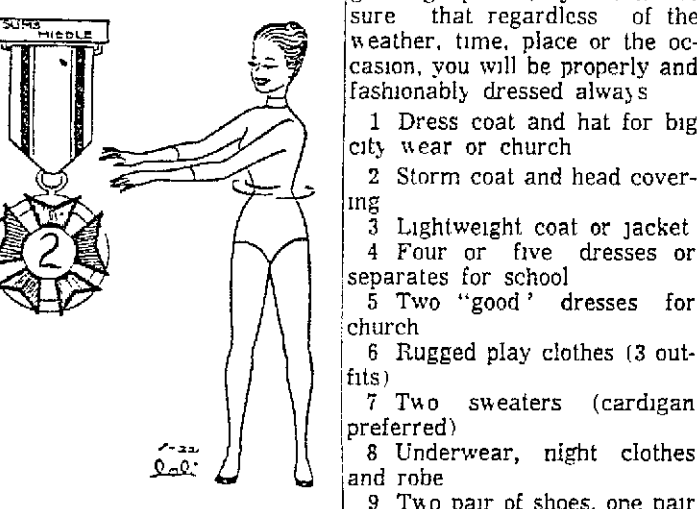

So, for fashion and beauty, let's trim down any ballooning girth around the midriff. Deflation comes speedily when you perform these routines:
1. Stand erect with feet apart and arms out at shoulder level, pull up in waistline. Giving a good twist to right in waist, reach across body with left arm and stretch right arm backward. Now reverse action — swing arms to left and pivot waist to left. Without stopping, continue for twenty counts. Aim for smooth rhythmic movements, like those of a ballerina.
2. Standing tall with arms overhead reach for ceiling. Reach and reach, but in the attempt do not let heels leave floor. Lengthen reach by extending waist muscles. Relax and repeat ten times.
Reducing Extra: If you are overweight, combine a diet with exercise. The duo never fails to win figure medals. So that you will know how close you are to the winner's circle, keep a written record of your prowess. For a clear-cut picture, weigh and

Young Girl Refuses to Go To Bed After Being Sick

BY DR. EVE JONES
DEAR DR. JONES: A few weeks ago, my oldest boy was injured in a skating accident, and we were occupied when the other children were put to bed. My 22-month-old girl was mark on this wardrobe list of minimum requirements for a growing period, you can be sure that regardless of the weather, time, place or the occasion, you will be properly and fashionably dressed always.
1. Dress coat and hat for big city wear or church.
2. Storm coat and head covering.
3. Lightweight coat or jacket.
4. Four or five dresses or separates for school.
5. Two "good" dresses for church.
6. Rugged play clothes (3 outfits).
7. Two sweaters (cardigan preferred).
8. Underwear, night clothes and robe.
9. Two pair of shoes, one pair of sneakers.
10. Rain or snow boots.
11. Gloves and simple handbag.
If you are overloaded in any other new pressures that you recently started expecting her to meet, like dressing or toileting herself. Eliminate these, then watch how she reacts after a few days of firm limits about bedtime.

If she doesn't stop the bedtime melodrama in a few days, try to straighten out the possible confusions that might be connected with the accident.

Remind her that she knows you love her. Tell her you're sorry if she was angry because you paid attention to her brother and not to her that night. Tell her you know she was probably frightened, too, and that you think that's why she was sick. Then point out that something like that does not happen very often, of course, so it's silly for her to make bedtime a battle every day because of it. Getting things into the open should clear up any related bedtime problems. And it will also help her realize that you understand her and will help her keep from hurting herself.

one area, why not check your list once more to see what items you've outgrown or tired of and can pass along to a needy charity?

SEAMS TO ME

By Patricia Scott

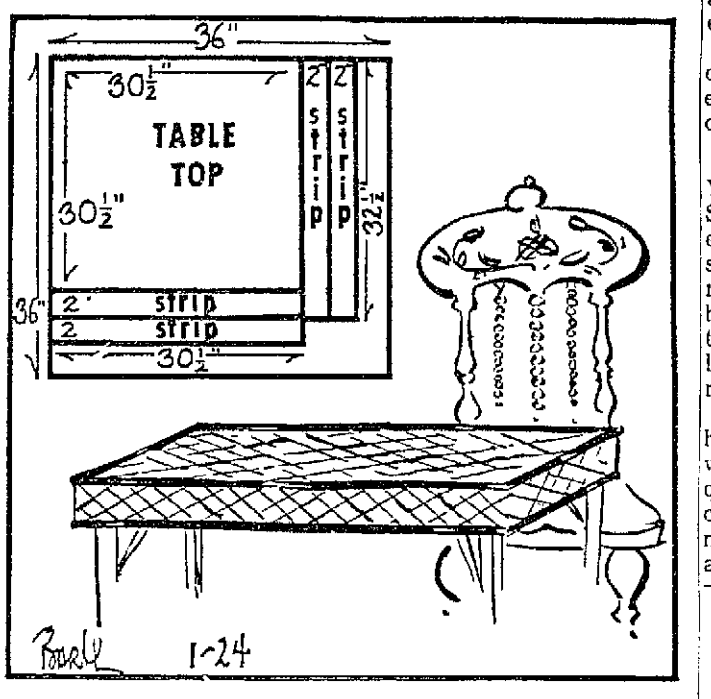

If your bridge table is used a great deal and is set-up at all times, instead of being stored in a closet, why not protect it with a cover? Quilted plastic is your best bet because it can be wiped off easily with a damp cloth. To make the paper pattern illustrated, cut a piece of brown paper 36 inches square. Follow the diagram, draw a 39 1/2 inch square inside it for the top of the table (30 1/2 inches is the standard bridge table size). Then draw in the four strips for the sides of the table. Two strips are 2 inches wide and 30 1/2 inches long. The others are 2 inches wide and 32 1/2 inches long, allowing 3/8 inch for seam allowance when the strips are joined. The materials needed are one yard of quilted plastic; 4 yards of bias tape, 4 yards of corded piping, 12 inches of elastic. To make: 1. Cut cover from paper pattern. Seam strips, end to end. Stitch corded piping on right side of table top square with raw edges even. 2. To turn corner, clip seam allowance of piping, allowing it to fan out and curve with ease. 3. Stitch strip on same stitching line, right sides together and raw edges even. Cut 12 inch piece of elastic into four 3-inch pieces. Pin each piece of elastic 2 1/2 inches from each corner. Bind the lower edge of the cover all around catching the elastic ends as you do so. Choose one of the wonderful colors that are available in quilted plastic, with a contrasting color for the binding and piping. For your copy of Fifteen Gifts You Can Make, write to Patricia Scott in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling costs. The subjects for this fascinating booklet were selected from among Miss Scott's most popular columns.

The Ailing House Enameling Over Latex Wall Paint

Q. What is the proper preparation for painting a wall with enamel. It was previously painted with a gloss enamel, over which a latex paint was used? A. If the present latex paint coating is smooth and adhering tightly all over, only preparation necessary (as when applying any new coating to any type surface,) is to clean the surface thoroughly to remove all trace of grease, wax, grime, etc. and dull any gloss in the old coating. Then carefully follow label instructions on the paint container of the new coating. Q. I have a 100 per cent cedar closet and had a disappointment in the fall when I found a few tiny moth holes in two garments. What to do to prevent this from happening again? A. Before storing any garments in the closet, they should be dry-cleaned or thoroughly aired and laundered to destroy any moth eggs or larva in the seams, pockets, etc. Check the cedar closet to be sure it is tightly sealed all over (around door opening joints, etc.) Does the closet still have the strong cedar aroma? If not, a fresh surface of the wood should be exposed by sandpapering down. Another method is to restore the odor with a cedar spray.
